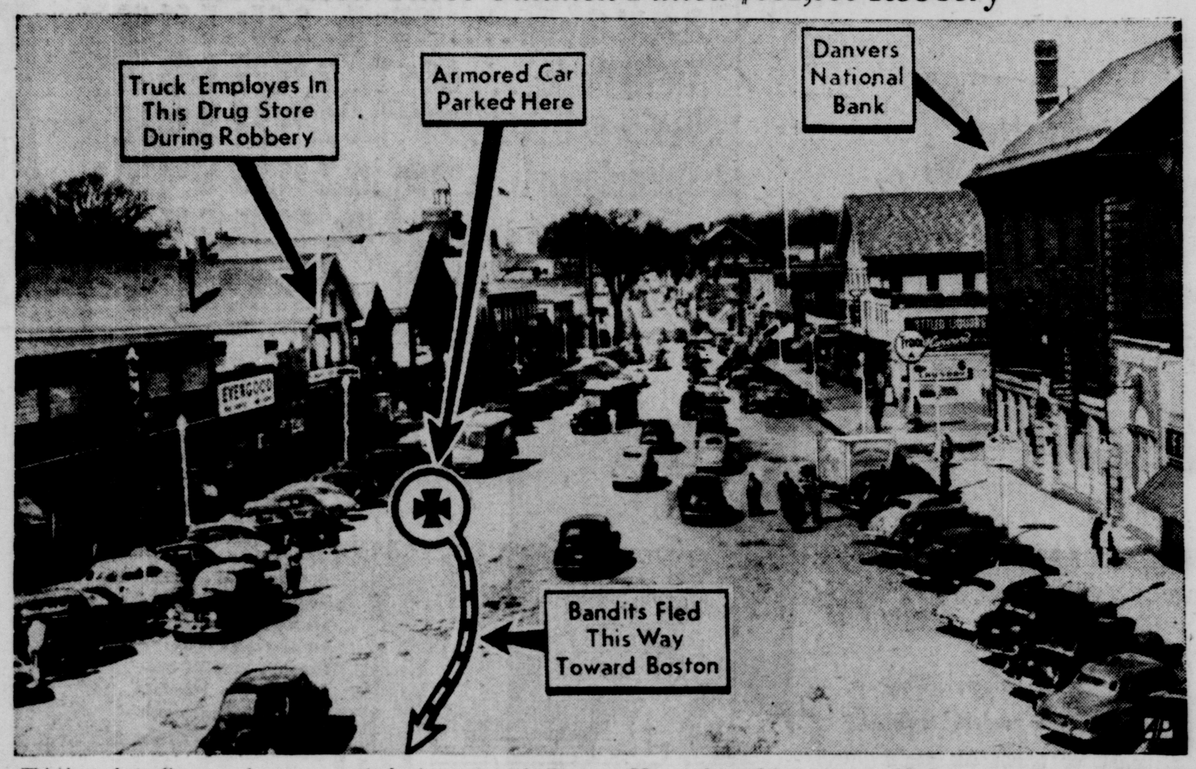
Search Pushed for Witness To $681,000 Truck Theft

Here's How Three Gunmen Pulled $681,000 Robbery



This is a photo-diagram of scene on main business street in Danvers, Mass., where three gunmen robbed an armored car of $681,000 in cash. Three armored car employes were in Ropes drugstore having lunch at time of robbery. They had delivered an estimated million dollars to banks and business houses before arriving in Danvers for a delivery to the Danvers National Bank. This view of Maple street was made an hour and a half after the robbery.

Survey Is Fruitless, Chief Says

Nothing Found in Auto of Pair Wounded in New Hampshire to Provide Link

Bandits Failed to Take Another $87,000 in Truck

Danvers, Mass., March 26 (AP)—Stymied in their quest for clues to the bold $681,000 robbery of an armored truck here, police and FBI agents today pushed search for an eyewitness to the huge theft.

Danvers Police Chief Raymond Kirwin said law officers "can't find a soul" who saw the money taken yesterday from the truck as it stood unguarded outside a drug-store. Its crew was having coffee.

Three bandits, in a quick and obviously well-planned job, parked a stolen 1950 Buick sedan alongside the truck, entered it without apparent difficulty and made off in a burst of speed down Danvers' main street.

"The FBI has combed both sides of the street," said Chief Kirwin, "checking people who were in stores, but no one was found who saw it."

The possibility was not ruled out that some eyewitness hesitated to come forth with information in fear of reprisal—like the killing in Brooklyn of Arnold Schuster after he "fingered" Willie Sutton, now on trial for bank robbery.

Three Are Questioned

The truck driver and his two guards were questioned until far into the night by FBI agents and state police before being permitted to go to their homes.

Meanwhile, the search for leads continued here and in Everett where the two getaway cars were abandoned. FBI agents also worked in the Revere area.

United States Trucking Company officials set the loot figure at $681,000 upping by $81,000 the original estimate.

Left behind in the truck by the time-pressed bandits was $87,000, much of it in coin.

While the probe here went on, police kept under hospital guard two Massachusetts men who were shot at Madbury, N. H., when they failed to halt as roadblocks were thrown up after the robbery here.

New Hampshire State Police Superintendent Ralph H. Caswell said there was nothing found in the pair's car to link them with the Danvers case, but they would not be eliminated until they were questioned thoroughly.

The robbery was especially marked for the amount of loot, its precision and its cold-blooded daring.

Biggest in History

It was the biggest armored car robbery in U. S. history. The previous largest robbery of an armored car was the $427,000 holdup of a Rubel Ice Co., pay roll in Brooklyn, N. Y., on August 21, 1934.

It is also believed to be the second largest cash haul in U. S. criminal history — surpassed only by the still-unsolved $1,219,000 robbery of the Brink's armored car headquarters in Boston 26 months ago.

The robbery was executed under a bright sun while the three gun-carrying guards assigned to the armored car sipped mid-morning

Dewey Kills Bill To Halt Exemption For Subversives

Governor Doubts Groups Can Qualify Under Existing Laws for Such Benefits

Albany, March 26 (AP)—Governor Dewey has killed as unnecessary legislation designed to prevent subversive organizations from obtaining state and local tax exemptions.

The measure also would have prohibited tax deductions for persons who contributed to such groups. It was introduced by Republican Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson of Yonkers.

Dewey said in a memorandum he believed existing laws were adequate to deprive subversive groups and their supporters of such tax benefits.

He said it was "extremely doubtful whether such organizations can in fact qualify for tax benefits under the provisions of our laws."

Meanwhile, the governor signed bills that:

1—Authorize the State Motor Vehicle Bureau to make a survey of automobile owners to find out whether they carry liability insurance. The study might lead eventually to adoption of compulsory auto liability insurance program in the state.

2—Boost the amount of liability insurance required of bus operators.

3—Increase the penalties for those caught smuggling untaxed cigarettes.

Vetoes Another Bill

Dewey vetoed another bill that would have increased from 10 to 50 cents the fee charged for a learner's permit to drive an automobile.

In his memorandum on the anti-subversive tax bill, Dewey said that it had not been shown "that subversive organizations are obtaining tax exemptions at the present time."

The bus-liability law will go into effect next Jan. 1. It will boost from $5,000 to $10,000 the minimum required coverage for all motor vehicles carrying eight or more passengers.

It also will increase the maximum requirements from $15,000 to $40,000 for those carrying from eight to 12 passengers, from $25,000 to $60,000 for those carrying from 13 to 20, from $40,000 to $80,000 for those carrying from 21 to 30 and from $50,000 to $100,000 for those carrying more than 30.

To Increase Penalties

The revised law covering cigarette smuggling will increase the peralties for a second or subsequent offense of transporting untaxed cigarettes with intent to sell from a fine of $100, a maximum jail sentence of 60 days, or both, to a $500 fine, a maximum six-month jail term, or both.

Similar increases are provided for cigarette-tax evaders and cigarette merchants. The stiffer peralties will become effective July 1.

Taft Name Stays On Jersey Ballot

Attorney General Says Public Interest Was Against Removal

Trenton, N. J., March 26 (AP)—State Superior Court today ruled that Sen. Taft's name will remain in the New Jersey April 15 presidential preference primary.

Judge Ralph J. Smalley dismissed a state suit seeking removal of Taft's name after Attorney General Theodore D. Parsons told the court there was "an overriding public interest" not to remove.

Taft announced last week that he was withdrawing from the New Jersey primary election campaign and later wrote a letter to the secretary of state formally requesting that his name be taken off the preferential ballot.

Marsh Started Suit

Secretary of State Lloyd B. Marsh instituted the suit to comply with Taft's request and named all 21 county clerks as defendants. The suit was contested by Six Republican voters and one county clerk.

The court action was necessary inasmuch as the formal withdrawal date from the primary was March 12. Taft announced he was dropping out of the contest last Thursday because of what he termed political trickery by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll in supporting Gen. Eisenhower. Driscoll promptly denied the charge. Taft ordered his New Jersey campaign stopped and state headquarters closed.

Also on Ballot

Also on the popularity ballot are Eisenhower and Harold E. Stas-

Stassen Tries to Get Aboard Ike's Bandwagon April 1

Milwaukee, March 26 (AP)—Competition among his opponents to get on the Eisenhower bandwagon seemed to leave Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio a claim today to a large segment of the GOP vote in next Tuesday's Wisconsin primary.

Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, tried last night to hitch his campaign wagon to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's political star.

Stassen announced in a speech at Sheboygan that half of the 30 delegates running for him in this three-day contest—where Eisenhower's name is not entered—would vote for the general on the first ballot at the July Chicago convention, if they are elected.

Would Share Equally

He said further he wold share equally with Eisenhower any smaller number of Wisconsin delegates he might win. But Stassen did not extend the offer to cover the 28 he won in Minnesota where the general ran him a close second on the strength of a write in vote or he might get in Nebraska in the April 1 vote there.

Stassen's curious maneuver putting him half in and half out of the presidential race brought prompt and vigorous reaction from the Taft forces and from supporters of Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Warren, due to resume campaigning in the state tonight, declined comment in California, but his slate of 30 delegates has voted unanimcusly to go to Eisenhower if they are released by Warren.

Ralph Immell of Madison, a member of Warren's slate, said in a statement that Stassen is offering Eisenhower "exactly one-half of nothing."

Hoped for Harvest

Stassen backers had hoped to harvest at least six delegates but Immell asserted "he will have no delegates."

Vernom Thomson, state attorney general, said Stassen apparently could release his delegates at any time but couldn't legally bind any of them who were elected to vote for Eisenhower. Stassen said the 15 had agreed to the change.

Thomas Coleman, ramrod of Taft's Wisconsin campaign, told this reporter that Stassen's action was no more than "an evidence of weakness."

"Any man who is running for president ought to try to run under his own steam," Coleman declared. "Stassen is not running for Warren."

Ultimate Beneficiary

Although Coleman didn't claim it, it seemed likely that Taft would be the ultimate beneficiary of Stassen' move. Whatever Eisenhower vote there is in the state—and nobody can guess how large it is—now has a public invitation to splinter itself between two candidates. And voters wavering between Taft and the support of either of his opponents as individual candidates on their own merits could be expected to gravitate to Taft.

Coleman said he feels confident the Ohio senator will get at least 22 of the 30 GOP delegates.

The Democratic race to capture that party's 28-vote delegation went along quietly, with Senator Kefauver of Tennessee campaigning against two rival slates backing President Truman.

Little effort was being made in behalf of the President and Kefauver was regarded as almost a sure winner.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, March 26 (AP)—The position of the Treasury March 24: Net budget receipts, $773,611,467.88; budget expenditures, $241,561,102.48; cash balance, $6,461,367,664.97; customs receipts for month, $32,872,857.77; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $41,996,923,655.50; budget expenditures fiscal year, $46,062,128,070.81; budget deficit, $4,065,204,415.31; total debt, $258,408,870,781.54; decrease under previous day, $228,507,006.56; gold assets, $23,290,766,223.67.

Says Press Widest Influence for Good

Los Angeles, March 26 (AP)—"Next to the pulpit—and perhaps even more so than the pulpit—the press has the widest influence for good or evil," says Vice President Alben Barkley.

"There is no greater field for dissemination of knowledge and education of the people than the newspapers of our country," he told a journalism awards dinner last night.

He said he deems it proper for newspapers to criticize public officials when they are wrong or when there is a difference of opinion.

"It is also the duty of men and women in public life to criticize the press when it deserves it—and sometimes it does," he added.

Steel Talks Begin in Pittsburgh

Action of Firms, Union Eases Tension Over Bitter Fight About Wage Policy

Items Unanswered

Two Big Questions Are Undecided — Wilson Alters Stand

Washington, March 26 (AP)—A bitter scrap among high administration officials over wage policy simmered down today as steel firms and the CIO steelworkers returned to negotiations.

A strike of more than 650,000 workers in the vital steel industry is threatened for April 8, only two weeks away. Officials urged both sides to work for a speedy settlement to avert a walkout.

Negotiations get under way this afternoon in Pittsburgh between the union and U. S. Steel Corp. and Jones & Laughlin Steel, two of the largest producers. Talks with other major firms start tomorrow.

The administration row centered around defense mobilization boss Charles E. Wilson. He touched it off by labeling Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) proposals for settling the steel wage issues "a serious threat" to inflation controls.

Seeks to Ease Situation

Wilson later sought to ease the situation by issuing a statement saying that, while he hadn't changed his mind, the WSB plan was "appropriate as a basis for trying to work out a settlement."

WSB Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger seemed satisfied. He had cut short a western speaking tour to fly back to Washington for what looked like a showdown fight between the WSB and Wilson that only President Truman could settle.

Left unanswered, however, were the two big questions: (1) Were the WSB's settlement recommendations actually out of line? (2) Would the steel companies have to get price boosts, as they claimed, to pay the higher wages?

The WSB's proposals call for a 17½-cent hourly pay boost—of which 5-cents' worth would be paid in the future—plus other benefits, including the union shop. The latter proviso would require all steel workers to belong to Philip Murray's CIO union.

Wilson's Attitude

A spokesman for Wilson said he definitely still feels the union ought to take less than the WSB recommended. Wilson had planned talks with Murray and steel firms, but Murray refused to attend, calling Wilson a "biased big businessman." Wilson formerly was head of the General Electric Company.

It appeared beyond question that whatever is done about the steel row, it will have a vast influence on the drafting of legislation to extend present economic controls, and the ultimate congressional debate. The present controls law expires June 30.

Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) of the Senate Banking Committee said Monday that big steel wage price boosts might result in kicking out all controls.

Will Begin Drafts

McCarthy Files 2-Million Suit Against Benton

Wisconsin Senator Says Connecticut Colleague Libeled Him in September

Washington, March 26 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) today filed a two million dollar suit against Sen. Benton (D.-Conn.), accusing him of "libel, slander and conspiracy" to seek the ouster of McCarthy from the Senate.

The suit is based on Benton's assertions last September that McCarthy committed perjury, fraud and calculated deceit of the American people in pressing his charges that Communists have infiltrated the government.

Benton made the charges before a Senate elections subcommittee which has been looking into Benton's contention that McCarthy is unfit to serve in Congress.

Last week Benton offered to waive the congressional immunity from suit. A section of the Constitution provides that members of Congress are immune from suit for remarks they make in Congress.

McCarthy said he was accepting Benton's offer to waive immunity.

There was no immediate comment from Benton.

Asked whether there was any precedent for his suit, McCarthy replied:

"I know of none."

'More Frankness' Shown In Seeking Compromise

Munsan, Korea, March 26 (AP)—Truce negotiators displayed "much more frankness" today in seeking a compromise on exchanging prisoners—one of the three key issues blocking a Korean armistice—an Allied spokesman reported.

"Some slight progress" was made behind the screen of a news blackout, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols said, "but they have not gotten down to brass tacks."

Simultaneously he disclosed a change in the UN command strategy on the key to the deadlock. The allies have rephrased their demand from "voluntary repatriation" of prisoners to "no forced repatriation."

"There is no fundamental difference in the two concepts." Nuckols said, but the new term might "be more palatable to the enemy. No forced repatriation means the UN command does not endorse and will not employ force to compel a man to go over to the other side if he does not choose to go."

Simultaneously, Nuckols said, UN negotiators have been telling the Communists repeatedly "there is every indication that the great majority of their captured personnel now in our hands desire to return."

The Communists have been insisting they want all prisoners returned and have objected to allied proposals for interviews to determine the prisoners' wishes.

The UN command took the new tack on the problem more than ten days ago, Nuckols said. But he disclosed it to newsmen for the first time today.

Apparently this new policy did not enter directly into Wednesday's off-the-record talks. Nuckols said Wednesday's discussions were "on a broad scale largely couched in general terms" and dealt primarily with the Reds' latest proposals.

His disclosure came after a second group of staff officers cleared the decks for tackling the sole key issue remaining before it—whether Russia should help supervise the truce.

A UN command communique said they cleaned up the last of their minor problems by reaching "complete agreement on the ports of entry question."

The allies then proposed the key issue be solved by dropping Russia and Norway, leaving four "neutral nations" to police the armi-

Bank Manager Identifies Willie Sutton as Bandit

Acheson Says U. S. Won't Be Pushed

Russian Maneuvering Is Not to Deflect Our Policy, He Claims

Washington, March 26 (AP)—The United States "will not be deflected by Russian maneuvering in its drive to unify Europe, Secretary of State Acheson said today.

He told a news conference Russia's own European policy emphasizes "the need for a rapid development of a close European community."

In that community, he said, "Germany must be allowed to play its part."

Acheson questioned Russia's sincerity in proposing that the Big Four move for a peace treaty that would unify east and west Germany.

Aimed at Block

The State Department, Acheson said, believes the Soviet proposal was aimed at blocking—if possible— the integration of western Germany into the political and military organization of western Europe.

The U. S., Britain and France replied to Russia's proposal yesterday by a suggestion that any get-together on a peace treaty be preceded by a United Nations' field study in east Germany to determine whether free elections could be held there.

This 600-word declaration, responding to a new Soviet proposal of March 10 to start work on a German peace treaty, did two things:

1. It served notice on the Kremlin that western nations, in close cooperation with the anti-Communist government of West Germany, are firmly committed to tieing Germany in whole or in

Hoffman Does Not Put Finger on Kling or Other in Court

New York, March 26 (AP)—A bank manager who lost some $64,000 in a gun-point holdup two years ago identified master criminal Willie Sutton today as one of the bandits.

But he said he could not identify two other alleged members of the holdup gang.

Sutton and Thomas Kling are on trial in Queens county court for the March 9, 1950 robbery of the Sunnyside, Queens, branch of the Manufacturers Trust Co. A third man charged with the crime, John De Venuta, testified fully yesterday for the state, confessing his part in the robbery and naming Sutton and Kling as his accomplices.

Robert Hoffman, manager of the branch, said he was met at the door of the bank by Sutton, gun in hand, and taken back to the vault to open a compartment.

Asked Why He Was Late

He said that Sutton "asked me why I was late," indicating the care with which the holdup had been planned.

Hoffman said "Mr. Sutton" ordered him down to the cellar with other employes, "admonished us" to stay there and then "he went away."

Under cross-examination, Hoffman said he got his best look at Sutton before going to the cellar and that look lasted no more than five seconds.

De Venuta said he turned state's evidence "for my wife and unborn child."

With these words, the 37-year-old De Venuta wound up six hours on the witness stand yesterday in the trial of Sutton and Thomas (Scup) Kling for the

Glands Are Transplanted From Premature Babies

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Reporter)

New Haven, Conn., March 26 (AP)—One of the great potential revolutions in medical science was disclosed today.

Three sick men and women have been given glands transplanted from very premature babies to turn out hormones for new health.

It is an amazing and promising experiment in giving humans new spare parts. It may lead to many new methods of treating a variety of diseases.

Little pieces of glands were taken from unborn babies and put into stomach muscles of two men and a woman. The men got adrenal glands because their own adrenals had stopped making hormones, including cortisone. The woman got a thyroid gland, after her own sick thyroid was removed.

Animal tests indicate the new gland bits will stay alive, grow, and make hormones. It is still too early to tell about the humans.

If it works for them, humans, someday may get new glands to control diabetes without insulin, a gland hormone; to replace sex glands, to control thyroid diseases, even perhaps control some kinds of cancer. New glands might come from animals as well as humans. Humans might be able to replace wornout or lost sex glands, realiz-

City Is Notified Bus Hearing Set On Discontinuance

Public Session Scheduled April 2 at Ulster Court House, 11:30 A.M.

Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk were notified today that a public hearing will be held April 2, by the Public Service Commission at 11:30 a. m., in the court house on the application of the Kingston City Transportation Corp., for permanent discontinuance of the Wilbur and Fairview-Lucas bus runs.

After having been granted a trial period and an extension of that to determine if ending these two runs would financially benefit the bus company, it made application earlier this month to keep the runs permanently off its schedule.

Permission Granted

Permission for the trial curtailment of service was granted by the PSC after the bus company showed at a public hearing late last year that it was losing money. The first discontinuance of the Fairview-Lucas and Wilbur runs was granted from Dec. 26 to Feb.

Merchants Favor Bus Restoration

Say Better Service Would Improve Conditions; Officers Named

At one of the best attended meetings of recent months, the Kingston Merchants' Association today went on record as favoring immediate restoration of bus service on the two lines which have been temporarily suspended by the Kingston Transportation Corporation.

The merchants discussed the need for restoration of the service in order to give people who live in the outlying areas a means of reaching the business areas. One of the reasons for seeking the restoration of bus service on the Lucas avenue-Hurley avenue line was the housing development which is now under construction off Lucas avenue on Millers Lane.

Several members of the organization stated that better service and closer adherence to the advertised schedule would bring better use of the line. It was reported that the buses were frequently operated far behind schedule and at great inconvenience to users of the line.

Decoration of the stores in the shopping areas on Saturday, April 5, when Queen Juliana of Holland pays a visit to Kingston, was also advocated by the association members. It was suggested that

Get City Hall Prevue, Sales Are Ruled Out

City hall employes, the police and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk saw some expert handling of the Yo Yo today all because two traveling demonstrators of the gadget sought permission to do their stuff in the city.

They appeared at police headquarters first and gave a few performances there. Later they showed the mayor how interesting a Yo Yo can be, but because of several unfavorable circumstances they were not allowed to continue their trick performance about town.

They also asked to do their yo yoing at local schools, but it appeared that regulations were against that too. They demonstrated, but did not sell the gadget directly they said.

WSB Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger seemed satisfied. He had cut short a western speaking tour to fly back to Washington for what looked like a showdown fight between the WSB and Wilson that only President Truman could settle.

Left unanswered, however, were the two big questions: (1) Were the WSB's settlement recommendations actually out of line? (2) Would the steel companies have to get price boosts, as they claimed, to pay the higher wages?

The WSB's proposals call for a 17½-cent hourly pay boost—of which 5-cents' worth would be paid in the future—plus other benefits, including the union shop. The latter proviso would require all steel workers to belong to Philip Murray's CIO union.

Wilson's Attitude

A spokesman for Wilson said he definitely still feels the union ought to take less than the WSB recommended. Wilson had planned talks with Murray and steel firms, but Murray refused to attend, calling Wilson a "biased big businessman." Wilson formerly was head of the General Electric Company.

It appeared beyond question that whatever is done about the steel row, it will have a vast influence on the drafting of legislation to extend present economic controls, and the ultimate congressional debate. The present controls law expires June 30.

Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) of the Senate Banking Committee said Monday that big steel wage price boosts might result in kicking out all controls.

Will Begin Drafts

Here's How Three Gunmen Pulled $681,000 Robbery

This is a photo-diagram of scene on main business street in Danvers, Mass., where three gunmen robbed an armored car of $681,000 in cash. Three armored car employes were in Ropes drugstore having lunch at time of robbery. They had delivered an estimated million dollars to banks and business houses before arriving in Danvers for a delivery to the Danvers National Bank. This view of Maple street was made an hour and a half after the robbery.

McCarthy Files 2-Million Suit Against Benton

Wisconsin Senator Says Connecticut Colleague Libeled Him in September

Washington, March 26 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) today filed a two million dollar suit against Sen. Benton (D.-Conn.), accusing him of "libel, slander and conspiracy" to seek the ouster of McCarthy from the Senate.

The suit is based on Benton's assertions last September that McCarthy committed perjury, fraud and calculated deceit of the American people in pressing his charges that Communists have infiltrated the government.

Benton made the charges before a Senate elections subcommittee which has been looking into Benton's contention that McCarthy is unfit to serve in Congress.

Last week Benton offered to waive the congressional immunity from suit. A section of the Constitution provides that members of Congress are immune from suit for remarks they make in Congress.

McCarthy said he was accepting Benton's offer to waive immunity.

There was no immediate comment from Benton.

Asked whether there was any precedent for his suit, McCarthy replied:

"I know of none."

Russian Maneuvering Is Not to Deflect Our Policy, He Claims

Washington, March 26 (AP)—The United States "will not be deflected by Russian maneuvering in its drive to unify Europe, Secretary of State Acheson said today.

He told a news conference Russia's own European policy emphasizes "the need for a rapid development of a close European community."

In that community, he said, "Germany must be allowed to play its part."

Acheson questioned Russia's sincerity in proposing that the Big Four move for a peace treaty that would unify east and west Germany.

Aimed at Block

The State Department, Acheson said, believes the Soviet proposal was aimed at blocking—if possible— the integration of western Germany into the political and military organization of western Europe.

The U. S., Britain and France replied to Russia's proposal yesterday by a suggestion that any get-together on a peace treaty be preceded by a United Nations' field study in east Germany to determine whether free elections could be held there.

This 600-word declaration, responding to a new Soviet proposal of March 10 to start work on a German peace treaty, did two things:

1. It served notice on the Kremlin that western nations, in close cooperation with the anti-Communist government of West Germany, are firmly committed to tieing Germany in whole or in

New York, March 26 (AP)—A bank manager who lost some $64,000 in a gun-point holdup two years ago identified master criminal Willie Sutton today as one of the bandits.

But he said he could not identify two other alleged members of the holdup gang.

Sutton and Thomas Kling are on trial in Queens county court for the March 9, 1950 robbery of the Sunnyside, Queens, branch of the Manufacturers Trust Co. A third man charged with the crime, John De Venuta, testified fully yesterday for the state, confessing his part in the robbery and naming Sutton and Kling as his accomplices.

Robert Hoffman, manager of the branch, said he was met at the door of the bank by Sutton, gun in hand, and taken back to the vault to open a compartment.

Asked Why He Was Late

He said that Sutton "asked me why I was late," indicating the care with which the holdup had been planned.

Hoffman said "Mr. Sutton" ordered him down to the cellar with other employes, "admonished us" to stay there and then "he went away."

Under cross-examination, Hoffman said he got his best look at Sutton before going to the cellar and that look lasted no more than five seconds.

De Venuta said he turned state's evidence "for my wife and unborn child."

City Is Notified Bus Hearing Set On Discontinuance

Public Session Scheduled April 2 at Ulster Court House, 11:30 A.M.

Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk were notified today that a public hearing will be held April 2, by the Public Service Commission at 11:30 a. m., in the court house on the application of the Kingston City Transportation Corp., for permanent discontinuance of the Wilbur and Fairview-Lucas bus runs.

After having been granted a trial period and an extension of that to determine if ending these two runs would financially benefit the bus company, it made application earlier this month to keep the runs permanently off its schedule.

Permission Granted

Permission for the trial curtailment of service was granted by the PSC after the bus company showed at a public hearing late last year that it was losing money. The first discontinuance of the Fairview-Lucas and Wilbur runs was granted from Dec. 26 to Feb.

Merchants Favor Bus Restoration

Say Better Service Would Improve Conditions; Officers Named

At one of the best attended meetings of recent months, the Kingston Merchants' Association today went on record as favoring immediate restoration of bus service on the two lines which have been temporarily suspended by the Kingston Transportation Corporation.

The merchants discussed the need for restoration of the service in order to give people who live in the outlying areas a means of reaching the business areas. One of the reasons for seeking the restoration of bus service on the Lucas avenue-Hurley avenue line was the housing development which is now under construction off Lucas avenue on Millers Lane.

Several members of the organization stated that better service and closer adherence to the advertised schedule would bring better use of the line. It was reported that the buses were frequently operated far behind schedule and at great inconvenience to users of the line.

Decoration of the stores in the shopping areas on Saturday, April 5, when Queen Juliana of Holland pays a visit to Kingston, was also advocated by the association members. It was suggested that

Bandits Failed to Take Another $87,000 in Truck

Danvers, Mass., March 26 (AP)—Stymied in their quest for clues to the bold $681,000 robbery of an armored truck here, police and FBI agents today pushed search for an eyewitness to the huge theft.

Danvers Police Chief Raymond Kirwin said law officers "can't find a soul" who saw the money taken yesterday from the truck as it stood unguarded outside a drugstore. Its crew was having coffee.

Three bandits, in a quick and obviously well-planned job, parked a stolen 1950 Buick sedan alongside the truck, entered it without apparent difficulty and made off in a burst of speed down Danvers' main street.

"The FBI has combed both sides of the street," said Chief Kirwin, "checking people who were in stores, but no one was found who saw it."

The possibility was not ruled out that some eyewitness hesitated to come forth with information in fear of reprisal—like the killing in Brooklyn of Arnold Schuster after he "fingered" Willie Sutton, now on trial for bank robbery.

Three Are Questioned

The truck driver and his two guards were questioned until far into the night by FBI agents and state police before being permitted to go to their homes.

Meanwhile, the search for leads continued here and in Everett where the two getaway cars were abandoned. FBI agents also worked in the Revere area.

Left behind in the truck by the time-pressed bandits was $87,000, much of it in coin.

While the probe here went on, police kept under hospital guard two Massachusetts men who were shot at Madbury, N. H., when they failed to halt as roadblocks were thrown up after the robbery here.

New Hampshire State Police Superintendent Ralph H. Caswell said there was nothing found in the pair's car to link them with the Danvers case, but they would not be eliminated until they were questioned thoroughly.

The robbery was especially marked for the amount of loot, its precision and its cold-blooded daring.

Biggest in History

It was the biggest armored car robbery in U. S. history. The previous largest robbery of an armored car was the $427,000 holdup of a Rubel Ice Co., pay roll in Brooklyn, N. Y., on August 21, 1934.

It is also believed to be the second largest cash haul in U. S. criminal history — surpassed only by the still-unsolved $1,219,000 robbery of the Brink's armored car headquarters in Boston 26 months ago.

The robbery was executed under a bright sun while the three gun-carrying guards assigned to the armored car sipped mid-morning

'More Frankness' Shown In Seeking Compromise

Munsan, Korea, March 26 (AP)—Truce negotiators displayed "much more frankness" today in seeking a compromise on exchanging prisoners—one of the three key issues blocking a Korean armistice—an Allied spokesman reported.

"Some slight progress" was made behind the screen of a news blackout, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols said, "but they have not gotten down to brass tacks."

Simultaneously he disclosed a change in the UN command strategy on the key to the deadlock. The allies have rephrased their demand from "voluntary repatriation" of prisoners to "no forced repatriation."

"There is no fundamental difference in the two concepts," Nuckols said, but the new term might "be more palatable to the enemy. No forced repatriation means the UN command does not endorse and will not employ force to compel a man to go over to the other side if he does not choose to go."

Simultaneously, Nuckols said, UN negotiators have been telling the Communists repeatedly "there is every indication that the great majority of their captured personnel now in our hands desire to return."

The Communists have been insisting they want all prisoners returned and have objected to allied proposals for interviews to determine the prisoners' wishes.

The UN command took the new tack on the problem more than ten days ago, Nuckols said. But he disclosed it to newsmen for the first time today.

Apparently this new policy did not enter directly into Wednesday's off-the-record talks. Nuckols said Wednesday's discussions were "on a broad scale largely couched in general terms" and dealt primarily with the Reds' latest proposals.

His disclosure came after a second group of staff officers cleared the decks for tackling the sole key issue remaining before it—whether Russia should help supervise the truce.

A UN command communique said they cleaned up the last of their minor problems by reaching "complete agreement on the ports of entry question."

The allies then proposed the key issue be solved by dropping Russia and Norway, leaving four "neutral nations" to police the armi-

Glands Are Transplanted From Premature Babies

(AP Science Reporter)

New Haven, Conn., March 26 (AP)—One of the great potential revolutions in medical science was disclosed today.

Three sick men and women have been given glands transplanted from very premature babies to turn out hormones for new health.

It is an amazing and promising experiment in giving humans new spare parts. It may lead to many new methods of treating a variety of diseases.

Little pieces of glands were taken from unborn babies and put into stomach muscles of two men and a woman. The men got adrenal glands because their own adrenals had stopped making hormones, including cortisone. The woman got a thyroid gland, after her own sick thyroid was removed.

Animal tests indicate the new gland bits will stay alive, grow, and make hormones. It is still too early to tell about the humans.

If it works for them, humans, someday may get new glands to control diabetes without insulin, a gland hormone; to replace sex glands, to control thyroid diseases, even perhaps control some kinds of cancer. New glands might come from animals as well as humans. Humans might be able to replace wornout or lost sex glands, realiz-

Get City Hall Prevue, Sales Are Ruled Out

City hall employes, the police and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk saw some expert handling of the Yo Yo today all because two traveling demonstrators of the gadget sought permission to do their stuff in the city.

They appeared at police headquarters first and gave a few performances there. Later they showed the mayor how interesting a Yo Yo can be, but because of several unfavorable circumstances they were not allowed to continue their trick performance about town.

They also asked to do their yo yoing at local schools, but it appeared that regulations were against that too. They demonstrated, but did not sell the gadget directly they said.

Florida Gets Summer Weather, Cold in West

(By The Associated Press)

It was summer-like weather in southern Florida and the far west but winter lingered over most of the midwest today.

Temperatures dropped to near zero in parts of Minnesota and Michigan again today as cold weather continued over the North Central region.

Readings were in the 70's during the night in southern Florida and near normal levels in other parts of the country.

Light snow fell in northern Indiana, southern lower Michigan, parts of northern Missouri, western Iowa, the Dakotas and in the central northern Rockies. Rain hit Gulf coastal areas east of New Orleans through northern Florida and northward to Savannah, Ga.

It was 83 above yesterday in San Francisco and Oakland, a record for the date, as warm weather spread over California. It was 80 in Los Angeles. Miami's top was 87.

Housing Loan Bids Decided by a Toss

New York, March 26 (AP)—Cointossing yesterday at the City Housing Authority offices, 63 Park Row, determined the allocation among bidders for new temporary short term loan notes totaling $14,036,000.

Philip J. Cruise, authority chairman, said that the offerings represented the first tie bids on authority loans in four years.

The Chemical Bank and Trust Company bid on the entire issue at 1.06 per cent interest was the same as one by Solomon Brothers and Hutzler for $2,000,000 of the loan and by the New York Trust Company for $1,000,000. Representatives of the Chemical Bank and Solomon Brothers tossed a nickel. Solomon Brothers won and was awarded $2,000,000 of the issue. Chemical Bank won the next toss, of a quarter, with the New York Trust Company and retained the balance of the issue.

Proceeds of the loan are to be used to continue temporary financing of Astoria Houses, a low-rent project in Queens.

Doctors Needed

Jakarta, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesia's minister of health is trying to recruit 200 foreign physicians to work in this country. Since the transfer of sovereignty scores of Dutch government doctors have returned home and the available Indonesian physicians are too few to fill the gap. Efforts of the Indonesian high commissioner's office in the Hague have not been very successful, however, in spite of the favorable contracts offered. So far 58 physicians have been signed. About 50 per cent are Dutchmen. The rest come from other west European countries, especially Germany.

French-Speaking Dorm

Baltimore (AP)—A residence hall in which the students will be allowed to speak only French is planned by Goucher College. To be known as "French House," it will open this fall. Students at the Maryland college will thus achieve greater facility in speaking and understanding the language, said Dr. Lester Gilbert Crocker, professor of romance languages. The principle rule for admission to the group will be the determination to stick to French at all times. Participation, entirely voluntary, will be limited in the beginning to approximately a dozen students. No academic credit will be given.

Florida Gets Summer Weather, Cold in West

(By The Associated Press)

It was summer-like weather in southern Florida and the far west but winter lingered over most of the midwest today.

Temperatures dropped to near zero in parts of Minnesota and Michigan again today as cold weather continued over the North Central region.

Readings were in the 70's during the night in southern Florida and near normal levels in other parts of the country.

Light snow fell in northern Indiana, southern lower Michigan, parts of northern Missouri, western Iowa, the Dakotas and in the central northern Rockies. Rain hit Gulf coastal areas east of New Orleans through northern Florida and northward to Savannah, Ga.

It was 83 above yesterday in San Francisco and Oakland, a record for the date, as warm weather spread over California. It was 80 in Los Angeles. Miami's top was 87.

Housing Loan Bids Decided by a Toss

New York, March 26 (AP)—Cointossing yesterday at the City Housing Authority offices, 63 Park Row, determined the allocation among bidders for new temporary short term loan notes totaling $14,036,000.

Philip J. Cruise, authority chairman, said that the offerings represented the first tie bids on authority loans in four years.

The Chemical Bank and Trust Company bid on the entire issue at 1.06 per cent interest was the same as one by Solomon Brothers and Hutzler for $2,000,000 of the loan and by the New York Trust Company for $1,000,000. Representatives of the Chemical Bank and Solomon Brothers tossed a nickel. Solomon Brothers won and was awarded $2,000,000 of the issue. Chemical Bank won the next toss, of a quarter, with the New York Trust Company and retained the balance of the issue.

Proceeds of the loan are to be used to continue temporary financing of Astoria Houses, a low-rent project in Queens.

RED CROSS RUSHES AID

Several hundred Americans have been killed and over a thousand injured in a sudden wave of tornadoes that hit almost without warning. In Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Missouri and Alabama people in the paths of tornadoes and twisters have suffered physical and financial loss. Everyone who heard of the tragedies felt immediate sympathy for the unfortunate.

But sympathy in time of disaster is not enough. There has to be an organization which can express that sympathy in concrete terms. The disaster areas need medical supplies, temporary shelter, food and trained workers who can handle the situation. Fortunately the American Red Cross, which has those things, and is supported by the voluntary work and contributions of citizens in every community, has already taken action to bring relief to those who need it.

In this community the Red Cross drive for funds is still underway. No better illustration of how competently the Red Cross can act in emergency can be found than their work in the states where the storm struck. In the first news stories originating in the disaster areas there was the phrase, "The Red Cross rushes aid." The words are familiar and it is good to remember them when asked for help. This is Red Cross month, though nearly over. You can still increase your annual gift of money, can still pledge your blood.

Despite the fact that there are more clocks in use than ever before, there are still some people who apparently don't know the time of day.

TAKING A WALK

When as prominent a figure as a United States senator announces his readiness to bolt his party, it causes a sensation in Washington. Senator Milton R. Young, North Dakota Republican, states his willingness to support his colleague, Georgia's Senator Richard B. Russell, if the latter should get the Democratic nomination. He gives Russell's interest in farm problems as a chief reason.

Such cases are not unknown. In 1928 Senator Furnifold M. Simmons of North Carolina, a Democratic Senate leader for 25 years, bolted Al Smith to support Herbert Hoover. In 1932 and 1936 several Republican senators took a walk in the opposite direction. In 1944 Senator Joseph H. Ball of Minnesota, a Republican, parted company with Governor Dewey over the international situation, and voted for Roosevelt.

Young has plenty of precedent. That will make his managers no happier.

Powerful things sometimes do come in small packages. The lowly splinter, for example, has been dubbed one of the "most common annoyances" of mankind by an insurance institute. When one is snagged in the finger, however, the tongue is hardly so polite.

An Englishman commented recently in the Manchester Guardian that he considered French women to be far better housewives than the women of his own country. Later he wrote that the women of France have a great deal more grace and personal charm than the women of England. The latter statement drew down the wrath of his countrymen upon his hapless head. The Guardian printed many letters expressing opinions which disagreed with the writer's point of view.

More blues are needed in the world today, a color researcher insists, citing preferences in kitchens, clothing, automobiles. Right now the fellow recovering from income tax time, however, probably has all he can handle.

PASSING THE BUS

Many states forbid drivers to pass a standing school bus, no matter in what direction they are going. What happens when one school bus approaches another standing still?

This may be the modern version of the problem raised by a law said to have been passed by some all-wise legislature, requiring trains meeting on the same track to halt and remain stationary until the other has gone by.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A RUSSIAN ANNIVERSARY

A number of very distinguished Americans have organized a sponsoring committee "To commemorate the Thirty-Fifth Anniversary of the Russian Democratic Revolution" (March 12, 1917).

No democratic revolution occurred in Russia on any such date or ever. It is astonishing how a committee containing some of the best names in America can be pulled together by someone to commemorate something that never happened.

The Russian Revolution started with a palace uprising, following strikes and riots in St. Petersburg (now Leningrad) on March 8, 1917. On March 12, a provisional government was established headed by Prince Lvov, who was a bridge between the old regime and the middle class groups that took office. Among them were Prof. Paul Miliukov and Alexander Kerensky, the only democrats in the group.

There was no elected government, no nationwide expression of the people. When the Czar abdicated on March 15, it was not to this government, but to his brother Michael, who recognized the provisional government and quit.

The Lvov government only lasted until July 20, when Kerensky took over. I arrived in Petrograd (Leningrad) shortly after this event and can say that never, at any time, did the Russian people have a government of their own choice, nor that a Russian government sitting in the capital had any widespread popular approval. Democracy never arrived.

The Kerensky government, which came into existence on July 20, was for all practical purposes dead by September 9, when General Kornilov attacked it on the right, while Lenin and Trotzky were undermining it on the left. On November 6, the Kerensky government fell and the Communists (Bolsheviks) took over. They, an anti-democratic party, have remained in power since then.

The purpose of all the great names who signed the call for the celebration of a Russian Democratic Revolution was to impress the Russians, who will never know about it, that "We hold the profound conviction that in spite of every difficulty you, like all who have ever tasted freedom, will find the way to regain it—so that a liberated Russia may assume her normal place in the international community and that the liberated Russian peoples may again make their great contribution to the welfare and happiness of mankind."

This is sheer historic bunk. The Russian people have never tasted freedom. For a thousand years before Lenin, and since him, they never tasted freedom. During the eight months between the abdication of the Czar and the dictatorship of Lenin and Trotzky they tasted no freedom. During that period they knew only chaos and hunger.

Alexander Kerensky might have done well had there been no war, no deserting soldiers, no opposing monarchists, no infiltrating Bolsheviks. But these forces did exist and government was paralyzed by them. And the British, French and American governments were slow to understand and slower to act. As usual, they were of divided counsel and jockeying for power. As has happened between 1945 and 1948 in China, so in 1917, some Americans favored recognizing the Bolsheviks, and Trotzky was actually in negotiation with them.

This list of distinguished Americans, who put their names to the nonsense of a democratic Russia for eight months in 1,000 years of history, seeks to convey the idea that such a statement will change the attitude of the Russian people toward us.

Common sense, if not arithmetic, should tell them that the Bolshevik Revolution is now 35 years old; that any person today living in Russia who is, let us say, aged 50 or younger, can have little memory of the world that went before. Those who are aged 40 or younger have never been permitted to read a book, newspaper or magazine, to see a movie or to hear anything on the radio unless it was prepared by their government. Only the government prints or publishes anything in that country.

The minds of the Russian people are held in a vise by their government. Whoever dares to give the impression of opposition or even doubt is sent to Siberian and Turkestan prisons or to labor camps. And many are killed for their "imperfections."

So what does this circular letter and proposed celebration accomplish? At best, it is a false hope. Actually, it is entirely for American consumption and causes countless Americans to misunderstand the nature of our enemy.

The effect of disturbances of the emotions is one cause of asthma and other allergies. These disturbances have long been recognized as a cause of migraine (one-sided headache), skin irritations and inflammations, colitis (inflammation of the lower or large bowel), angina pectoris (chest pain) and the various neurosis.

According to Dr. O. R. Yost, in North Carolina Medical Journal, psychosomatic medicine, highlighted in the past ten years, will assume an increasingly important role in the physician's equipment for treatment.

"Psychosomatic illness accounts for the complaints of 70 per cent of patients seeking advice of general practitioners. The reluctance or hesitation of accepting psychosomatic medicine no longer exists. The increasing number of patients whose symptoms are not caused by any organic disease but by emotional disturbances makes it necessary for physicians to accept this method of investigating and treating these disturbing symptoms. The symptoms are real, not imaginary, and relief must be obtained."

Once the patient realizes that no organic trouble is present and that his emotions are causing the symptoms, the general physician can effect a cure. In severe cases, a psychiatrist may be called in consultation.

When a new idea is introduced in medicine, there is always one group of physicians which accents it and another which rejects it. In between these two groups are the physicians who quietly watch the effects of the new process and after a few months accept or reject it fully.

Thus it would be thought that psychosomatic medicine would be accepted by some physicians and rejected by others, yet we find that the medical profession as a whole are accepting the idea of psychosomatic medicine — the mind and emotions causing disturbances in various parts of the body. Just as the mind and body are inseparable in the patient, so are the functions of mind and body indivisible when making a diagnosis of an illness. Deviations from the normal pattern of feeling, thinking and acting may, in severe cases, produce disorders in the heart and blood vessels, stomach and intestine, and the entire muscular system.

Never Can Tell

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Senatorial colleagues figure there is more than meets the eye behind the $10,000 transaction between Senator Brewster of Maine and Henry Grunewald, undercover lobbyist, wire-tap expert, and tax fixer.

The senator from Maine appeared briefly before the King subcommittee last week and testified he had paid Grunewald $10,000 in order to cover up two $5,000 contributions given to the primary campaigns of Senators Nixon of California and Young of North Dakota. Grunewald, Brewster claimed, had served as the conduit to pass the money on to their campaigns.

However, Senators Nixon and Young knew nothing about the deal and were sore as blazes when Brewster sprang his out-of-the-blue testimony.

It would be a matter of mere routine investigation for the King tax-fraud committee to have delved deeper into the strange relations between the senator from Maine and Washington's most unusual tax-fixing lobbyist. Nevertheless, Brewster was asked few questions by the King committee.

He was not asked why he had saved Grunewald from a contempt citation by the Senate; or why he had used Grunewald in a wire-tapping deal; or whether he, as chairman of the Republican Committee on Senatorial Elections made it a practice to ignore the rules of his party and contribute to one Republican's nomination as against another Republican.

Furthermore, Brewster will be asked none of these questions later. It's against the rules of the club. Members of Congress just don't embarrass each other.

Other witnesses can be grilled, day after day. They can be insulted and badgered on the witness stand. They can be thrown into jail if they refuse to answer questions.

But the unwritten law of Congress is that you don't ask embarrassing questions of a fellow member of Congress. The King committee has done an excellent job on other matters, but it won't violate this rule.

Strange Friendship

However, since the public is entitled to know all the facts regarding the men who write the laws which the public has to follow, it is altogether fair to point to some highly significant facts in the relationship between Senator Brewster and Mystery-man Henry Grunewald which the King committee passed over.

Grunewald, who has refused to name the source of about a quarter of a million dollars, was such a familiar person around Brewster's office that Brewster and staff called him "Henry." He was also on familiar terms with Pan American Airways, for whom he admits "checking" telephone wires.

Brewster also happens to be close to the giant Pan American Airways combine—in fact, has done so many favors for them that he is sometimes called "the senator for Pan American."

In 1946-47, Brewster was pushing his "chosen instrument" bill to abolish competition between different U. S. airlines overseas, putting all of them in the hands of one company instead. Pan American wanted this bill passed, was lobbying vigorously for it, figured Pan Am would be the "chosen instrument" to handle all U. S. air traffic overseas.

But Trans-World Airlines, headed by Howard Hughes, was opposed. Hughes figured that under the Brewster bill TWA would be amalgamated with Pan American. He favored free American competition.

Brewster, whose business was to legislate not negotiate private business deals, made an amazing approach to Hughes, asked him to sell out to Pan American. Hughes refused.

Strange Investigation

But Brewster was also chairman—in 1947—of the powerful Senate Investigating Committee, formerly under Sen. Harry Truman. And with the Republicans controlling Congress in 1947, Brewster began a probe of Howard Hughes. Many people felt that it had all the earmarks of a blackmail probe to force Hughes to do business with Pan American Airways.

At about this time, Brewster also stooped to the un-American act of having the Washington police tap the telephone wires of Howard Hughes and his attorneys at a Washington hotel.

Most of this came out during the wire-tap investigation by the Senate District of Columbia Committee in the summer of 1950. This was where Grunewald was voted a contempt citation for refusing to answer questions, and where Brewster saved him from going to jail.

The amazing thing about the wire-tap on Hughes' telephone was that it was done by the Washington police, with Brewster and Grunewald operating in the background. The police officers who applied the tap and listened in testified that reports went to Grunewald. They were also instructed to listen especially for information about airplane deals.

The use of these Washington policemen occurred in a free democracy, not in a police state such as Russia or Argentina. And the man who got them assigned to the job was none other than the senior senator from Maine.

Amateur Sleuth From Maine

Brewster first called U. S. Attorney Morris Fay, and asked for the loan of Lt. Joe Shimon. Fay refused to cooperate. Brewster then went direct to Chief of Police Robert Barrett, since resigned under fire, and asked for the use of Lt. Shimon, who was the expert wire-tapper of the police squad.

Later, a Senate committee under Matt Neely of West Virginia heard testimony from Brewster's secretary that she had paid expense money to Shimon. A policeman also said that Shimon exhibited $1,000 just received from a man fitting the appearance of Grunewald. But Grunewald himself at first ducked the hearings, and later, dragged in by the FBI, refused to answer pertinent questions.

So the Senate committe recommended that he be cited for contempt. However, his friend Brewster saved him.

First, Brewster got Senator McCarthy, a member of the investigating committee, to block a vote. Later, when Chairman Neely called a special meeting and after the committee voted 7 to 1 to cite Grunewald, Brewster buttonholed GOP Senator Hendrickson of New Jersey, persuaded him to prepare a minority report whitewashing the entire wire-tap scandal including his pal, Henry Grunewald.

Brewster even went to the extreme length of promising Hendrickson a place on the coveted Judiciary Committee if he would spearhead the whitewash. Finally Hendrickson yielded.

These are some of the things the King committee did not touch on, but which the public needs to know about in sizing up the $10,000 payment by the Senator from Maine to Mystery-man Grunewald.

Truman Statement Has Brought Reply From Catholics on Usages of Tolerance

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 26—President Truman the other day said he didn't like the Franco regime in Spain, and the remark caused a furor. The White House quickly explained that the President was referring to the lack of religious tolerance in Spain. Then came a vigorous attack by Cardinal Segura of Spain on Protestant missions in that country.

Now comes a rejoinder from a high Catholic source in this country which is sensational not only in its expression of opposition to what Cardinal Segura said but in its exposition, for the benefit of the Spanish clergy, of what should be the tolerance of Catholics toward Protestants and vice versa.

The editorial, appearing first a few days ago in the "Indiana Catholic and Record," which is the official organ of Archbishop Paul Schulte of Indianapolis, has struck a responsive chord among other Catholic journals in other dioceses. Entitled "The Cardinal Is Calling the Cops Four Centuries Late," it reads as follows:

"If the surprising remarks of the Spanish Cardinal Segura have been reported accurately, they are sure to strain the charitable efforts of Americans—Catholic as well as Protestant—to understand the Spanish mentality. The cardinal is reported to have complained in a pastoral letter that 'Protestant proselytism, having broken the dikes of tolerance, is not hesitating to advance on the open field toward religious freedom in our country.'

"Catholic writers who have been painfully explaining that religious freedom, of a Spanish sort, exists in Spain will certainly be embarrassed by the cardinal's blunt admission that religious freedom is an evil to be avoided at all costs. Some Catholic comment will doubtless fall into the rather tired and unimpressive line that Catholics are persecuted in some Protestant countries, too.

"We think it is high time to admit that Spain is quite a bit behind the times. Everyone knows that Spain is a good century behind the leaders of the western world industrially and agriculturally. But in the matter of religious harmony Spain seems to be roughly four centuries in arrears. For some obscure reasons Spanish churchmen do not seem to be ready to admit what happened around 1520—namely the Protestant revolt. Cardinal Segura's reported remarks would have had a timely ring if they had been uttered in 1552. However, it seems a bit fatuous to cling at this date to the attitude that the Protestant heresy is a dangerous threat which can be forestalled only by vigilance and rigorous control. Elsewhere in the world Catholics and Protestants have long since passed through the stage of refusing to acknowledge each other's existence.

"Catholics in other countries, while equally zealous and orthodox in their adherence to the faith, see Protestantism not as a threat but as a fact. They hold quite as strongly as Cardinal Segura that Protestantism is a heresy, that it teaches serious errors in doctrine. They deplore too the harm to a united Christendom which the Protestant revolt has caused. But in America, and elsewhere, competition, not suppression, has been the automatic reaction. It seems to us that Cardinal Segura, Dictator Franco and others in Spain should take a look at their history books. Not only could they discover that the Protestant revolt actually did happen and had rather considerable repercussions all over the world, but they might also notice that any persecution—short of extermination — has invariably strengthened the persecuted religion in the long run. Catholics should be the last to forget that.

"Another point that history might clarify is that Protestantism has lost by this time most of the vigor and drive that once characterized it and brought it such conquests. Whenever Protestantism is met by a strong informed Catholicism today, there is simply no contest. When the Spanish leaders tire of the history review, which we suggest for them, they might gaze abroad at the current religious scene. One point that might occur easily is that Protestantism is the wrong dragon today. Any lances that can be spared from the anti-Communist battle had better be tossed at other targets than Protestantism. A second lesson from current history might be derived from a comparison of the vitality and vigor of American Catholicism flourishing in a Protestant stronghold, with the protected and over-advertised brand of Catholicism in Spain.

"To some these remarks may smack of religious jingoism, but we feel it is past time for American Catholics to be relieved from the oppressive burden of our Spanish brethren. We have spent weary hours cleaning up the blood the Spaniards overzealously spilled in the inquisition. If they wish to call the cops on the Protestants four centuries late they can take the blame themselves. Let them fend for themselves against the slings and arrows of world opinion.

"In time, we trust, even the Spaniards will recognize that although error really has no rights, the heretics who hold the error do have certain fundamental rights which the state must respect and protect—rights that the Popes as head of the papal states preserved for the Jews and Waldensians in the eternal city itself—to follow one's conscience, to build one's churches and to worship as one chooses, so long as this does not infringe upon the rights of others."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Continuing my revelations of the political complexion of Irving Brown, the "ambassador in Europe" of the American Federation of Labor, and David Dubinsky's garment workers' union, with the active support of the State Department, I shall quote today from a publication called the Revolutionary Socialist' "a quarterly devoted to Marxian socialism," for November, 1934. This magazine contains an article by Mr. Brown. I have already quoted from this piece which is inconceivably muddy but is clarified for our purposes by other matter in the same issue. Brown was described as "an instructor in workers' education classes of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and especially active in the (Socialist) party in New Jersey."

The data further says: "He is a member of the National Executive Committee of the Revolutionary Policy Committee" of the Socialist party.

Brown's "project" is a campaign to substitute Marxian socialism for the present indistinct political nature of western Europe. "Time," the little jerked-English budget of misinformation published by China-boy Luce for inscrutable political ends, has represented Brown and his purposes in Europe as not merely harmless but laudable from the standpoint of Americans.

I quote now from an editorial called "The Road to Power."

"The aim of socialism is to establish a workers' republic," it says. "In the achievement of this aim it is necessary to acquire possession of the state power so as to transform capitalist society into socialist society by the dictatorship of the proletariat. The history of capitalism leaves no room for illusions regarding the behavior of the capitalist class when it is fighting for its life against the advancing workers. The responsibility for the destruction of the civil liberties of the bourgeois democratic state lies clearly and solely at the door of the ruling capitalist state. That class has shown that when the decisive hour approaches, the conflict between the classes assumes a violent character. We make no fetish of legality. The law in a bourgeois democracy is largely the law of property rights; laid down by those who have 'rights' because they are owners. No institution or instrument set up by the capitalist class can be depended on to establish the workers' republic. Therefore the working class state will be an entirely new type of state based on workers' councils, historically suited to serve as the organs of liberation.

"Workers' councils, organized in direct response to a growing revolutionary situation shall constitute the basic unit by which the working class can carry through an armed insurrection. Once socialists are in possession of the state machinery by the mandate of the workers, their task is to arm the workers against all possibility of a counter-revolutionary resistance."

Under "war," the same "revolutionary socialist review" said this: "Permanent peace can come for the workers only after capitalism has been destroyed. We fight against imperialist wars through propaganda, demonstrations, organizations and strikes in key war industries including forcible stoppage of munition shipments by workers and united fronts with all anti-war groups regardless of political beliefs. (Including therefore, Soviet Communists, Pegler)"

On "labor" the publication said: "The (Socialist) party is against

RED CROSS RUSHES AID

Several hundred Americans have been killed and over a thousand injured in a sudden wave of tornadoes that hit almost without warning. In Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Missouri and Alabama people in the paths of tornadoes and twisters have suffered physical and financial loss. Everyone who heard of the tragedies felt immediate sympathy for the unfortunate.

But sympathy in time of disaster is not enough. There has to be an organization which can express that sympathy in concrete terms. The disaster areas need medical supplies, temporary shelter, food and trained workers who can handle the situation. Fortunately the American Red Cross, which has those things, and is supported by the voluntary work and contributions of citizens in every community, has already taken action to bring relief to those who need it.

In this community the Red Cross drive for funds is still underway. No better illustration of how competently the Red Cross can act in emergency can be found than their work in the states where the storm struck. In the first news stories originating in the disaster areas there was the phrase, "The Red Cross rushes aid." The words are familiar and it is good to remember them when asked for help. This is Red Cross month, though nearly over. You can still increase your annual gift of money, can still pledge your blood.

Despite the fact that there are more clocks in use than ever before, there are still some people who apparently don't know the time of day.

TAKING A WALK

When as prominent a figure as a United States senator announces his readiness to bolt his party, it causes a sensation in Washington. Senator Milton R. Young, North Dakota Republican, states his willingness to support his colleague, Georgia's Senator Richard B. Russell, if the latter should get the Democratic nomination. He gives Russell's interest in farm problems as a chief reason.

Such cases are not unknown. In 1928 Senator Furnifold M. Simmons of North Carolina, a Democratic Senate leader for 25 years, bolted Al Smith to support Herbert Hoover. In 1932 and 1936 several Republican senators took a walk in the opposite direction. In 1944 Senator Joseph H. Ball of Minnesota, a Republican, parted company with Governor Dewey over the international situation, and voted for Roosevelt.

Young has plenty of precedent. That will make his managers no happier.

Powerful things sometimes do come in small packages. The lowly splinter, for example, has been dubbed one of the "most common annoyances" of mankind by an insurance institute. When one is snagged in the finger, however, the tongue is hardly so polite.

An Englishman commented recently in the Manchester Guardian that he considered French women to be far better housewives than the women of his own country. Later he wrote that the women of France have a great deal more grace and personal charm than the women of England. The latter statement drew down the wrath of his countrymen upon his hapless head. The Guardian printed many letters expressing opinions which disagreed with the writer's point of view.

More blues are needed in the world today, a color researcher insists, citing preferences in kitchens, clothing, automobiles. Right now the fellow recovering from income tax time, however, probably has all he can handle.

PASSING THE BUS

Many states forbid drivers to pass a standing school bus, no matter in what direction they are going. What happens when one school bus approaches another standing still?

This may be the modern version of the problem raised by a law said to have been passed by some all-wise legislature, requiring trains meeting on the same track to halt and remain stationary until the other has gone by.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A RUSSIAN ANNIVERSARY

A number of very distinguished Americans have organized a sponsoring committee "To commemorate the Thirty-Fifth Anniversary of the Russian Democratic Revolution" (March 12, 1917).

No democratic revolution occurred in Russia on any such date or ever. It is astonishing how a committee containing some of the best names in America can be pulled together by someone to commemorate something that never happened.

The Russian Revolution started with a palace uprising, following strikes and riots in St. Petersburg (now Leningrad) on March 8, 1917. On March 12, a provisional government was established headed by Prince Lvov, who was a bridge between the old regime and the middle class groups that took office. Among them were Prof. Paul Miliukov and Alexander Kerensky, the only democrats in the group.

There was no elected government, no nationwide expression of the people. When the Czar abdicated on March 15, it was not to this government, but to his brother Michael, who recognized the provisional government and quit.

The Lvov government only lasted until July 20, when Kerensky took over. I arrived in Petrograd (Leningrad) shortly after this event and can say that never, at any time, did the Russian people have a government of their own choice, nor that a Russian government sitting in the capital had any widespread popular approval. Democracy never arrived.

The Kerensky government, which came into existence on July 20, was for all practical purposes dead by September 9, when General Kornilov attacked it on the right, while Lenin and Trotzky were undermining it on the left. On November 6, the Kerensky government fell and the Communists (Bolsheviks) took over. They, an anti-democratic party, have remained in power since then.

The purpose of all the great names who signed the call for the celebration of a Russian Democratic Revolution was to impress the Russians, who will never know about it, that "We hold the profound conviction that in spite of every difficulty you, like all who have ever tasted freedom, will find the way to regain it—so that a liberated Russia may assume her normal place in the international community and that the liberated Russian peoples may again make their great contribution to the welfare and happiness of mankind."

This is sheer historic bunk. The Russian people have never tasted freedom. For a thousand years before Lenin, and since him, they never tasted freedom. During the eight months between the abdication of the Czar and the dictatorship of Lenin and Trotzky they tasted no freedom. During that period they knew only chaos and hunger.

Alexander Kerensky might have done well had there been no war, no deserting soldiers, no opposing monarchists, no infiltrating Bolsheviks. But these forces did exist and government was paralyzed by them. And the British, French and American governments were slow to understand and slower to act. As usual, they were of divided counsel and jockeying for power. As has happened between 1945 and 1948 in China, so in 1917, some Americans favored recognizing the Bolsheviks, and Trotzky was actually in negotiation with them.

This list of distinguished Americans, who put their names to the nonsense of a democratic Russia for eight months in 1,000 years of history, seeks to convey the idea that such a statement will change the attitude of the Russian people toward us.

Common sense, if not arithmetic, should tell them that the Bolshevik Revolution is now 35 years old; that any person today living in Russia who is, let us say, aged 50 or younger, can have little memory of the world that went before. Those who are aged 40 or younger have never been permitted to read a book, newspaper or magazine, to see a movie or to hear anything on the radio unless it was prepared by their government. Only the government prints or publishes anything in that country.

The minds of the Russian people are held in a vise by their government. Whoever dares to give the impression of opposition or even doubt is sent to Siberian and Turkestan prisons or to labor camps. And many are killed for their "imperfections."

So what does this circular letter and proposed celebration accomplish? At best, it is a false hope. Actually, it is entirely for American consumption and causes countless Americans to misunderstand the nature of our enemy.

PSYCHOSOMATIC MEDICINE

The effect of disturbances of the emotions is one cause of asthma and other allergies. These disturbances have long been recognized as a cause of migraine (one-sided headache), skin irritations and inflammations, colitis (inflammation of the lower or large bowel), angina pectoris (chest pain) and the various neurosis.

According to Dr. O. R. Yost, in North Carolina Medical Journal, psychosomatic medicine, highlighted in the past ten years, will assume an increasingly important role in the physician's equipment for treatment.

"Psychosomatic illness accounts for the complaints of 70 per cent of patients seeking advice of general practitioners. The reluctance or hesitation of accepting psychosomatic medicine no longer exists. The increasing number of patients whose symptoms are not caused by any organic disease but by emotional disturbances makes it necessary for physicians to accept this method of investigating and treating these disturbing symptoms. The symptoms are real, not imaginary, and relief must be obtained."

Once the patient realizes that no organic trouble is present and that his emotions are causing the symptoms, the general physician can effect a cure. In severe cases, a psychiatrist may be called in consultation.

When a new idea is introduced in medicine, there is always one group of physicians which accents it and another which rejects it. In between these two groups are the physicians who quietly watch the effects of the new process and after a few months accept or reject it fully.

Thus it would be thought that psychosomatic medicine would be accepted by some physicians and rejected by others, yet we find that the medical profession as a whole are accepting the idea of psychosomatic medicine — the mind and emotions causing disturbances in various parts of the body. Just as the mind and body are inseparable in the patient, so are the functions of mind and body indivisible when making a diagnosis of an illness. Deviations from the normal pattern of feeling, thinking and acting may, in severe cases, produce disorders in the heart and blood vessels, stomach and intestine, and the entire muscular system.

Washington — Senatorial colleagues figure there is more than meets the eye behind the $10,000 transaction between Senator Brewster of Maine and Henry Grunewald, undercover lobbyist, wire-tap expert, and tax fixer.

The senator from Maine appeared briefly before the King subcommittee last week and testified he had paid Grunewald $10,000 in order to cover up two $5,000 contributions given to the primary campaigns of Senators Nixon of California and Young of North Dakota. Strange Friendship

However, since the public is entitled to know all the facts regarding the men who write the laws which the public has to follow, it is altogether fair to point to some highly significant facts in the relationship between Senator Brewster and Mystery-man Henry Grunewald which the King committee passed over.

Grunewald, who has refused to name the source of about a quarter of a million dollars, was such a familiar person around Brewster's office that Brewster and staff called him "Henry." He was also on familiar terms with Pan American Airways, for whom he admits "checking" telephone wires.

Brewster also happens to be close to the giant Pan American Airways combine—in fact, has done so many favors for them that he is sometimes called "the senator for Pan American."

Pan American wanted this bill passed, was lobbying vigorously for it, figured Pan Am would be the "chosen instrument" to handle all U. S. air traffic overseas.

But Trans-World Airlines, headed by Howard Hughes, was opposed. Hughes figured that under the Brewster bill TWA would be amalgamated with Pan American. He favored free American competition.

Brewster, whose business was to legislate not negotiate private business deals, made an amazing approach to Hughes, asked him to sell out to Pan American. Hughes refused.

But Brewster was also chairman—in 1947—of the powerful Senate Investigating Committee, formerly under Sen. Harry Truman. And with the Republicans controlling Congress in 1947, Brewster began a probe of Howard Hughes. Many people felt that it had all the earmarks of a blackmail probe to force Hughes to do business with Pan American Airways.

At about this time, Brewster also stooped to the un-American act of having the Washington police tap the telephone wires of Howard Hughes and his attorneys at a Washington hotel.

Most of this came out during the wire-tap investigation by the Senate District of Columbia Committee in the summer of 1950. This was where Grunewald was voted a contempt citation for refusing to answer questions, and where Brewster saved him from going to jail.

The amazing thing about the wire-tap on Hughes' telephone was that it was done by the Washington police, with Brewster and Grunewald operating in the background. The police officers who applied the tap and listened in testified that reports went to Grunewald. They were also instructed to listen especially for information about airplane deals.

The use of these Washington policemen occurred in a free democracy, not in a police state such as Russia or Argentina. And the man who got them assigned to the job was none other than the senior senator from Maine.

Amateur Sleuth From Maine

Brewster first called U. S. Attorney Morris Fay, and asked for the loan of Lt. Joe Shimon. Fay refused to cooperate. Brewster then went direct to Chief of Police Robert Barrett, since resigned under fire, and asked for the use of Lt. Shimon, who was the expert wire-tapper of the police squad.

Later, a Senate committee under Matt Neely of West Virginia heard testimony from Brewster's secretary that she had paid expense money to Shimon. A policeman also said that Shimon exhibited $1,000 just received from a man fitting the appearance of Grunewald. But Grunewald himself at first ducked the hearings, and later, dragged in by the FBI, refused to answer pertinent questions.

So the Senate committe recommended that he be cited for contempt. However, his friend Brewster saved him.

First, Brewster got Senator McCarthy, a member of the investigating committee, to block a vote. Later, when Chairman Neely called a special meeting and after the committee voted 7 to 1 to cite Grunewald, Brewster buttonholed GOP Senator Hendrickson of New Jersey, persuaded him to prepare a minority report whitewashing the entire wire-tap scandal including his pal, Henry Grunewald.

Brewster even went to the extreme length of promising Hendrickson a place on the coveted Judiciary Committee if he would spearhead the whitewash. Finally Hendrickson yielded.

These are some of the things the King committee did not touch on, but which the public needs to know about in sizing up the $10,000 payment by the Senator from Maine to Mystery-man Grunewald.

Truman Statement Has Brought Reply From Catholics on Usages of Tolerance

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 26—President Truman the other day said he didn't like the Franco regime in Spain, and the remark caused a furor. The White House quickly explained that the President was referring to the lack of religious tolerance in Spain. Then came a vigorous attack by Cardinal Segura of Spain on Protestant missions in that country.

Now comes a rejoinder from a high Catholic source in this country which is sensational not only in its expression of opposition to what Cardinal Segura said but in its exposition, for the benefit of the Spanish clergy, of what should be the tolerance of Catholics toward Protestants and vice versa.

The editorial, appearing first a few days ago in the "Indiana Catholic and Record," which is the official organ of Archbishop Paul Schulte of Indianapolis, has struck a responsive chord among other Catholic journals in other dioceses. Entitled "The Cardinal Is Calling the Cops Four Centuries Late," it reads as follows:

"If the surprising remarks of the Spanish Cardinal Segura have been reported accurately, they are sure to strain the charitable efforts of Americans—Catholic as well as Protestant—to understand the Spanish mentality. The cardinal is reported to have complained in a pastoral letter that 'Protestant proselytism, having broken the dikes of tolerance, is not hesitating to advance on the open field toward religious freedom in our country.'

"Catholic writers who have been painfully explaining that religious freedom, of a Spanish sort, exists in Spain will certainly be embarrassed by the cardinal's blunt admission that religious freedom is an evil to be avoided at all costs. Some Catholic comment will doubtless fall into the rather tired and unimpressive line that Catholics are persecuted in some Protestant countries, too.

"We think it is high time to admit that Spain is quite a bit behind the times. Everyone knows that Spain is a good century behind the leaders of the western world industrially and agriculturally. But in the matter of religious harmony Spain seems to be roughly four centuries in arrears. For some obscure reasons Spanish churchmen do not seem to be ready to admit what happened around 1520—namely the Protestant revolt. Cardinal Segura's reported remarks would have had a timely ring if they had been uttered in 1552. However, it seems a bit fatuous to cling at this date to the attitude that the Protestant heresy is a dangerous threat which can be forestalled only by vigilance and rigorous control. Elsewhere in the world Catholics and Protestants have long since passed through the stage of refusing to acknowledge each other's existence.

"Catholics in other countries, while equally zealous and orthodox in their adherence to the faith, see Protestantism not as a threat but as a fact. They hold quite as strongly as Cardinal Segura that Protestantism is a heresy, that it teaches serious errors in doctrine. They deplore too the harm to a united Christendom which the Protestant revolt has caused. But in America, and elsewhere, competition, not suppression, has been the automatic reaction. It seems to us that Cardinal Segura, Dictator Franco and others in Spain should take a look at their history books. Not only could they discover that the Protestant revolt actually did happen and had rather considerable repercussions all over the world, but they might also notice that any persecution—short of extermination — has invariably strengthened the persecuted religion in the long run. Catholics should be the last to forget that.

"Another point that history might clarify is that Protestantism has lost by this time most of the vigor and drive that once characterized it and brought it such conquests. Whenever Protestantism is met by a strong informed Catholicism today, there is simply no contest. When the Spanish leaders tire of the history review, which we suggest for them, they might gaze abroad at the current religious scene. One point that might occur easily is that Protestantism is the wrong dragon today. Any lances that can be spared from the anti-Communist battle had better be tossed at other targets than Protestantism. A second lesson from current history might be derived from a comparison of the vitality and vigor of American Catholicism flourishing in a Protestant stronghold, with the protected and over-advertised brand of Catholicism in Spain.

"To some these remarks may smack of religious jingoism, but we feel it is past time for American Catholics to be relieved from the oppressive burden of our Spanish brethren. We have spent weary hours cleaning up the blood the Spaniards overzealously spilled in the inquisition. If they wish to call the cops on the Protestants four centuries late they can take the blame themselves. Let them fend for themselves against the slings and arrows of world opinion.

"In time, we trust, even the Spaniards will recognize that although error really has no rights, the heretics who hold the error do have certain fundamental rights which the state must respect and protect—rights that the Popes as head of the papal states preserved for the Jews and Waldensians in the eternal city itself—to follow one's conscience, to build one's churches and to worship as one chooses, so long as this does not infringe upon the rights of others."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Continuing my revelations of the political complexion of Irving Brown, the "ambassador in Europe" of the American Federation of Labor, and David Dubinsky's garment workers' union, with the active support of the State Department, I shall quote today from a publication called the Revolutionary Socialist' "a quarterly devoted to Marxian socialism," for November, 1934. This magazine contains an article by Mr. Brown. I have already quoted from this piece which is inconceivably muddy but is clarified for our purposes by other matter in the same issue. Brown was described as "an instructor in workers' education classes of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and especially active in the (Socialist) party in New Jersey."

The data further says: "He is a member of the National Executive Committee of the Revolutionary Policy Committee" of the Socialist party.

Brown's "project" is a campaign to substitute Marxian socialism for the present indistinct political nature of western Europe. "Time," the little jerked-English budget of misinformation published by China-boy Luce for inscrutable political ends, has represented Brown and his purposes in Europe as not merely harmless but laudable from the standpoint of Americans.

I quote now from an editorial called "The Road to Power."

"The aim of socialism is to establish a workers' republic," it says. "In the achievement of this aim it is necessary to acquire possession of the state power so as to transform capitalist society into socialist society by the dictatorship of the proletariat. The history of capitalism leaves no room for illusions regarding the behavior of the capitalist class when it is fighting for its life against the advancing workers. The responsibility for the destruction of the civil liberties of the bourgeois democratic state lies clearly and solely at the door of the ruling capitalist state. That class has shown that when the decisive hour approaches, the conflict between the classes assumes a violent character. We make no fetish of legality. The law in a bourgeois democracy is largely the law of property rights; laid down by those who have 'rights' because they are owners. No institution or instrument set up by the capitalist class can be depended on to establish the workers' republic. Therefore the working class state will be an entirely new type of state based on workers' councils, historically suited to serve as the organs of liberation.

"Workers' councils, organized in direct response to a growing revolutionary situation shall constitute the basic unit by which the working class can carry through an armed insurrection. Once socialists are in possession of the state machinery by the mandate of the workers, their task is to arm the workers against all possibility of a counter-revolutionary resistance."

Under "war," the same "revolutionary socialist review" said this: "Permanent peace can come for the workers only after capitalism has been destroyed. We fight against imperialist wars through propaganda, demonstrations, organizations and strikes in key war industries including forcible stoppage of munition shipments by workers and united fronts with all anti-war groups regardless of political beliefs. (Including therefore, Soviet Communists, Pegler)"

On "labor" the publication said: "The (Socialist) party is against

Dewey Signs Bill Changing Voting At School Polls

Albany, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Governor Dewey signed legislation today giving all persons qualified to vote in general elections in cities of less than 125,000 population permission to vote in school elections.

The measure, sponsored by Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore's committee on city-school fiscal relations, eliminates age-old special qualifications that had been required for school district elections in the 56 cities. The new law is effective next May 1.

Dewey said in a memorandum that he hoped the measure "will result in intensified interest in school district affairs." He noted it was "designed to increase voter participation" in the election.

The measure was introduced by Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson, Yonkers Republican.

Under the new provisions, voters in such school districts need only be citizens at least 21 years of age who have resided in the state a year, in the county four months and in the school district 30 days.

All those in the district who had registered in the last general election would be entitled to vote in a school election. The school board would provide for registration of additional qualified voters, such as those who had moved into the area after the previous general election.

Under the old law, a school district voter had to own or lease real property in the district or be the parent or guardian of a child who had attended a district school at least eight weeks in the year preceding the election.

The Knickerbocker school of writers, which included Fitz-Green Halleck and Joseph Rodman Drake, were followers of Washington Irving.

graft and bureaucracy within the existing unions."

Mr. Brown nevertheless is now a bureaucrat in the foreign "diplomatic" service of the AF of L, the most notorious mass corruption in the history of labor's efforts to organize for legitimate aims.

An editorial entitled "The Revolutionary Policy Committee and the Communist," said: "The RPC has been asked frequently to explain the difference between its program and that of various well known Communist groups and parties in the United States. We are glad to claim to be as Communistic as the Communist manifesto, the great heritage of the Communist and genuine socialist movements. The RPC differs from the Communist party of the USA on four major points."

The first three points were typical argumentarian Communist-Socialist hair-splitting. But the fourth was "the mechanical domination of the American party by the Russian party."

An article entitled "The Negro, the South and the Socialist Party," by George Streator, depicted the carpet-bag terror during reconstruction as "loyal governments." The freed slaves, and the "poor whites," were "a new proletariat, temporarily in power in the reconstruction governments."

"Northern bayonets kept these loyal governments in power until the 'rober barons' of steel, oil, copper and transportation were certain enough of their control of the hitherto feudalistic Democratic party to risk a 'free election.' Union troops . . . were drawn away leaving defenseless Negroes to the mercies of a movement which had all the emotional elements of hate and humiliation which characterized the rise of the National Socialists in Germany. The rule of the southern proletariat was short. It gave to many sections the first public schools, good roads and other social services."

Irving Brown was then, as he is now, strong in the councils of Dubinsky's autocracy, the Garment Workers' Union, teaching Dubinsky's subjects lessons of socialism. For all we know to the contrary, the foregoing still is the program that the agents of Dubinsky and the A F of L are trying to inflict on all Europe and Asia outside the Russian empire.

'Do It Yourself' Garage

Montreal (AP)—Peter Staruch recently opened a "Do It Yourself Garage" here and he says he has discovered more potential mechanics than you can shake a stick at. The garage is a paradise for people who like to tinker with their cars. They can wallow in greases and oil for only a fraction of the cost of having mechanics do the work. Pete borrowed the idea from articles about two Chicago men who set up auto stalls, handed out tools and advice, and allowed car owners to rip their cars apart for the love of it. All you pay for in the "Do It Yourself Garage" is the space your car occupies. With space for 15 to 20 cars, Pete is now taking advance reservations. For $2.75 a day—of 14 hours—customers draw a stall, light extensions and a box of tools. If they need jacks or other equipment all they have to do is yell.

YOUR STAKE IN AMERICA

What kind of a stake have you got in economic America? This should be a leading question with millions of our most enterprising and thrifty citizens. With debts maturing in large volume in the months and years ahead, putting billions of dollars into the hands of potential stockholders, the matter of re-investment becomes vital.

Sometimes truth is hard to enunciate. For it may reveal a condition that leads to embarrassment. There are areas in the economic life of our country that are taken for granted. Unbalanced budgets and deficit financing are in such areas. Yes, many people do challenge the existence and the necessity of these things. But for every person who condemns such practices during peace times, there are probably ten who are either indifferent or apologetic or rational about them.

Let me be very blunt. How many people in your community and your circle are slightly concerned with the federal debt of $260,000,000,000? How many are there who give any thought whatever to its economic implications? How many realize that this colossal debt bulks large in the liquid assets of our basic institutions?

Commercial banks have 60 billions of it; mutual savings banks 10 billions; insurance companies 17 billions; corporations 21 billions; state and local governments 10 billions; and in savings bonds alone, individuals have 50 billions. Yes, the federal debt is the biggest liquid asset in America.

Now let me add hastily that war-inspired debts cannot be prevented. World War II cost $250,000,000 a day. And America did well in raising $100,000,000 a day through taxation and $150,000,000 through borrowing. Wars throw economic machinery out of kilter.

But in 1952 when the budget is not balanced in the face of confiscatory taxation and borrowing must be resorted to—with millions of thrifty citizens implicated in this borrowing—it is a good time to ask: what kind of a stake have you got in economic America?

I shall make no odious comparisons between our well-managed corporations that are paying huge tax bills, granting higher and higher wages, absorbing greater and greater costs and satisfying stockholders on the one hand, and those on the other hand who, despite tax receipts of 100 to 150 per cent of total national income two decades ago, still can't balance the budget.

Maybe your stake in America is like Joe Judnick's. Joe is a very hard worker. When he came to America he could understand for the first time what diligence, long hours, thrift and saving could do for him. So he pitched in and daily cultivated his energies.

The other day when I talked with him he had a safe deposit box crowded with savings bonds. And that is all right. Buying them has inculcated in him a splendid spirit of thrift. Now they have started to mature and he wonders, with his practical knowledge of what makes America tick, whether his stake in the country should not include something besides debts.

It should. And the answer to his problem is close at hand. In fact, it concerns his family and its daily living.

His suburban home is filled with gadgets electrically driven. His radio, refrigerator, lights, power lathe in the workshop, all reflect the efficiencies of leading corporations that make America's standard of living so outstanding.

In his garage are two cars—his own and the family car. They happen to have been built by the same manufacturer.

And every year his oil and gas bills run into large money. In fact, down the road from his home is a handy filling station where he runs a monthly charge account. This station is owned by one of the country's leading oil companies.

His daily milk and cream and eggs and butter and cheese bills are $3.00 to $4.00. Milk alone costs $1.20 a day.

So Joe Judnick, a thrifty saver for twenty years during which he has accumulated a huge safe deposit of deficit financing bonds of a gigantic enterprise that is almost in the red, decides in 1952 to take out a new stake in economic America. And to begin with, he is going to buy 100 shares each of an electrical equipment company, of a leading automobile firm, of an oil corporation and of a dairy enterprise. And for the first time in his life, he has a growing stake in a great economic country.

Bold Ideas
make Hudson today's best car!

Idea! Give Hudson owners the most road-able cars ever built by putting Hudson's base frame outside the passenger compartment and recessing the floor down within the frame. Thus, Hudson "step-down" design permits lowering the entire car to give America's lowest center of gravity.

RESULT: A ride that's out of this world!

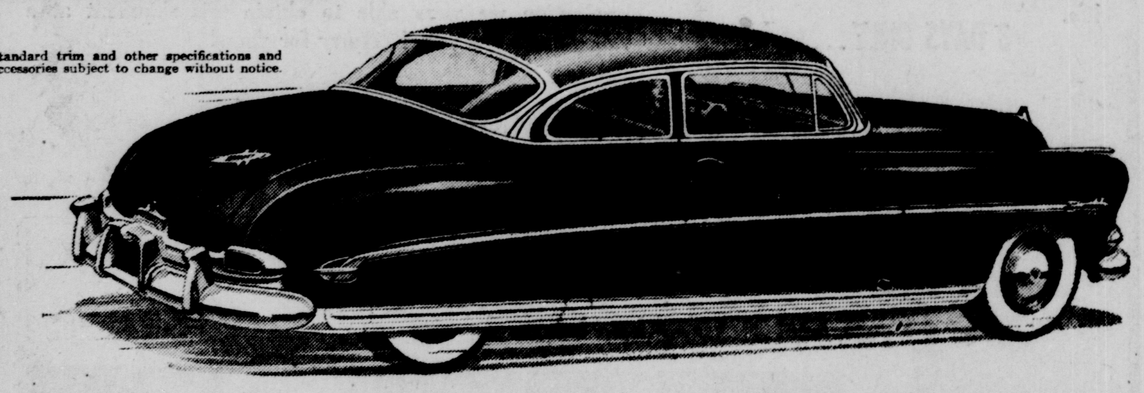
Idea! Bring Hudson owners the industry's most alert power. Step up compression with advanced, simplified design. Install oversize bearings, reinforced crankcase. Increase lubricating and cooling areas. Electronically balance engines after assembly.

RESULT: Performance Unlimited and stock-car championship for the Hudson Hornet!

Idea! Build Hudsons so they outlast any other car. Make Hudson's body and frame all in one steel Monobilt unit with 5,306 permanent welds. Use high-alloy metals throughout, such as chrome-alloy cylinder blocks—the toughest in the industry—for longest engine life.

RESULT: Hudsons stay young longest.

Standard trim and other specifications and accessories subject to change without notice.



Idea! Provide safety beyond anything known in motor cars. Take Hudson's lowest center of gravity—a big safety factor—add box-section steel girders completely surrounding the passenger compartment, even outside the rear wheels. Add to this the industry's only hydraulic brakes with a reserve mechanical system on the same pedal.

RESULT: America's safest car!

Idea! Develop the newest in hardtop styling for sedans as well as coupes. Increase glass area to provide the open look of a hardtop. (No loss of rigidity, thanks to Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame*). Design gleaming bright-work and further enhance Hudson's brand-new styling.

*Trade-mark and patents pending

RESULT: Hudson-Aire Hardtop Styling at standard sedan and coupe prices.

Bold Ideas

make Hudson today's best car!

Idea! Give Hudson owners the most road-able cars ever built by putting Hudson's base frame outside the passenger compartment and recessing the floor down within the frame. Thus, Hudson "step-down" design permits lowering the entire car to give America's lowest center of gravity.

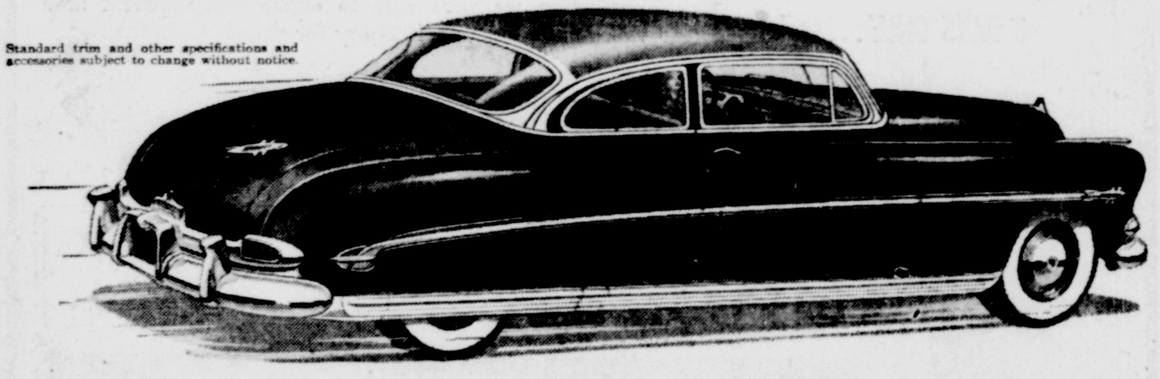
RESULT: A ride that's out of this world!

Idea! Bring Hudson owners the industry's most alert power. Step up compression with advanced, simplified design. Install oversize bearings, reinforced crankcase. Increase lubricating and cooling areas. Electronically balance engines after assembly.

RESULT: Performance Unlimited and stock-car championship for the Hudson Hornet!

Idea! Build Hudsons so they outlast any other car. Make Hudson's body and frame all in one steel Monobilt unit with 5,306 permanent welds. Use high-alloy metals throughout, such as chrome-alloy cylinder blocks—the toughest in the industry—for longest engine life.

RESULT: Hudsons stay young longest.



Standard trim and other specifications and accessories subject to change without notice.

Idea! Provide safety beyond anything known in motor cars. Take Hudson's lowest center of gravity—a big safety factor—add box-section steel girders completely surrounding the passenger compartment, even outside the rear wheels. Add to this the industry's only hydraulic brakes with a reserve mechanical system on the same pedal.

RESULT: America's safest car!

Idea! Develop the newest in hardtop styling for sedans as well as coupes. Increase glass area to provide the open look of a hardtop. (No loss of rigidity, thanks to Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame*). Design gleaming bright-work and further enhance Hudson's brand-new styling.

*Trade-mark and patents pending

RESULT: Hudson-Aire Hardtop Styling at standard sedan and coupe prices.

Fabulous HUDSON HORNET for '52

Star of Hudson's great line for '52, including luxurious Commodore Eight and Six, spectacular Hudson Wasp, thrifty Pacemaker. All available with Overdrive or Hydra-Matic Drive and Solex (tinted, anti-glare) Safety Glass; optional at extra cost.

The big idea for you COME, TRY HUDSON FOR YOURSELF!

15 Are Summoned To Open Inquest

Williamstown, Mass., March 26 (AP)—Fifteen witnesses have been summoned to appear today at an open inquest in the death of Millard Romaine, Jr., 19-year-old Williams College student whose body was found in a fraternity house last Feb. 18.

Special Justice Henry W. Kaliss of the Williamstown District Court is president.

Romaine's body was found in a little-used room in a fraternity house by John McMath of Larchmont, N. Y., on a Monday following a winter carnival on the campus. Romaine was a member of the fraternity but did not live in the house.

In the room were a .22 calibre rifle partially hidden under a rug six feet from the body, and a bloodstained handkerchief.

Among those summoned as witnesses were Miss Patricia Sweeney, Vassar College student from St. Paul, Minn., who was Romaine's date during the carnival weekend.

Others are McMath; John A. Hall, a Williams student who owned the rifle, and state technical and legal experts.

Romaine's father is vice president of a Cincinnati tool company.

Settle Patent Suit

New York, March 26 (Special)—Settlement of a patent infringement suit brought by the Channel Master Corporation, Napanoch Road, Ellenville, against two New York firms, was reported in Federal Court here Tuesday. The terms of the agreement were not disclosed. The Ellenville firm charged the Ver-Best Television Products, Inc., and Hy-Lite Antennae, Inc., both of Manhattan, with violating its rights to a patent for the manufacture of a television receiving antenna.

They'll Wear Blues

New York, March 26 (AP)—Delegates to the July political conventions may wear the blues—as well as sing them. So predicts Sig Mickelson, director of news and public affairs for the Columbia Broadcasting System's television network. He says, indeed, that they may become "the greatest blue-shirt convention of all time." That's because blue shows up well on television, and Mickelson expects the conclaves to have a potential video audience of 60 million persons. CBS and other TV networks have scheduled convention telecasts.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

After March 21, column, (Tra! La!! first day of Spring and wasn't it a beautiful day) anything can happen. In that issue, my column appeared in which Mrs. Helen W. Smith of 409 E. Main street, of La Harpe, Ill., wants to know about her family, "Justus or Justice Warner, born in Canaan, N. Y., in 1770." On page 9 of that same issue appears the interesting history of the Mosher family telling about, the same "Justus Warner, so it seems." So Justus who was born some 180 years ago, makes two columns in one day. Such is the power of the printed word. I received more calls on it as reader and reader said to me, "If you want to see something turn to page 9, all the answers to your column are there." I will immediately send the entire issue to Mrs. Smith of Illinois and let her have a good time.

Perhaps too, the Mosher family will be in contact with her. Mrs. Mosher of Woodstock recalls that "When Kingston was burned, some of my people, the Hamiltons, were there." And Mrs. Smith of Illinois says her great-grandfather was Samuel Hamilton Warner. Mrs. Oscar Mosher is the former Elizabeth C. Hamilton. Her father ran a general store and post office at Connelly. And most important to Mrs. Smith of Illinois will be the famous old Warner family Bible which tells "all." I am certainly as thrilled about these two write-ups as I am sure Mrs. Smith will be when she receives The Freeman. Several readers of this column have renewed old friendships after separations of some half a century, so I hope the Moshers of Woodstock and Smiths of Illinois will be added to the list.

I have just received "Landmarks of New Canaan" with James A. O'Boyle compliments. What a splendid book to be published by such a small group of people. I have to take some time off before I write about it. It is beautifully illustrated.

With the Ulster County Gazette of 1800 now taking the spotlight again, a large number of folks have been phoning me to find out about it and to tell me that they are sure they have an "original" because it was in the family so long, or was handed down, or even "willed" to them. Remember the Gazette that Al Kurdt of the Chamber of Commerce is looking for, to be presented to the Senate House Museum, must be over 150 years old. In those days paper was made from rags as a rule and it was, and would be still soft and pliable. I have had in my hands newspapers of such vintage, and you wouldn't believe it, how it holds up. It can be turned over on the same creases without breaking. It is like an old yellowed handkerchief of fine grade. I am told, if there is a comma, or period or any other mark after "County" in the masthead or heading of the front page of the paper the readers might own, it is then only a reproduction. The original, which Samuel Freer printed had no mark after the word "County." I do not feel I can pass judgment on an original, it will take more of an expert than myself but I think by the above information taken from a book written by "R.W.G. Vail" called "The Ulster County Gazette" and published by the N. Y. Public Library in 1951, (sells for about $1.50 for the book) enough information is gathered to tell if copy owned is or is not an original.

Merritt, Haver Named by Dewey

Edward L. Merritt and N. Le-Van Haver, both of this city, have been named by Governor Thomas E. Dewey as trustees of the Senate House Association.

Merritt's selection is a reappointment, while that of Haver is an appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of Mrs. Frank Seamon, of Napanoch. Both will serve five years.

The Senate House Association is entrusted with the administration of the Senate House and the Senate House Museum in cooperation with the New York State Department of Education.

Jewelry Placed on Auction

New York, March 26 (AP)—Jewelry valued at $300,000 that once belonged to Mrs. Sylvia Green Wilks has been freed from a bank vault to be placed on the auction block April 23 and 24. Most, if not all, of the sparkling jewelry has been in a bank vault since 1936, when Mrs. Wilks got the valuables as a bequest from her brother. Their mother was Hetty Green, famous financier. It is doubted if Mrs. Wilks had ever worn many of the jewels before she died in February 1951. The collection is to be placed on exhibition on April 17 prior to the sale. Until then, the gems will be kept in a national city bank strong room.

The safety play is usually a way of losing a trick that nobody else would dream of giving away. The opponents usually look at you pityingly and explain how any player in his right mind would have made one trick more than you did.

It's much more satisfactory when the safety plays turns out to be necessary. Then the opponents glare at you and don't bother to give you lessons in the play of the cards. Today's hand, played recently by Generous George, had the opponents muttering unkind words for several minutes.

West opened the king of diamonds, and George won with the ace. While you think of George's method of playing the hand, take a look at his way of bidding it also.

Some players would have waxed scientific with the South hand, beginning with some such cue-bid as two diamonds or two spades. This would not improve South's final contract, but it would give the opponents a chance to find their beautiful sacrifices at seven clubs (which is down only two tricks).

George preferred to make all his bids in one lump, thus making it difficult for the enemy to get together on a paying sacrifice.

After winning the first trick with the ace of diamonds, Generous George cashed the ace of spades and led a low spade. As he led the low spade. George cleared his throat to make his customary little speech, but West glared at him so fiercely that George decided to keep quiet.

There was nothing the defenders could do to defeat the contract. Nothing could stop George from ruffing his other low spade with dummy's nine of trumps, after which he could return to his own hand to draw the rest of the trumps and cash the king of spades.

George would have lost the contract, of course, if he had tried to clear both of the top spades. West would ruff the king of spades and return a trump. South would then have two losing spades and only one trump in dummy, so he would have to lose a second trick.

Study Is Extended

Albany, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Legislation extending the life of the state's Mahoney Commission to study coordination of state activities was signed today by Governor Dewey. The "Little Hoover" group is headed by Senator Walter J. Mahoney, Buffalo Republican. It was extended until March 31, 1953. The agency plans to continue studying the State Civil Service Department during the next year. It seeks methods of improving the efficiency of state agencies.

PISTON RING MADE RADIOACTIVE in Atomic Pile at Oak Ridge, is carefully installed in test car engine by specially trained oil scientists. Radioactivity is checked with a delicate Geiger counter at all times. Car is then driven in proving ground road tests under weather conditions ranging from summer's heat to sub-zero cold. Engine wear is measured with unheard-of accuracy by this atomic test. Test results can now be obtained in only 50 miles of driving—older methods took as much as 10,000 miles.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

After March 21, column, (Tra! La!! first day of Spring and wasn't it a beautiful day) anything can happen. In that issue, my column appeared in which Mrs. Helen W. Smith of 409 E. Main street, of La Harpe, Ill., wants to know about her family, "Justus or Justice Warner, born in Canaan, N. Y., in 1770." On page 9 of that same issue appears the interesting history of the Mosher family telling about, the same "Justus Warner, so it seems." So Justus who was born some 180 years ago, makes two columns in one day. Such is the power of the printed word. I received more calls on it as reader and reader said to me, "If you want to see something turn to page 9, all the answers to your column are there." I will immediately send the entire issue to Mrs. Smith of Illinois and let her have a good time.

Perhaps too, the Mosher family will be in contact with her. Mrs. Mosher of Woodstock recalls that "When Kingston was burned, some of my people, the Hamiltons, were there." And Mrs. Smith of Illinois says her great-grandfather was Samuel Hamilton Warner. Mrs. Oscar Mosher is the former Elizabeth C. Hamilton. Her father ran a general store and post office at Connelly. And most important to Mrs. Smith of Illinois will be the famous old Warner family Bible which tells "all." I am certainly as thrilled about these two write-ups as I am sure Mrs. Smith will be when she receives The Freeman. Several readers of this column have renewed old friendships after separations of some half a century, so I hope the Moshers of Woodstock and Smiths of Illinois will be added to the list.

I have just received "Landmarks of New Canaan" with James A. O'Boyle compliments. What a splendid book to be published by such a small group of people. I have to take some time off before I write about it. It is beautifully illustrated.

With the Ulster County Gazette of 1800 now taking the spotlight again, a large number of folks have been phoning me to find out about it and to tell me that they are sure they have an "original" because it was in the family so long, or was handed down, or even "willed" to them. Remember the Gazette that Al Kurdt of the Chamber of Commerce is looking for, to be presented to the Senate House Museum, must be over 150 years old. In those days paper was made from rags as a rule and it was, and would be still soft and pliable. I have had in my hands newspapers of such vintage, and you wouldn't believe it, how it holds up. It can be turned over on the same creases without breaking. It is like an old yellowed handkerchief of fine grade. I am told, if there is a comma, or period or any other mark after "County" in the masthead or heading of the front page of the paper the readers might own, it is then only a reproduction. The original, which Samuel Freer printed had no mark after the word "County." I do not feel I can pass judgment on an original, it will take more of an expert than myself but I think by the above information taken from a book written by "R.W.G. Vail" called "The Ulster County Gazette" and published by the N. Y. Public Library in 1951, (sells for about $1.50 for the book) enough information is gathered to tell if copy owned is or is not an original.

Merritt, Haver Named by Dewey

Edward L. Merritt and N. LeVan Haver, both of this city, have been named by Governor Thomas E. Dewey as trustees of the Senate House Association.

Merritt's selection is a reappointment, while that of Haver is an appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of Mrs. Frank Seamon, of Napanoch. Both will serve five years.

The Senate House Association is entrusted with the administration of the Senate House and the Senate House Museum in cooperation with the New York State Department of Education.

Jewelry Placed on Auction

New York, March 26 (AP)—Jewelry valued at $300,000 that once belonged to Mrs. Sylvia Green Wilks has been freed from a bank vault to be placed on the auction block April 23 and 24. Most, if not all, of the sparkling jewelry has been in a bank vault since 1936, when Mrs. Wilks got the valuables as a bequest from her brother. Their mother was Hetty Green, famous financier. It is doubted if Mrs. Wilks had ever worn many of the jewels before she died in February 1951. The collection is to be placed on exhibition on April 17 prior to the sale. Until then, the gems will be kept in a national city bank strong room.

The safety play is usually a way of losing a trick that nobody else would dream of giving away. The opponents usually look at you pityingly and explain how any player in his right mind would have made one trick more than you did.

It's much more satisfactory when the safety plays turns out to be necessary. Then the opponents glare at you and don't bother to give you lessons in the play of the cards. Today's hand, played recently by Generous George, had the opponents muttering unkind words for several minutes.

West opened the king of diamonds, and George won with the ace. While you think of George's method of playing the hand, take a look at his way of bidding it also.

Some players would have waxed scientific with the South hand, beginning with some such cue-bid as two diamonds or two spades. This would not improve South's final contract, but it would give the opponents a chance to find their beautiful sacrifices at seven clubs (which is down only two tricks).

George preferred to make all his bids in one lump, thus making it difficult for the enemy to get together on a paying sacrifice.

After winning the first trick with the ace of diamonds, Generous George cashed the ace of spades and led a low spade. As he led the low spade. George cleared his throat to make his customary little speech, but West glared at him so fiercely that George decided to keep quiet.

There was nothing the defenders could do to defeat the contract. Nothing could stop George from ruffing his other low spade with dummy's nine of trumps, after which he could return to his own hand to draw the rest of the trumps and cash the king of spades.

George would have lost the contract, of course, if he had tried to clear both of the top spades. West would ruff the king of spades and return a trump. South would then have two losing spades and only one trump in dummy, so he would have to lose a second trick.

C-H Names New Board Directors

The stockholders of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation held their annual meeting Tuesday at the company's general office in Poughkeepsie, to elect the board of directors for the year 1952 and to pass on a proposal to increase the authorized serial preferred stock from 150,000 shares to 225,000 shares, $100 par value.

The proposal to increase the number of preferred shares was approved by the stockholders.

The directors who were elected unanimously to serve until the next annual meeting were Ernest R. Acker, president and general manager of Central Hudson; Peter Cantline, Newburgh attorney; Harris E. Dexter, Central Hudson vice president in charge of commercial relations; Robert B. MacGuinness, Central Hudson vice president in charge of operations; Edward E. Perkins, Poughkeepsie attorney; Robert R. Rodie, president of Rodie Coal Company, Inc., Kingston Coal Company, Inc., and North River Coal Company, all of Kingston; William W. Smith, 2nd, president of Smith Brothers, Inc., Poughkeepsie; Alva S. Staples, brick manufacturer of Kingston; and John Wilkie, Central Hudson vice president and treasurer.

At the meeting, Acker reviewed the progress of the company during the past year and explained the plans the company has in progress to meet the continued growth of the company's business.

In the election of the directors, 1,505,972 shares or over 85 per cent of the common stock was represented either by attendance of the owners or by their signed proxies.

Sentence Commuted

Baltimore, March 26 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin today saved a 27-year-old Negro from the gallows for the slaying of a young Glen Burnie, Md., couple in 1948. The second death sentence imposed on Thomas A. Edwards, Baltimore sugar refinery worker, was commuted to life imprisonment. The governor said: "I would not want to have on my conscience the putting to death of any man whose guilt is in doubt. Some disinterested persons who have studied the case closely are haunted by persistent doubts."

About the Folks

Ex-Nazi Breeding Horse

Butte, Mont. (AP)—On a ranch near this mining city a displaced horse, bred by the Nazis from stolen stock, is lending his aristocratic blood lines to the improvement of American horses. "Humphrey," the horse's new name, weighs 1,140 pounds. He was foaled in Germany by a Hungarian mare in 1943. His parents were stolen by the Nazis when Hungary—long the world capital for cavalry horses—was overrun. "Humphrey" was captured by Americans in 1945 and classed as "spoils of war." The army remount service imported 143 of these displaced horses and farmed them out for breeding purposes. His new owner says "Humphrey" is one of the brainiest horses he's ever sene. He opens gates with his muscular lips and turns electric lights on and off.

Simmons to Return

Goeppingen, Germany, March 26 (AP)—Sgt. Curt Simmons, southpaw pitching star of the Philadelphia Phils' 1950 pennant victory, will receive his army discharge early next month. The husky youngster from Egypt, Pa., is scheduled to leave for a port of embarkation the first week in April and then take a ship back to the U. S. The major league pennant races start April 15.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 26 (AP)—A recovery movement today pulled the stock market out of a moderate slump and left it holding steady.

Prices spread out over a fractional range with very few straying outside the average limits.

Trading was at the same slow pace that has marked the two previous markets this week.

The market was down at the start with the railroads displaying the greatest sag. Trading was quiet.

By the time the second hour started there was evidence here and there of a price pickup. Every section of the market showed improvement, but the railroads still lagged behind the rest.

The steel deadlock over wages and prices resolved itself in Wall street into a waiting game. Except for individual special situations, there was little inclination to venture. The little dip this morning followed by a quick recovery was cited by some as indicating the delicate balance of the market.

Some bulls have felt that excessive caution could lead to a withdrawal of support to such an extent that the market could become vulnerable to a reaction.

Going lower today were Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line, Texas Co., Johns-Manville, Consolidated Natural Gas, du Pont, Armour, and Distillers Corp.-Seagrams.

Higher were New York Central, Northern Pacific, Kennecott Copper, American Cyanamid, Union Carbide, Westinghouse Electric, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, Philco, and Douglas Aircraft.

The market yesterday was generally lower with the railroads among the hardest hit by a final hour selling spurt.

Stocks on the curb exchange moved narrowly and mostly lower. Retreating were American Maracaibo, Calgary & Edmonton, Canada Southern Oils, Consolidated Mining & Smelting, Imperial Oil, International Petroleum, and Molybdenum.

Corporate bonds were quietly steady. U. S. governments also were steady in the over the counter market.

Testifies at Hearing

Sen. John J. Williams (R.-Del.) sits in witness chair at a Senate Agriculture committee hearing in Washington after telling Senators that Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan "is playing president while Mr. Truman is in Florida." He said Brannan is "practicing up writing letters." Williams referred to an 11-page letter in which Brannan said Williams knowingly misled Congress and the public about profits in the lease of government grain-storing buildings at Camp Crowder, Mo. Select Rosendale Talent Finalists

More than 400 people packed Sportsman's Park in Rosendale last night for the semi-finals in the Ted Mack amateur talent quest.

The five winners, selected to appear in the finals at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium April 2, were Robert C. Fisher, 13, of Rosendale, specialty tap dancer; Helmut Saluski, 14, Tillson, accordionist; Mary M. Redmund, 15, Stone Ridge, Nancy Jackson, Kingston, and Jack Brown, Kingston, all singers.

Twenty-eight contestants competed in the "quest," sponsored by the Rosendale Publicity Association. The sixth and last of the semi-finals will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow at the Town Hall in Woodstock.

The finals will be auditioned by representatives of the Ted Mack staff and those who qualify will be invited to appear on the Ted Mack radio or television shows.

Judges for the contest last night were the Rev. Daniel Haynes, who played the part of the Lord in 2,198 performances of Green Pastures on Broadway; Mrs. Clementine Nessel of Kingston, professional musician and teacher, and Jack Carter, popular local entertainer.

Mansion Is Destroyed

Tarrytown, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Fire today destroyed the 30-room Borg mansion, a landmark once owned by the late Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt, one of victims of the Titanic disaster. Firemen from Tarrytown and Irvington fought the blaze for about five hours. An unofficial value of $100,000 was placed on the structure, built in 1890.

CAMERA TELLS TALL TALE—Apparently, either the Washington Monument now comes in the convenient portable size, or actor Tony Curtis has been doing some tall growing. Actually, the photographer saw the possibility of an unusual camera angle, and produced this illusion.

Hague Says He Is Still in Politics

Jersey City, N. J., March 26 (AP) — Frank Hague, onetime state Democratic leader who announced three years ago he was quitting politics, served notice today he isn't in political retirement after all.

Hague, who dominated the party in the state for nearly 30 years, issued a statement that he intends to fulfill his duties as a member of the Democratic National Committee and support the renomination of President Truman.

The 76-year-old former Democratic boss said he was leaving politics after the November, 1949, defeat of his candidate for governor, Elmer H. Wene.

At the time, Hague also said he was resigning as a vice chairman of the national committee. However, he never relinquished this post.

Spark in Jacket Cited for Damage To Car's Interior

A spark from a welding torch which might have lodged in the jacket of Harry Ilgner, of 117 Fair street, local welder, was cited today as the probable cause of a fire that badly damaged the interior of his car.

Ilgner told Deputy Fire Chief James Brett and Detective Clarence Brophy this morning that he had arrived home from work at 1 a. m., locked the car, and went to bed. When he went to the car this morning, he said, he saw its interior badly burned.

The jacket which might have held the damaging spark had been tossed in the car. It, objects near it, and a large area of the upholstery were charred. The blaze had apparently burned itself out because of insufficient oxygen. Ilgner said he had bought the 1951 model coupe only recently.

Complaint Is Made On 'Pressure' Sales

Reported "high pressure" methods in attempts to sell magazines in the city drew official attention yesterday.

A complaint to the mayor's office was referred to the police at 4:50 p. m., and Officers Frank Sammons and Ernest Bartroff were sent out to pick up a young man who said he lived on Catskill avenue and was a student at the local high school. The local address and school were given, it was charged, for sales approach.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk asked that the salesman and the crew manager be brought before him and they were warned that if there were further complaints they would be ordered out of the city.

C-H Names New Board Directors

The stockholders of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation held their annual meeting Tuesday at the company's general office in Poughkeepsie, to elect the board of directors for the year 1952 and to pass on a proposal to increase the authorized serial preferred stock from 150,000 shares to 225,000 shares, $100 par value.

The proposal to increase the number of preferred shares was approved by the stockholders.

The directors who were elected unanimously to serve until the next annual meeting were Ernest R. Acker, president and general manager of Central Hudson; Peter Cantline, Newburgh attorney; Harris E. Dexter, Central Hudson vice president in charge of commercial relations; Robert B. MacGuinness, Central Hudson vice president in charge of operations; Edward E. Perkins, Poughkeepsie attorney; Robert R. Rodie, president of Rodie Coal Company, Inc., Kingston Coal Company, Inc., and North River Coal Company, all of Kingston; William W. Smith, 2nd, president of Smith Brothers, Inc., Poughkeepsie; Alva S. Staples, brick manufacturer of Kingston; and John Wilkie, Central Hudson vice president and treasurer.

At the meeting, Acker reviewed the progress of the company during the past year and explained the plans the company has in progress to meet the continued growth of the company's business.

In the election of the directors, 1,505,972 shares or over 85 per cent of the common stock was represented either by attendance of the owners or by their signed proxies.

Gets Warm Reception

Sentence Commuted

Baltimore, March 26 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin today saved a 27-year-old Negro from the gallows for the slaying of a young Glen Burnie, Md., couple in 1948. The second death sentence imposed on Thomas A. Edwards, Baltimore sugar refinery worker, was commuted to life imprisonment. The governor said: "I would not want to have on my conscience the putting to death of any man whose guilt is in doubt. Some disinterested persons who have studied the case closely are haunted by persistent doubts."

About the Folks

Edward Tranker, 329 Albany avenue, has returned to his home from the Kingston Hospital where he has been a patient for three weeks.

Ex-Nazi Breeding Horse

Butte, Mont. (AP)—On a ranch near this mining city a displaced horse, bred by the Nazis from stolen stock, is lending his aristocratic blood lines to the improvement of American horses. "Humphrey," the horse's new name, weighs 1,140 pounds. He was foaled in Germany by a Hungarian mare in 1943. His parents were stolen by the Nazis when Hungary—long the world capital for cavalry horses—was overrun. "Humphrey" was captured by Americans in 1945 and classed as "spoils of war." The army remount service imported 143 of these displaced horses and farmed them out for breeding purposes. His new owner says "Humphrey" is one of the brainiest horses he's ever sene. He opens gates with his muscular lips and turns electric lights on and off.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 26 (AP)—A recovery movement today pulled the stock market out of a moderate slump and left it holding steady.

Prices spread out over a fractional range with very few straying outside the average limits.

Trading was at the same slow pace that has marked the two previous markets this week.

The market was down at the start with the railroads displaying the greatest sag. Trading was quiet.

By the time the second hour started there was evidence here and there of a price pickup. Every section of the market showed improvement, but the railroads still lagged behind the rest.

The steel deadlock over wages and prices resolved itself in Wall street into a waiting game. Except for individual special situations, there was little inclination to venture. The little dip this morning followed by a quick recovery was cited by some as indicating the delicate balance of the market.

Some bulls have felt that excessive caution could lead to a withdrawal of support to such an extent that the market could become vulnerable to a reaction.

Going lower today were Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line, Texas Co., Johns-Manville, Consolidated Natural Gas, du Pont, Armour, and Distillers Corp.-Seagrams.

Higher were New York Central, Northern Pacific, Kennecott Copper, American Cyanamid, Union Carbide, Westinghouse Electric, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, Philco, and Douglas Aircraft.

The market yesterday was generally lower with the railroads among the hardest hit by a final hour selling spurt.

Stocks on the curb exchange moved narrowly and mostly lower. Retreating were American Maracaibo, Calgary & Edmonton, Canada Southern Oils, Consolidated Mining & Smelting, Imperial Oil, International Petroleum, and Molybdenum.

Corporate bonds were quietly steady. U. S. governments also were steady in the over the counter market.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 60 Beaver street, New York city: branch office, 41 John street, R. B. Osterhoudt, manager.

Complaint Is Made On 'Pressure' Sales

Reported "high pressure" methods in attempts to sell magazines in the city drew official attention yesterday.

A complaint to the mayor's office was referred to the police at 4:50 p. m., and Officers Frank Sammons and Ernest Bartroff were sent out to pick up a young man who said he lived on Catskill avenue and was a student at the local high school. The local address and school were given, it was charged, for sales approach.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk asked that the salesman and the crew manager be brought before him and they were warned that if there were further complaints they would be ordered out of the city.

HCL TAKES BIGGEST DIP—There's good news for Mama in the right side of the Newschart above. It's hardly noticeable in the overall picture, but that little down-hook at the ends of the lines represents the sharpest drop in the cost of living in the past three years, according to the latest report of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The Newschart shows the ups and downs of basic prices since the start of the Korean war in 1950. Up until the OPS price freeze in late January, 1951, spot (raw materials) prices skyrocketed, with wholesale prices' tagging right along and the increases reflected in the steady rise of consumer (cost-of-living) prices. New BLS report says old HCL, for the month ended Feb. 15, showed the first dip since last July.

Elizabeth Agrees To Use of Field

Elizabeth, N. J., March 26 (AP)—The Elizabeth City Council has agreed to reopening of Newark Airport on a limited basis for military use.

However, the council announced last night, it would fight any efforts to resume commercial flights at the now shuttered airport.

The Port of New York Authority announced yesterday it agreed to reopen the airport for air force use in shipping planes to Europe. The air force has said their planes would avoid flying over residential areas, and would operate only in daylight and in good flying weather.

"Because we rely on this promise," Mayor James T. Kirk and the councilmen said in a statement, Elizabeth "withholds any objection to military use."

Similar approval was voiced by the surrounding communities of Union, Cranford, Roselle Park and Hillside.

Newark's Mayor Ralph Villani previously has announced he has no objection to a partial reopening of the airport for military use.

The airport was padlocked after three recent plane crashes in this city within 58 days. A total of 119 lives were lost, including seven residents.

The port authority said it was ready to partially reopen the airport as soon as the air force sets a date.

The lentil probably was one of the first plants cultivated by man, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

MY COUSIN RACHEL
By Daphne Du Maurier

This is a thriller, even more baffling than the author's "Rebecca." The author first paints a picture of the almost dog-like devotion of young Philip Ashley for his bachelor cousin Ambrose Ashley, one of the landed gentry of the Cornish coast, who adopted Philip when he was orphaned at eighteen months and made him his constant companion both in his large, dusty manor house and when going about his various out door pursuits. Philip contentedly followed him about while he was gardening, looking after his tenant farmers; fishing; hunting; swimming and other entirely masculine activities. Ambrose was a big, handome, shy man and Philip grew up to look and act exactly like him. Neither knew nor cared about women except for Philip's godfather's daughter, Louise, who was his childhood play mate and friend. There were no female servants in the house, just a few male servitors and the dogs. On Sundays Ambrose dutifully entertained the Vicar, his horse-faced wife and three unlovely daughters at dinner. Then the cousins resumed the life they liked. They were separated only by Ambrose's parish and county obligations and by Philip's school terms at Oxford until, under doctor's orders, Ambrose at age 43 was obliged to spend his winters in warmer climate.

The first two years were not so bad. Ambrose always returned in the spring, laden with many new plants for the garden and then happy times together were repeated. But the third winter Ambrose went to Italy and there met his English-Italian cousin, Rachel, widow of Count Sangaletti of inglorious memory. Drawn to her at first by their relationship and their mutual love of gardening, he soon became completely captivated. That spring he did not return in early April as usual. Instead came the announcement of his marriage to Rachel at Eastertime. Philip was completely crushed and how he hated Rachel. Ambrose did not return that spring, nor the next. Sometime during his winter in Florence, Philip sensed from his letters that something was wrong. He spoke of blinding headaches, his distrust of the doctors chosen by Rachel. By the following summer his letters grew desperate. He spoke of Rachel's extravagance, her constant conferences with her shifty Italian confidant, Rinaldi, who seemed to have a strange power over her. Finally an urgent appeal reached him; but travel by water and stagecoach was slow in those days and when he found Villa Sangaletti closed and empty, his cousin dead and buried in a lonely Italian cemetery and Rachel gone with all his possessions, he called upon Rinaldi, who gave him small comfort and professed to know nothing of Rachel's whereabouts.

Nothing to do but return to England, vowing vengeance upon Rachel. His godfather then showed him Ambrose's will in which he left everything—houses, land, family jewels, etc., to him when he should attain his 25th birthday, which would be the following April. In September his godfather showed him a letter just received from Rachel in which she said she was in Plymouth and wished to come to Cornwall only to deliver Ambrose's effects to Philip. Philip decided against his godfather's advice to ask Rachel for her brief stay to the Manor. He purposely stayed away from home until some hours after the time set for her arrival. But when he finally met her at dinner a delicate, appealing little figure in deep mourning, and looked into her sad eyes, he reversed all his preconceived ideas about her. With dove-like humility concealing her grasping, mercenary nature she soon had Philip as well as his servants and most of his friends completely under her speel. Philip fell deeper and deeper in love with her, made his godfather set up for her a generous annuity from which she could draw at the bank. She promptly overdrew and sent large sums abroad. But by now Philip was blind to her extravagance, and wishing only to keep her at the Manor, ordered the overdraft paid and more funds placed at her disposal, which she accepted with a great show of reluctance.

Then one day, by chance Philip found an unposted letter from Ambrose in a pocket of a shooting jacket. In it Ambrose poured out his doubts about Rachel's love for anything but money, and explained why his will leaving his estate to her during her lifetime or until she remarried was unsigned, and told of his fears of being poisoned by Rachel or Rinald or both. Philip buried the letter and told Rachel that he knew there was an unsigned will and asked if she knew about it. Again with reluctance she brought forth a copy which strangely enough she kept conveniently at hand.

Philip made a copy of the will as though it were his own, signed it and then went on from one foolish act of generosity to another to prove to himself and to Rachel how much he trusted her. On his birthday when he officially received his inheritance, he presented her with all the family jewels and turned over the Manor house and his entire estate to her. Then, gullible fool that he had become, he was completely stunned by her refusal to consider marriage with him and announced her intention of returning to Italy at once.

Only then at long last Philip's suspicious of Rachel return. There are signs similar to those of which Ambrose wrote him. Louise adds her warning. Rinaldi comes and adds to his suspicions. Finally there comes a dramatic climax which ends forever all hope of an answer to the maddening, but fascinating riddle of Rachel.

Montgomery, Ala., March 26 (AP)—Squirting a fellow motorist with a fire extinguisher to resolve a traffic dispute was a costly affair for Barney Garrett, a 35-year-old truck driver. In City Court yesterday, druggist Lamar Howe testified Garrett challenged him to a fight after a near traffic collision. Howe said he turned down the challenge, whereupon the truck driver let go with the fire extinguisher, drenching him and three other occupants of his car, including two women. Judge John B. Scott convicted Garrett of disorderly conduct and sentenced him to six months at hard labor.

History of Education in City Since 1633 Presented to Twentieth Century Club

The history of education in the city from 1633 when the first Dutch schoolmaster came to this country until 1915 when the Kingston Academy was closed, was presented by Mrs. Adam H. Porter at a meeting of the Twentieth Century Club Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Warren A. Russell.

The early Dutch settlers were described as intelligent middle class people with a great appreciation of the importance of education. "In 1633, about 10 years after the first real colonists came to Manhattan, Dominie Evarard Bogardus brought to this country, Adam Roelandsen, the first Dutch schoolmaster. Every Patroon's patent required him to provide his tenants with a clergyman and a schoolmaster," said Mrs. Porter.

Provisions made in the charter of Wiltwyck, dated 1661, included powers to build school houses and it is believed the early burghers of the Esopus arranged for free instruction.

Events were briefly reviewed leading up to the founding of Kingston Academy which for many years made this city the central point for education in the state. The Academy was the alma mater of a large proportion of the distinguished men of New York during the latter part of the 18th, 19th and early 20th centuries. Included in this group were General John Armstrong who came here to educate his children. He lived in the old Senate House. Others named were John Vanderlyn, DeWitt Clinton, Governor George Clinton's daughter, Caty who later married Major General Pierre Van Cortland, Marius Schoonmaker, John and Philip Schuyler, Nicholas Roosevelt, and hosts of distinguished judges, clergymen and others.

"While the Academy flourished prior to the Revolution, its most noted days were in the third of the century succeeding that struggle," said Mrs. Porter. "At that time there were but few institutions of the first class, and those who founded Kingston Academy, had put it into a rank by itself and that rank was of the highest."

Festive Examinations

The speaker told of the anticipation of young and old at the time of the semi-annual examinations when the cordial hospitality of the Dutch was enjoyed by those who flocked in large numbers to the city for the reception and entertainment which was a part of the event.

From 1744 to 1809, Kingston Academy was exclusively a school for boys but from 1809, girls were permitted to enjoy some of its privileges and from 1864 onward, equal privileges were extended to both sexes. That same year, it ceased being a private school and was transferred to the Kingston Board of Education, thus becoming a part of the public free school system.

On June 23, 1915, the Academy was closed, graduating that year the last class from the oldest academy in New York state, one that had existed for 141 years.

Before concluding her talk, Mrs. Porter commented briefly upon the re-enactment of the granting of the first deed in this area to Thomas Chambers. This will take place on the historic Academy Green, June 5, as one of the highlights of the 300th anniversary celebration.

Madeira Islands

As a contrast, Mrs. Elmer Van Tassel transported the members to the Madeira Islands by means of a delightful narrative descriptive of the picturesque life of the island inhabitants and its numerous tourists. Madeira, a Portuguese possession, is famous for its wine-making industry.

Incunabula is the Latin term used to designate books printed before 1500 A.D.

Popularity Compelled Second Showing at Weisberg's

Response to the Spring fashion show presented Tuesday night at the Weisberg store on Fair street was so overwhelming that a second showing was given. More than 250 persons attended whereas those in charge had anticipated no more than 150. Spring ensembles were the keynote for the show and included coats, suits, redingote ensembles, jacket dresses and accessories. Miss Gertrude Birmingham was in charge of the refreshments served following both showings. Mrs. Elizabeth Gage was wardrobe mistress and the commentators were Mrs. Benjamin Furman and Mrs. Daniel Weisberg, who was also the coordinator. Modeling the interesting fashions, left to right, are Miss Maureen Troy, Mrs. Raymond Garraghan, Mrs. George Rifenbary, Mrs. Harry Jacobs, Miss Jean Ballard and Miss Margaret Smith. (Freeman Photo).

Marbletown Legion Auxiliary to Aid Kingston Clinic

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion auxiliary of the Town of Marbletown Post No. 1512 was held recently in the Reformed Church in Stone Ridge

During the past month, 998 coupons listed as miscellaneous and 154 as regular were turned over to the chairman, Mrs. Frank Pavlick, and the auxiliary is especially pleased with the response of non-members as well as its members in this project.

Easter cards are now being collected and anyone having any they are willing to donate are asked to leave them at Mrs. Frank Altiri's or Mrs. Isaac Graham's. Mrs. Joseph Greenberg read an original article on the flag which was enjoyed.

April is set aside as cancer month and the auxiliary is collecting old linen and shirts for the Cancer clinic in Kingston. Any old skirt, colored or white, is usable. They are made into bed jackets for the patients. Mrs. Joe Hoffman reported that Miss Shirley Pratt had been chosen as the girl to attend Girls' State at Skidmore College. Miss Pratt is a junior of Kingston High School and a graduate of Oak Grove Elementary School. Letters containing the rules for the Poppy Poster Contest have been mailed to each teacher and it is hoped that many will compete. The auxiliary is holding a clam chowder sale at the home of Mrs. Altieri, Friday, April 4, beginning at 1 p. m. Orders may be placed with any auxiliary member. There will be homemade bread and other foods for sale. Preceding the meeting a covered dish birthday supper was held for the Legion, complete with candles, cake, and green decorations.

The county meeting of the auxiliary will be held at New Paltz, Thursday night, March 27.

Club Notices

Child Study Club 1

Child Study Club 1 will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Robert T. Shellenberger, 209 Albany avenue.

Wiltwyck Chapter, DAR

The Wiltwyck Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold a Spring luncheon at July's restaurant, Thursday, April 3, at 12 noon. For reservations, the members are requested to telephone Miss Virginia Curtiss, 3002-R, no later than Tuesday, April 1. Mrs. Fred Aebly, state press relations chairman, will be the guest speaker.

Clinton Chapter 445

The Clinton Chapter 445, Order of the Eastern Star, will receive the official visit of right worthy Olive G. Morse, district deputy grand matron, and right worthy Frank D. Schonher, district grand lecturer of the Greene-Ulster district, Friday at 8 p. m. in Masonic Temple. All Eastern Stars and Master Masons are invited to attend.

SPCA Membership Drive Opens April 1

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will begin an extensive campaign for members Tuesday, April 1. It is hoped that no less than 1,000 members will be signed up. Animal lovers throughout the county are volunteering their services to assist in securing junior, senior and other types of membership. Shown are Mrs. Jay Bush assisting Miss B. Eleanor Easton, chairman, in the preliminary work for the drive. (Freeman photo)

For Engineers, Teachers

Tokyo (AP) — Engineers and teachers among Japan's 21,885 university graduates this spring will find job hunting fairly simple, a Kyodo News Agency survey showed today. The demand for engineers is more than three times the number of graduates and there are three teaching jobs for every two teachers.

In Holland, jackets are supplied to cows to protect them from the cold and damp of wintry weather.

ENDING TELEPHONE CONVERSATION

A reader asks: "Will you please tell me who is supposed to end a telephone conversation—the person calling or the one called? A friend of mine insists that it is up to the one calling to end the conversation and that it is very rude for the one called to do so. I disagree with this. I detest lengthy telephone conversations and if I hadn't ended many conversations, despite the fact that I was the one called, I'd be talking yet."

Although the one who calls is more likely to end the conversation, there is no rule of courtesy that prevents the one called from doing so.

Must Be Changed

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just received some "informals" for a present and my name is misspelled on them. In other words, instead of the last two letters being "el" they are "ul." Could I make the correction in ink, or would it be better to use them as is?

Answer: I'm sorry to have to say that you cannot send out your own name spelled wrong. If you have to use them, then you must turn the "u" into an "e."

From an Adoptive Father

Dear Mrs. Post: My wife and I have just adopted a baby and I would like to know if it would be proper for me to hand out cigars to the men and candy to the women in my office, just as if the baby were our own?

Answer: Certainly — and my very best wishes to you.

Office Wedding Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: There are six departments in our company and I have friends in all of them. Should I send a wedding invitation to each department, or will one to all do?

Answer: It depends upon whether one invitation will be seen by everyone in all departments. If this is uncertain, then one to each department will be better.

History of Education in City Since 1633 Presented to Twentieth Century Club

The history of education in the city from 1633 when the first Dutch schoolmaster came to this country until 1915 when the Kingston Academy was closed, was presented by Mrs. Adam H. Porter at a meeting of the Twentieth Century Club Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Warren A. Russell.

The early Dutch settlers were described as intelligent middle class people with a great appreciation of the importance of education. "In 1633, about 10 years after the first real colonists came to Manhattan, Dominie Evarard Bogardus brought to this country, Adam Roelandsen, the first Dutch schoolmaster. Every Patroon's patent required him to provide his tenants with a clergyman and a schoolmaster," said Mrs. Porter.

Provisions made in the charter of Wiltwyck, dated 1661, included powers to build school houses and it is believed the early burghers of the Esopus arranged for free instruction.

Events were briefly reviewed leading up to the founding of Kingston Academy which for many years made this city the central point for education in the state. The Academy was the alma mater of a large proportion of the distinguished men of New York during the latter part of the 18th, 19th and early 20th centuries. Included in this group were General John Armstrong who came here to educate his children. He lived in the old Senate House. Others named were John Vanderlyn, DeWitt Clinton, Governor George Clinton's daughter, Caty who later married Major General Pierre Van Cortland, Marius Schoonmaker, John and Philip Schuyler, Nicholas Roosevelt, and hosts of distinguished judges, clergymen and others.

"While the Academy flourished prior to the Revolution, its most noted days were in the third of the century succeeding that struggle," said Mrs. Porter. "At that time there were but few institutions of the first class, and those who founded Kingston Academy, had put it into a rank by itself and that rank was of the highest."

Festive Examinations

The speaker told of the anticipation of young and old at the time of the semi-annual examinations when the cordial hospitality of the Dutch was enjoyed by those who flocked in large numbers to the city for the reception and entertainment which was a part of the event.

From 1744 to 1809, Kingston Academy was exclusively a school for boys but from 1809, girls were permitted to enjoy some of its privileges and from 1864 onward, equal privileges were extended to both sexes. That same year, it ceased being a private school and was transferred to the Kingston Board of Education, thus becoming a part of the public free school system.

On June 23, 1915, the Academy was closed, graduating that year the last class from the oldest academy in New York state, one that had existed for 141 years.

Before concluding her talk, Mrs. Porter commented briefly upon the re-enactment of the granting of the first deed in this area to Thomas Chambers. This will take place on the historic Academy Green, June 5, as one of the highlights of the 300th anniversary celebration.

Madeira Islands

As a contrast, Mrs. Elmer Van Tassel transported the members to the Madeira Islands by means of a delightful narrative descriptive of the picturesque life of the island inhabitants and its numerous tourists. Madeira, a Portuguese possession, is famous for its wine-making industry.

Incunabula is the Latin term used to designate books printed before 1500 A.D.

Popularity Compelled Second Showing at Weisberg's

Response to the Spring fashion show presented Tuesday night at the Weisberg store on Fair street was so overwhelming that a second showing was given. More than 250 persons attended whereas those in charge had anticipated no more than 150. Spring ensembles were the keynote for the show and included coats, suits, redingote ensembles, jacket dresses and accessories. Miss Gertrude Birmingham was in charge of the refreshments served following both showings. Mrs. Elizabeth Gage was wardrobe mistress and the commentators were Mrs. Benjamin Furman and Mrs. Daniel Weisberg, who was also the coordinator. Modeling the interesting fashions, left to right, are Miss Maureen Troy, Mrs. Raymond Garraghan, Mrs. George Rifenbary, Mrs. Harry Jacobs, Miss Jean Ballard and Miss Margaret Smith. (Freeman Photo).

Marbletown Legion Auxiliary to Aid Kingston Clinic

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion auxiliary of the Town of Marbletown Post No. 1512 was held recently in the Reformed Church in Stone Ridge

During the past month, 998 coupons listed as miscellaneous and 154 as regular were turned over to the chairman, Mrs. Frank Pavlick, and the auxiliary is especially pleased with the response of non-members as well as its members in this project.

Easter cards are now being collected and anyone having any they are willing to donate are asked to leave them at Mrs. Frank Altiri's or Mrs. Isaac Graham's. Mrs. Joseph Greenberg read an original article on the flag which was enjoyed.

Certificates Given To Future Nurses

Eight members of the Future Nurses of America Club of the Kingston High School received home nursing certificates last week upon the completion of the Red Cross Home Nursing course.

The awards were given to the Misses Elizabeth Ann Smith, Mary Ann Smith, Mary McKilligan, Marlene Cashin, Elsie Proper, Carol Scharp and Carol Ann Fielder. Miss Evelyn N. Morse was the nurse sponsor; Miss Ione Kinkade, teacher sponsor and Mrs. Marie McNierney, Red Cross Home Nursing instructor.

Meeting every Tuesday at the school, the primary purpose of the club which numbers 95 members, is to present a clear picture of the life of a student nurse during her period of education and the many career opportunities available to a registered professional nurse upon graduation from an accredited School of Nursing.

Guest speakers discuss the various fields open to professional nurses. Members hear first-hand information about career opportunities in nursing. In this way, they learn a great deal concerning nursing before entering the Nursery School of their choice. Students visit nurses' classes and laboratory periods in a School of Nursing, tour the hospital, go on field trips and participate in community service projects of their own choosing.

Since 1914, the Home Nursing instruction has been one of the continuous services of the American National Red Cross. Instructors are registered professional nurses taught by Red Cross and the course has been offered to community, school and college groups.

At present, there are two courses, Home Care of the Sick and Mother and Baby Care, and deal with the care of the sick and helpless at home. Essentially, the same course is taught throughout the country and is intended for both men and women. It does not provide a substitute for needed professional nursing service but does assist in giving simple home nursing care safely, effectively and easily.

Junior Catholic Daughters See Play

Members of the Junior Catholic Daughters with those of the Senior Court Santa Maria 164, and their guests attended the Passion Play at the Park Theatre, Union City, N. J., on Sunday.

The production, known as America's Oberammergau, has been presented annually during the Lenten season for the past 38 years.

Silhouette Is Slim and Flared

Photos left and center from Wool Bureau

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

New York — (NEA) — The suit is a standby for spring. One suit and two coats, perhaps one a spencer and the other full length, will make a wardrobe for many women this spring.

The soft suit and the suit with slim lines are always favorites. This year they're most favored when they have the fairly short jacket, a molded bodice, soft shoulders and imagination in the sleeve details.

Generally, the suit with the full, pleated skirt is regarded as the "extra" suit, the one to be purchased only when there's a new and basic suit for spring in the wardrobe. Menswear silk does well now for late-day party wear and can get about under a coat. Later, in warmer weather, it can be worn alone.

The rayon suit, one that knows no season, is shown in rayon rib, flannel or spun rayon. It's budget-priced, well tailored, and often fully lined. A favorite for late spring wear, it also does well under a coat.

The coat, itself, may be flaring, or princess or the slim box type in a shorter length. The princess coat is likely to have soft shoulders and a full skirt that's nearly bouffant. The box coat, in textured fleece, in tweed or in poodle fabric, is a fashion that looks well over either the slim or full skirt.

Rummage Sales

Holy Cross Auxiliary

The Women's Auxiliary of the Holy Cross Church will hold a rummage sale Thursday and Friday, Apr 3 and 4, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. in the parish hall on Pine Grove avenue. Persons having articles to be picked up may telephone 5660 or 5118 after 5 p. m.

Willing Workers

The Willing Workers of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church will hold a rummage sale on Thursday and Friday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. in Epworth Hall, 122 Clinton avenue. A large number of interesting items will be on sale. The Hasbrouck avenue bus passes the door.

Bruce Wally Named Program Chairman

Bruce Wally, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wally of 245 East Strand, a senior at the forestry school at Syracuse University, is chairman of the school's blood donation program which already has surpassed last fall's program.

According to word received here today, the total drive at the upstate university is 540 pints. The forestry school goal is 225.

Chairman Wally announced that the forestry school program has reached pledges totaling 84 per cent more than last year with 206 men and women signed as doners. The school hopes to reach 225 pledges by the time blood collections are made April 3 at Bray Hall in Syracuse.

Mr. Wally, a graduate of Kingston High School, was president of the KHS Athletic Association.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kingman of Highland avenue have returned to their home after a few weeks vacation in Orlando, Florida.

Miss Carol Talleur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Talleur of 194 Elmendorf street, has recently been elected to membership in the Alpha Sigma Delta Sorority at the New York State University Institute in Cobleskill, and was appointed to serve on the social committee. Miss Talleur is working for her A.A.S. degree with a major in Nursery Education. She is active in student government, athletics, dramatics, square dance club and is business manager of the 1952 year book.

Leave for Okinawa

Taipeh, Formosa, March 26 (AP) —U. S. Navy Secretary Dan A. Kimball and his party left for Okinawa and Tokyo today after discussing "common problems" with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Kimball told newsmen he was "very much impressed" with Chiang and pleased with the training progress made by Chinese National military forces under U. S. supervision. "I hope we can help them to do better," he added.

Certificates Given To Future Nurses

The awards were given to the Misses Elizabeth Ann Smith, Mary Ann Smith, Mary McKilligan, Marlene Cashin, Elsie Proper, Carol Scharp and Carol Ann Fielder. Miss Evelyn N. Morse was the nurse sponsor; Miss Ione Kinkade, teacher sponsor and Mrs. Marie McNierney, Red Cross Home Nursing instructor.

Meeting every Tuesday at the school, the primary purpose of the club which numbers 95 members, is to present a clear picture of the life of a student nurse during her period of education and the many career opportunities available to a registered professional nurse upon graduation from an accredited School of Nursing.

Guest speakers discuss the various fields open to professional nurses. Members hear first-hand information about career opportunities in nursing. In this way, they learn a great deal concerning nursing before entering the Nursery School of their choice. Students visit nurses' classes and laboratory periods in a School of Nursing, tour the hospital, go on field trips and participate in community service projects of their own choosing.

Since 1914, the Home Nursing instruction has been one of the continuous services of the American National Red Cross. Instructors are registered professional nurses taught by Red Cross and the course has been offered to community, school and college groups.

At present, there are two courses, Home Care of the Sick and Mother and Baby Care, and deal with the care of the sick and helpless at home. Essentially, the same course is taught throughout the country and is intended for both men and women. It does not provide a substitute for needed professional nursing service but does assist in giving simple home nursing care safely, effectively and easily.

Junior Catholic Daughters See Play

Members of the Junior Catholic Daughters with those of the Senior Court Santa Maria 164, and their guests attended the Passion Play at the Park Theatre, Union City, N. J., on Sunday.

The production, known as America's Oberammergau, has been presented annually during the Lenten season for the past 38 years.

Silhouette Is Slim and Flared

Spring expresses itself fashion-wise in two slim suits and a cylindrical coat. Soft suit (left) is in brown-and-yellow houndstooth check woolen. A Monte Sano design, it has a minute shawl collar and full sleeves with intricate elbow inset. Philip Mangone's nubby woolen coat (center) is cylindrical in shape, cornflower blue in color. Grey-and-white worsted makes a suit by Seymour Fox (right) that has slim lines and jacket with petal cut.

NEA Woman's Editor

New York — (NEA) — The suit is a standby for spring. One suit and two coats, perhaps one a spencer and the other full length, will make a wardrobe for many women this spring.

The soft suit and the suit with slim lines are always favorites. This year they're most favored when they have the fairly short jacket, a molded bodice, soft shoulders and imagination in the sleeve details.

Generally, the suit with the full, pleated skirt is regarded as the "extra" suit, the one to be purchased only when there's a new and basic suit for spring in the wardrobe. Menswear silk does well now for late-day party wear and can get about under a coat. Later, in warmer weather, it can be worn alone.

The rayon suit, one that knows no season, is shown in rayon rib, flannel or spun rayon. It's budget-priced, well tailored, and often fully lined. A favorite for late spring wear, it also does well under a coat.

The coat, itself, may be flaring, or princess or the slim box type in a shorter length. The princess coat is likely to have soft shoulders and a full skirt that's nearly bouffant. The box coat, in textured fleece, in tweed or in poodle fabric, is a fashion that looks well over either the slim or full skirt.

Bruce Wally Named Program Chairman

Bruce Wally, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wally of 245 East Strand, a senior at the forestry school at Syracuse University, is chairman of the school's blood donation program which already has surpassed last fall's program.

According to word received here today, the total drive at the upstate university is 340 pints. The forestry school goal is 225.

Chairman Wally announced that the forestry school program has reached pledges totaling 84 per cent more than last year with 206 men and women signed as doners. The school hopes to reach 225 pledges by the time blood collections are made April 3 at Bray Hall in Syracuse.

Mr. Wally, a graduate of Kingston High School, was president of the KHS Athletic Association.

Miss Carol Talleur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Talleur of 194 Elmendorf street, has recently been elected to membership in the Alpha Sigma Delta Sorority at the New York State University Institute in Cobleskill, and was appointed to serve on the social committee. Miss Talleur is working for her A.A.S. degree with a major in Nursery Education. She is active in student government, athletics, dramatics, square dance club and is business manager of the 1952 year book.

Leave for Okinawa

Taipeh, Formosa, March 26 (AP)—U. S. Navy Secretary Dan A. Kimball and his party left for Okinawa and Tokyo today after discussing "common problems" with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Kimball told newsmen he was "very much impressed" with Chiang and pleased with the training progress made by Chinese National military forces under U. S. supervision. "I hope we can help them to do better," he added.

SHOKAN

Shokan, March 25—Cards have been received by local friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Casablanca, summer residents, who with their son, Vincent, are sojourning at St. Petersburg, Fla. The Washington Heights couple, who plan to remain in the south three more weeks, made two previous trips to Florida during the winter.

April 17 is the date of the forthcoming Queen Esther Society's turkey supper at the Glenford Methodist Church Hall.

Farmers who produce the hundreds of truckloads of cauliflower which pass through Shokan during the summer and autumn are now called 'cauli-growers' for short. Up in the Stamford area these growers have been attending meetings at which plant experts give the latest slant on diseases afflicting this valuable Delaware county crop.

The scheduled annual congregational meeting and election of officers of the Shokan Reformed Church was not held last Wednesday because of bad weather. The Reformed people will meet this Wednesday evening at the church.

Should be good fishing up around Margaretville, Roxbury and Andes, come open season, as a result of the 36 tanks of legal size trout planted in that area recently. Still, there is a lot of snow left in the Catskills and this condition may militate against successful catches early in the season. There are reports of snow up to eight feet deep in the upper reaches of some Shandaken brooks.

Members of the several women's societies of the three units of the Ashokan Methodist charge have received invitations to be guests of the WSCS of St. James Church, Kingston, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, March 26. Mrs. C. V. Hunter, N. Y. Conference president of the service society, will be the speaker. Tea will be served following the meeting.

Friday, March 28, marks another birthday for George Dibbell, one time Shokan War 1 veteran. George, younger son of Herbert and Marinda (Hoornbeck) Dibbell, was born and brought up in the old village. An employe of the N. Y. city department of water supply for many years, he resided in Yonkers before moving to the Pepacton Reservoir area. He is married to Esther Lee and they have two children, George and Margaret.

Hansard is the name of the official report of Parliament that is somewhat similar to the Congressional Record.

WALLKILL

Wallkill, March 25—Mrs. Daniel DuBois, Miss Mary DuBois, Miss Margery DuBois, Miss Louise Geyer, and Mrs. Edward C. Masten enjoyed a trip to New York on Wednesday.

Mrs. Harry Morehouse spent Thursday evening at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Palen of New Hurley.

Mrs. Howard Terwilliger and infant son, Paul, and daughter, Linda were guests on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. E. Masten.

Mrs. Viola Jansen entertained Mrs. Joseph Morris and sons, Jeffrey and Charles Thursday.

Mrs. J. Gardiner of Coxsackie is spending some time at the home of her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Gardiner.

Mrs. Joseph Vogel, Sr., was a guest Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. George Sohn.

Mr. ad Mrs. John Lewis entertained Thursday evening for Mrs. Jesse Benjamin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Caswell were hosts on Thursday evening to the Sixteen Dinner Club. A delicious dinner was enjoyed and cards were played. Present were Mr. and Mrs. E. Lester Mack, Mr. and Mrs. George Terwilliger, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Dolan, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wood, Mr. and Mrs. George Parliman, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Crist, Mr. and Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Kreiton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Terwilliger were dinner guests on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Morehouse.

Mrs. George Sohn was a guest on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Caswell. Also guests of Mr. and Mrs. Caswell were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bellarosa.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis were in Newburgh on Saturday.

Jeffrey and Charles Morris were dinner guests on Saturday at the home of their great grandmother, Mrs. Jane R. Van Wyck, and their great aunt, Miss Helen M. Van Wyck.

The choir of the Wallkill Reformed Church will present a cantata, "The Crucifixion," on April 9, at 8 p. m. Soloists will be: soprano, Mrs. Hubert Hendrie; alto, Mrs. Herbert DuBois; tenor, Norman Horn, and bass, Stephen Douglas.

The class in church membership will meet at the parsonage on Tuesday at 7 p. m.

Junior Bible classes will meet on Monday and Tuesday afternoon at the usual times at the church hall.

On Monday evening, Mrs. Alice Smiley of Lake Minnewaska will present a violin concert at the New Hurley Reformed Church. All from this church and area are invited to attend.

Expedition to Be Filmed

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — An Old Testament scholar and a film producer left recently on a flying trip to the Near East to record on film their archaeology expedition. The travelers, Dr. William Sanford LaSor and William Brusseau expect to be in Nippur, Iraq, soon to take part in pre-Abraham discoveries being made there. Other countries to be visited by the pair include Egypt, Jordan, Syria, Lebanon, Cyprus, Athens and Rome. Brusseau expects to use 20,000 feet of color film on the journey. Dr. LaSor, who says he speaks 20 languages, will act as interpreter and assistant cameraman.

Duck Yields Gold Nuggets

Port Elgin, N. B. (AP) — When the snowdrifts disappear Leslie Turner, eighth grade student, hopes to find the source of the gold nuggets one of his ducks picked up recently. The nuggets were found while dressing the duck for the table. Leslie figures there may be more where they came from.

Jacoby on Canasta

Don't Be Afraid to Discard

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Don't be too discouraged when the opponents manage to make the initial meld before your side does. The chances are that you will lose points on the hand, especially if the opponents find it easy to pick up the discard pile and make a good start towards several canastas. Resign yourself to a probable loss, but make sure that the loss is not a disaster.

Just remember that the opponents cannot make all the canastas—unless you help them to do so. And the way you can help them make all the canastas, curiously enough, is by refusing to give them anything at all.

If you have several four-card melds and one or two three-card melds, it isn't going to be fatal if you throw them a fourth card or even a fifth card in one of those melds. You expect them to make a few canastas, and it doesn't much matter if you give them a bit of help early instead of late in the hand.

It would be fatal, however, to stow away in your hand any card that could possibly help the enemy. Such a line of play makes it imposible for you to go out, and now your only hope is that your partner can go out. (It's a cinch that the opponents won't bother to meld out when they're on such a fine scoring spree.)

And if your partner has adopted the same method of playing his hand, he also will be in trouble—and the hand will drag on and on.

When such a hand drags on, the opponents keep picking up the discard pile and keep scoring. What you avoided giving them early in the hand you have to give them later on. There is room in your hand for only eleven cards, after all, and when the opponents meld enough different combinations, it isn't possible to keep everything.

The only safe defense is to play it dangerously at the beginning. Throw away what you cannot use, even if those discards seem to help the enemy. Concentrate on melding out or on building to help your partner meld out. In that way you will eventually be able to end the misery by melding out before too much damage has been done.

Q—I made an insufficient meld without noticing it. The next player drew a card from the stock pile and then noticed my mistake. What happens?

A—Nothing happens. The next player condoned your mistake when he drew a card. Your meld stands exactly as though it had been a correct meld, and play proceeds in the normal way.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

SHOKAN

Shokan, March 25—Cards have been received by local friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Casablanca, summer residents, who with their son, Vincent, are sojourning at St. Petersburg, Fla. The Washington Heights couple, who plan to remain in the south three more weeks, made two previous trips to Florida during the winter.

April 17 is the date of the forthcoming Queen Esther Society's turkey supper at the Glenford Methodist Church Hall.

Farmers who produce the hundreds of truckloads of cauliflower which pass through Shokan during the summer and autumn are now called 'cauli-growers' for short. Up in the Stamford area these growers have been attending meetings at which plant experts give the latest slant on diseases afflicting this valuable Delaware county crop.

The scheduled annual congregational meeting and election of officers of the Shokan Reformed Church was not held last Wednesday because of bad weather. The Reformed people will meet this Wednesday evening at the church.

Should be good fishing up around Margaretville, Roxbury and Andes, come open season, as a result of the 36 tanks of legal size trout planted in that area recently. Still, there is a lot of snow left in the Catskills and this condition may militate against successful catches early in the season. There are reports of snow up to eight feet deep in the upper reaches of some Shandaken brooks.

Members of the several women's societies of the three units of the Ashokan Methodist charge have received invitations to be guests of the WSCS of St. James Church, Kingston, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, March 26. Mrs. C. V. Hunter, N. Y. Conference president of the service society, will be the speaker. Tea will be served following the meeting.

Friday, March 28, marks another birthday for George Dibbell, one time Shokan War 1 veteran. George, younger son of Herbert and Marinda (Hoornbeck) Dibbell, was born and brought up in the old village. An employe of the N. Y. city department of water supply for many years, he resided in Yonkers before moving to the Pepacton Reservoir area. He is married to Esther Lee and they have two children, George and Margaret.

Hansard is the name of the official report of Parliament that is somewhat similar to the Congressional Record.

WALLKILL

Wallkill, March 25—Mrs. Daniel DuBois, Miss Mary DuBois, Miss Margery DuBois, Miss Louise Geyer, and Mrs. Edward C. Masten enjoyed a trip to New York on Wednesday.

Mrs. Harry Morehouse spent Thursday evening at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Palen of New Hurley.

Mrs. Howard Terwilliger and infant son, Paul, and daughter, Linda were guests on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. E. Masten.

Mrs. Viola Jansen entertained Mrs. Joseph Morris and sons, Jeffrey and Charles Thursday.

Mrs. J. Gardiner of Coxsackie is spending some time at the home of her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Gardiner.

Mrs. Joseph Vogel, Sr., was a guest Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. George Sohn.

Mr. ad Mrs. John Lewis entertained Thursday evening for Mrs. Jesse Benjamin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Caswell were hosts on Thursday evening to the Sixteen Dinner Club. A delicious dinner was enjoyed and cards were played. Present were Mr. and Mrs. E. Lester Mack, Mr. and Mrs. George Terwilliger, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Dolan, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wood, Mr. and Mrs. George Parliman, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Crist, Mr. and Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Kreiton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Terwilliger were dinner guests on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Morehouse.

Mrs. George Sohn was a guest on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Caswell. Also guests of Mr. and Mrs. Caswell were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bellarosa.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis were in Newburgh on Saturday.

Jeffrey and Charles Morris were dinner guests on Saturday at the home of their great grandmother, Mrs. Jane R. Van Wyck, and their great aunt, Miss Helen M. Van Wyck.

The choir of the Wallkill Reformed Church will present a cantata, "The Crucifixion," on April 9, at 8 p. m. Soloists will be: soprano, Mrs. Hubert Hendrie; alto, Mrs. Herbert DuBois; tenor, Norman Horn, and bass, Stephen Douglas.

The class in church membership will meet at the parsonage on Tuesday at 7 p. m.

Junior Bible classes will meet on Monday and Tuesday afternoon at the usual times at the church hall.

On Monday evening, Mrs. Alice Smiley of Lake Minnewaska will present a violin concert at the New Hurley Reformed Church. All from this church and area are invited to attend.

Expedition to Be Filmed

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — An Old Testament scholar and a film producer left recently on a flying trip to the Near East to record on film their archaeology expedition. The travelers, Dr. William Sanford LaSor and William Brusseau expect to be in Nippur, Iraq, soon to take part in pre-Abraham discoveries being made there. Other countries to be visited by the pair include Egypt, Jordan, Syria, Lebanon, Cyprus, Athens and Rome. Brusseau expects to use 20,000 feet of color film on the journey. Dr. LaSor, who says he speaks 20 languages, will act as interpreter and assistant cameraman.

Duck Yields Gold Nuggets

Port Elgin, N. B. (AP) — When the snowdrifts disappear Leslie Turner, eighth grade student, hopes to find the source of the gold nuggets one of his ducks picked up recently. The nuggets were found while dressing the duck for the table. Leslie figures there may be more where they came from.

Jacoby on Canasta

Don't Be Afraid to Discard

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Don't be too discouraged when the opponents manage to make the initial meld before your side does. The chances are that you will lose points on the hand, especially if the opponents find it easy to pick up the discard pile and make a good start towards several canastas. Resign yourself to a probable loss, but make sure that the loss is not a disaster.

Just remember that the opponents cannot make all the canastas—unless you help them to do so. And the way you can help them make all the canastas, curiously enough, is by refusing to give them anything at all.

If you have several four-card melds and one or two three-card melds, it isn't going to be fatal if you throw them a fourth card or even a fifth card in one of those melds. You expect them to make a few canastas, and it doesn't much matter if you give them a bit of help early instead of late in the hand.

It would be fatal, however, to stow away in your hand any card that could possibly help the enemy. Such a line of play makes it imposible for you to go out, and now your only hope is that your partner can go out. (It's a cinch that the opponents won't bother to meld out when they're on such a fine scoring spree.)

And if your partner has adopted the same method of playing his hand, he also will be in trouble—and the hand will drag on and on.

When such a hand drags on, the opponents keep picking up the discard pile and keep scoring. What you avoided giving them early in the hand you have to give them later on. There is room in your hand for only eleven cards, after all, and when the opponents meld enough different combinations, it isn't possible to keep everything.

The only safe defense is to play it dangerously at the beginning. Throw away what you cannot use, even if those discards seem to help the enemy. Concentrate on melding out or on building to help your partner meld out. In that way you will eventually be able to end the misery by melding out before too much damage has been done.

Q—I made an insufficient meld without noticing it. The next player drew a card from the stock pile and then noticed my mistake. What happens?

A—Nothing happens. The next player condoned your mistake when he drew a card. Your meld stands exactly as though it had been a correct meld, and play proceeds in the normal way.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

LEGAL NOTICE

STATE OF NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF ULSTER—NATHANIEL B. GROSS, residing at 259 Washington Avenue, Kingston, Ulster County, New York, Plaintiff, against EUGENE GORMLEY, and others, and "JOHN DOE," the name John Doe, being fictitious, true name of said defendant being unknown to the plaintiff, the said "JOHN DOE" being intended to designate the executors, administrators and legatees, executrices, heirs at law, and next of kin of ANNA SHULTIS, deceased, and all persons who by purchase or inheritance or otherwise have or claim to have an interest in the property which is the subject of this action derived through the said Anna Shultis, deceased, or her executors, administrators, legatees, devisees or heirs at law or next of kin or through any of them, which heirs, executors, administrators, legatees, devisees, next of kin or other persons, if any there be and their names and residences are unknown to the plaintiff and also all persons who may make any claim whatsoever, as heirs at law or next of kin, executors or administrators of any person who may be deceased and if living would have any interest in the property which is the subject of this action derived through any or all of the above named or other devisees, legatees, heirs at law and next of kin, which persons, if any there be, and their names and residences are unknown to the plaintiff, Defendants.

SUPPLEMENTAL AND AMENDED SUMMONS

TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANTS:

YOU ARE HEREBY SUMMONED TO answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer, or, if the complaint is not served with this summons, to serve a notice of appearance, on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service; and in case of your failure to appear, or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default, for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated: Kingston, New York, November 29th, 1951.

CASHIN & EWIG, ESQS., Attorneys for Plaintiff. Office and Post Office Address, 270 Fair Street, Kingston, New York.

TO:

"JOHN DOE," the name John Doe being fictitious, true name of said defendant being unknown to the plaintiff, the said "JOHN DOE," being intended to designate the executors, administrators, and legatees, devisees, heirs at law and next of kin of ANNA SHULTIS, deceased, and all persons who by purchase or inheritance or otherwise have or claim to have an interest in the property which is the subject of this action derived through the said Anna Shultis, deceased, or her executors, administrators, legatees, devisees or heirs at law or next of kin or through any of them, which heirs, executors, administrators, legatees, devisees next of kin or other persons, if any there be and their names and residences are unknown to the plaintiff and also all persons who may make any claim whatsoever, as heirs at law or next of kin, executors or administrators, of any person who may be deceased and if living would have any interest in the property which is the subject of this action derived through any or all of the above named or other devisees, legatees, heirs at law and next of kin, which persons, if any there be, and their names and residences are unknown to the plaintiff.

The foregoing supplemental and amended summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of Justice of the Supreme Court DONALD S. TAYLOR dated the 14th day of MARCH, 1952 and filed with the supplemental and amended complaint in the Office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that this action is brought to foreclose a certain bond and mortgage made by Robert J. Van Kleeck and Lorraine Van Kleeck, his wife to the Kingston Savings Bank and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on July 23rd, 1948 in Liber of Mortgages 534 at page 529 and the payment of which mortgage was assumed by Anna Shultis, deceased, and which mortgage was by mesne assignments duly assigned to Nathaniel B. Gross, the plaintiff herein by assignment dated the 5th day of October, 1951 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on the 5th day of October, 1951 in Liber 626 of Mortgages at page 233 and which mortgage lien affects certain real property described therein and which is located in the Village of Phoenicia, Town of Shandaken and County of Ulster and State of New York, and being the same property described in a deed from Robert J. Van Kleeck and Lorraine Van Kleeck, his wife dated May 12th 1949 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 735 of Deeds at page 300.

Dated the 14th day of MARCH, 1952.

Lenten Services

First Presbyterian

The Enabling Christ will be the subject of sermon by the Rev. Dr. Harvey Bennett, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Atlantic City, N. J., Thursday at 8 p. m. in the second of three special Lenten services, at the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue, with the Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of the church, presiding. Dr. Bennett who was heard last year in a similar service during the Lenten season, is considered one of the foremost pastors and preachers in New Jersey. Under the direction of Miss Edna Merrihew, organist and choir director, the senior choir will sing the anthem, If With All Your Hearts by Rober; and Miss Emily Flowers, alto, will sing as an offertory solo Let Not Your Hearts Be Troubled by Dickey. For the final service of the series next Thursday April 3, the guest preacher will be the Rev. H. Victor Kane former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Kingston, and now pastor of the First Baptist Church of Niagara Falls. These services are open to the public and a cordial invitation is extended.

George Frederick Handel took only 24 days to write the oratorio, "The Messiah," which has enthralled music lovers for two centuries.

Fashions Reveal Casual Viewpoint

Dallas designers demonstrate here their adeptness with casual clothes. Wide-wale pique makes coordinates (left) in solid colors combined with stripes. Slim, basic dress has ebony patent belt and buttons, striped cardigan. Little boy shorts with turn-back cuffs are worn with halter top in white. White slub-weave rayon coat dress (center) is buttoned up in gold, belted in white leather. There's a red-and-blue leather fob with gold crest. Denim separates (right) get popcorn ball fringe trim in white cotton. Very full circle skirt has apron effect and sleeveless, scoop-neck suntop has two rows of fringe trim.—By GAILE DUGAS, NEA Woman's Editor.

Glands Are . . .

ing the monkey gland experiments 30 years ago of the late Dr. Serge Voronoff.

Human or animal bodies might supply successful transplants of nerves or blood vessels or other spare parts that would take root and stay alive or grow.

The big secret is using embryonic tissue—glands or other parts from very young, unborn humans. Only embryonic tissue and some cancer tissue can be transplanted and stay alive in another body.

The facts to date, and the future potentials, were disclosed in reports of research at Yale University Medical School. They were described during a tour of cancer centers sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Eugene E. Clifton, a surgeon, transplanted the bits of human embryonic glands into the men and woman. The glands were taken from unborn babies lost in miscarriages or in an operation necessary to save the mother's life.

Periodic X-Rays Are Termed Vital To Determine TB

More and more people throughout the country are wisely forming the habit of getting chest X-rays periodically to find out whether or not there are signs of tuberculosis in their lungs.

Although additional tests are necessary before a definite diagnosis of tuberculosis is made, a chest X-ray is one of the first steps in searching out this communicable disease. While early tuberculosis has no apparent symptoms, indications of even early disease will show up on the X-ray.

These were the warnings issued today by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association in announcing the dates for three more chest X-ray surveys.

Survey Dates Given

The survey will be made in the Town of Saugerties on the following dates:

April 8, Malden; April 9, 10 and 11, Saugerties; April 14, Quarryville; April 15, Centerville; April 16 and 17, Glasco; April 18, 21 and 22, Saugerties.

Town of Shandaken:

April 23, Phoenicia; April 24, Allaben; April 25, Pine Hill.

Town of New Paltz:

April 28 and 29, New Paltz State Teachers College; April 30 and May 1, and 2, Town of New Paltz.

Every person 15 years of age and over is requested to take advantage of this program. No undressing is necessary and every person X-rayed will receive a notice concerning his picture.

The first canvassing meeting in the 1952 program will be held in the town of Saugerties April 1.

French Crack Down On Tunisia Nationals

Tunis, Tunisia, March 26 (AP)—France cracked down with a heavy hand on Tunisia's independence-seeking Nationalists today, arresting Premier Mohammed Chenik and three of his cabinet. Martial law and press censorship also were ordered.

The drastic steps were taken after the Tunisian government and the French protectorate's nominal ruler, the 70-year-old Bey of Tunis, had balked at what was described as a French ultimatum that Chenik must be fired.

The French action climaxed three months of Nationalist rioting and sabotage in the north African trouble spot and World War 2 battleground. In the violence nearly 100 lives have been lost. Hundreds have been arrested and put behind barbed wire.

Farm Boy Dies Beneath Tractor

Dustin, Okla., March 26 (AP)—A farm boy, unable to free himself, died beneath a burning farm tractor after kissing his younger brother goodbye.

Richard Dale Foreman, 14, and his 11-year-old brother, Glendell, were riding on the tractor when it suddenly swerved, overturned, and burst into flame.

Glendell was thrown clear but Richard, the driver, was pinned underneath and unable to free his leg.

The younger boy couldn't move the flame-swept machine. He began beating at the flames with his coat in a desperate effort to put out the fire.

Richard called to Glendell, told him to kiss him goodbye, and then said he should stand back as far as he could. He died before passersby could put out the fire and free him.

The incident occurred Monday.

Fire Fighter Is Killed

Valhalla, N. Y., March 26—Berthold H. Lorenz, 47, volunteer fire department captain, was killed by an automobile last night as he left the scene of a grass fire to cross a road in the darkness. The driver of the automobile, Richard Teachman, 22, of Tarrytown, told police he didn't see the victim. He was released on his own recognizance. Police said Lorenz apparently ran down an embankment along the road and hit the side of the automobile. The fire was in Kensico Cemetery. Lorenz was a teacher in New York city's Samuel Gompers Vocational High School.

Lipshitz Remodeling House for Apartments

One of Kingston's leading real estate owners today announced he would soon open a modern apartment house on Abeel street near Broadway.

Louis Lipshitz, who owns property in various sections of the city, said he was in the process of remodeling the former Max Hazen residence at 24 Abeel street to accommodate six families.

Lipshitz said plans call for a complete painting and decorating project after new floors are laid, modern kitchens and showers are installed and other up to date conveniences have been added, including facilities for immediate hot water.

The downtown property was purchased by Lipshitz about three months ago.

Driver Escapes Injury At Union Center

Hans Schutz, Hopewell Junction, escaped injury Tuesday evening when a truck owned by the Krug Baking Co., of Poughkeepsie, and which he was driving, overturned about 7 o'clock landing on its left side crosswise on the Hardenburgh Road near the Union Center Road intersection in Union Center.

The vehicle completely blocked the road until a wrecker arrived on the scene some 20 minutes later and righted the truck which showed no visible damage, other than a shaking up of its contents, a minor quantity of baked goods. Schutz continued on his way to Poughkeepsie.

Lenten Services

First Presbyterian

The Enabling Christ will be the subject of sermon by the Rev. Dr. Harvey Bennett, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Atlantic City, N. J., Thursday at 8 p. m. in the second of three special Lenten services, at the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue, with the Rev. William J. McVey, pastor of the church, presiding. Dr. Bennett who was heard last year in a similar service during the Lenten season, is considered one of the foremost pastors and preachers in New Jersey. Under the direction of Miss Edna Merrihew, organist and choir director, the senior choir will sing the anthem, If With All Your Hearts by Rober; and Miss Emily Flowers, alto, will sing as an offertory solo Let Not Your Hearts Be Troubled by Dickey. For the final service of the series next Thursday April 3, the guest preacher will be the Rev. H. Victor Kane former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Kingston, and now pastor of the First Baptist Church of Niagara Falls. These services are open to the public and a cordial invitation is extended.

George Frederick Handel took only 24 days to write the oratorio, "The Messiah," which has enthralled music lovers for two centuries.

Glands Are . . .

ing the monkey gland experiments 30 years ago of the late Dr. Serge Voronoff.

Human or animal bodies might supply successful transplants of nerves or blood vessels or other spare parts that would take root and stay alive or grow.

The big secret is using embryonic tissue—glands or other parts from very young, unborn humans. Only embryonic tissue and some cancer tissue can be transplanted and stay alive in another body.

The facts to date, and the future potentials, were disclosed in reports of research at Yale University Medical School. They were described during a tour of cancer centers sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Eugene E. Cliffton, a surgeon, transplanted the bits of human embryonic glands into the men and woman. The glands were taken from unborn babies lost in miscarriages or in an operation necessary to save the mother's life.

St. Joseph's Grabs Mets and Seniors Titles in CYO County Tourney

Junior Crown Won by St. Mary's In Tourney Finals

Jack Houghtaling's 33 Points Set New Mark

St. Joseph's shaded St. Peter's, 42-40, in overtime to capture the Ulster county CYO Senior title in last night's tournament finals at the municipal auditorium.

St. Joseph's also won the Mets crown with a 52-49 squeaker over St. Mary's, while St. Mary's Juniors overwhelmed St. Colman's of East Kingston, 67-15, in the Junior finals.

Big Jack Houghtaling set a new individual scoring record in the Junior division with 33 points against St. Colman's. He rimmed 16 fields and a singleton as St. Mary's took an early lead and forged steadily ahead.

Jim Woods and Ronnie Crispino hit with 10 points each. Charlie Turck, Jerry Tierney and Frank Gardecki had four each for St. Colman's.

Stage Big Rally

St. Joseph's came from behind a 10-point halftime deficit to tie St. Peter's 38-38 at regulation time and then nail down the Senior pennant on baskets by Andy Juhl and Don Haggerty. The losers led 25-15 at the intermission.

Juhl rimmed 14 points and Haggerty dunked 11 for St. Joe's, while Charlie Farley and Paul Smith were hitting 14 and 12 respectively for St. Peter's.

St. Joseph's Mets held a slight lead over St. Mary's all the way to capture the Met finals 52-49 in a well played game featuring top local talent.

Don Dempsey, ex-KHS varsity, and Frank Secreto, who is counted on next season, hit with 21 points each for the winners. Secreto unloaded nine buckets and three singletons. Dempsey's performance was noteworthy in that he converted 13 foul shots.

Bob Cullum racked up 18 points for St. Mary's and John Kozlowski hit with 16.

Meets Wiltwycks Saturday at Y For League Title

Hercules rallied in the final 90 seconds of play to nose out Potter Bros., 64-63, in the first game of the triangular YMCA "A" League playoffs last night on the Y boards.

The Powdermen, who played without Ronnie Scheffel, meet Wiltwyck Motors in the finals on Saturday night.

Meanwhile, the 50 Club won the first of the best-of-three series for second place in the "B" League, 57 to 54 over Kaplan Bag Co.

Hercules led Potters, 36-28, at the half and 51-45 at the three-quarter before Potters made their bold bid for victory and tied the score twice in the last five minutes.

Bones Hampton's jumping one-hander from the lane with 15 seconds left decided the contest.

With 90 seconds left, Jack Doyle's deuce put Potters ahead 63-62. The losers tried a freeze but Hercules kept pressing them. A couple of violations followed before a Hercules player grabbed a loose ball and fired it to Hampton who was just outside the bucket. Then with a dribble and high jump, Bones dunked the winning shot.

Hercules had four men score in double figures to offset the 20-point totals by Lafayette Holstein and Jack Doyle of Potters who scored 20 and 21 respectively. Wally Madajeski was the Hercules leader with 18, Hampton hit with 17. Tom Morrissey 13 and Dan McGrane had 11.

Kaplan Rally Fails

Trailing all the way, 24-20 at the half and 39-31 at the three-quarter mark, Kaplan Bag tried desperately to get back into the game against the 50 Club but time ran out on them.

High scoring John Burris rimmed 23 points, Don Wolff had a dozen and Joe Schneider had 10 for the winners. Clyde Carter scored 16 to lead Kaplan Bag. Bob Baumer hit 14 and Ed Browne and Jerry Kaplan each had 10.

Pitt Line Coach Succeeds Bixler

Hamilton, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Colgate University today announced the appointment of Harold W. Lahar, line coach at the University of Pittsburgh, as head football coach. Lahar, 34, succeeds Paul O. Bixler, who resigned Jan. 14.

President Everett Case said Lahar had signed a three-year contract. He did not disclose the salary.

The new coach will have the rank of assistant professor of physical education.

Lahar, a native of Durant, Okla., played guard and tackle for the University of Oklahoma for three seasons prior to his graduation in 1940. He captained the Sooners in 1939.

Wilson Leads Yanks

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Outfielder Archie Wilson, the International League's most valuable player in 1951, is leading the New York Yankees in hitting. Wilson, up from Buffalo, is socking at a .438 gait. He has collected seven hits in 16 trips. Outfielders Jackie Jensen and Mickey Mantle are next with marks of .378 and .375 respectively.

St. John's Upsets Illini, 61-59 To Gain NCAA Tourney Finals

By JIM HUTCHESON

Seattle, March 26 (AP)—It will be Lovellette & Co. of Kansas against the giant killers of St. John's for the national collegiate basketball crown tonight.

Kansas got to the throne room doorway the easy way in the semi-finals of the NCAA playoffs last night, as big Clyde Lovellette paced a 74-55 victory over Santa Clara.

St. John's of Brooklyn got there by the margin of a game-ending gasp, with a 61-59 win over favored Illinois.

In the title classic it will be the clever passing game of St. John's against the power that comes from having a tower of strength like 6-foot 9-inch Lovellette in the slot.

The big Kansas center scored 33 points against the Santa Clara Broncos. He stood out as a playmaker and backboard bulwark as well as a scorer, His 108 points for the three-game NCAA playoff set a new record. The old mark, in four games, was 83. It was set by Don Sunderlage of Illinois last year.

Kansas won a 52-51 victory over St. John's when they met last year in Madison Square Garden.

But these St. John's hoop magicians have thrown the book out the window. The experts didn't even think they would get to the national tourney. They did it the hard way, in the regional tourney, by beating Kentucky, No. 1 team in the Associated Press national poll. Illinois, the Redmen's victim last night was the No. 2 rated team in the same poll.

Their semi-final victories qualified both St. John's and Kansas for the U. S. Olympic games trials.

Zawoluk Hits 24

While Lovellette stood out as the No. 1 individual performer in the semi-finals, St. John's flashed a star of its own who may give the Kansas center a run for his money tonight. He was center Bob Zawoluk, a mere 6-foot 6-incher. He tallied 24 points, including nine field goals.

In the opening St. John's-Illinois contest the boys from Brooklyn held a 61-55 margin with a minute to play. But the fighting Illini made one last bid. Sub guard Herb Gerecke cut loose with two field goals in the final minute, but it wasn't enough.

St. John's led 33-27 at halftime but the Illini deadlocked it 43-43 at the end of the third period. Zawoluk's 10 points in the final quarter carried St. John's over the hump. Jim Bredar and Rod Fletcher led the Illinois scoring with 14 points each.

In the second game, Kansas took a quick lead, Santa Clara tied it at 7-7, then Kansas pulled steadily ahead. It was just too much Lovellette for the scrappy Broncos.

His 12 field goals raised his total for the 1952 playoffs to a new record of 41. The old record, also in three games, was 14 by Alex Groza of Kentucky in 1949.

Kansas ran up a 38-25 halftime lead.

Joe Sangi's 685 Sets Central Record; Ada Markle's 582 Leads in Friendship

Joe "Bush" Sangi, who has been flirting with a "700" triple throughout the season, pounded 685 in last night's session of the Central Rec League. He missed the coveted mark because of three misses in the second game. Sangi knocked off solos of 256, 211 and 218.

Meanwhile, Ada Markle rapped a sparkling 582, with 226, 192, 164, for top female honors in the Friendship League. The J. Ellis Briggs keglerettes virtually cinched the 1951-52 pennant and Bernie Singer's set a new team standard of 2494.

Rita Amarello's 144-166-209—519 was top series in the Hercules Women and Herm Seelbach fired 156-216-232—604 in the Silver Palace circuit.

Tony Canzoneri, not the old boxing champion, led the Booster League with 185-190-197—572 and R. Anderson's 575, with 167-220-188, was high for the Chalet Leaders in Rosendale.

In the two divisions of the Y Federation, J. Lavelle rolled 133-144-204—481 in the International and Doug Harvey had 188-168-154—510 in the National.

On Alleys 3 and 4

Sangi en route to a new individual series record in the Central Rec loop made a shambles of the myth that alleys 3 and 4 are tough. Eddie Heins rapped a hat trick of 213-203-206 for 622. Earl Sleight was on his way to big things with 212-258 but a 146 finisher held him to 620 and Frank Grimaldi posted 235-205—611. Chris Robinson pounded 222—586; Ronnie Mauro 574, Ray Houghtaling 212—555; Carl Bowser 234—554; Bill Lawrence 548 and R. Terpening 540.

Rolling into the elite group in the Friendship circuit were Ev Gross with 531, Rose Schatzel 526, Pat Pearson 525, Miriam Posner 508 and Bertha Schaller 502. Other top totals included Reta Frederick's 493, Rose Rhymer 490, Dottie Bell 483, Dot Rawding 479, Dot Elston 477 and Ev Dolson 473.

"Pop" Peterson Hits 589

Larry Peterson, Sr., rapped 244—589; Bill Mohr 210-207—582 and Larry Jacobs 229—565 in the Silver Palace. Joe Mannello had 203—562; Ralph Mayone 544; W. Ferguson 222—541; J. Thompson 540; Paul Khederian 531; Ray Roux 529; J. Sharot 528; Cosmos Costello 527 and Charlie Horne 201—521.

Kiki Smith's 447 was second best in the Hercules Women circuit and other "400" shooters were Pat Warner 445, Mary Monfett 425, Louise Jordan 412, Betty Macholdt 409, Helen Buchholtz 508 and Louise DeCicco 401.

Bob "Giants" Tierney started as fast as he hopes the Giants will do in the National League pennant race with 223 and finished with 550 in the Booster. Bob Goldstein posted 517, Jim Howard 511, Form Coughlin 501, Fred Hummel 494, Jack Nelson 488, John Quigley 485, R. Herrick 484, Jim Collins 483, Walt Schmitz 481 and Don Keyser 481.

G. DeFelicis' 563 and Lou Straley's 548 rounded out the Big Three of the Chalet Leaders. B. Esposito posted 200—545; L. Dyer 203—525; R. Dellay 516; Ed Whitaker 511; Harry Houska 508; G. Segelken 505.

Milwaukee Foreman Tops ABC All-Events

Milwaukee, March 26 (AP)—The thrill of rolling in his first American Bowling Congress tournament failed to keep Gene Sass, 35, a Milwaukee factory foreman, out of the strike pocket yesterday.

With 10 years of league bowling under his belt, Sass cut loose with 1,876 for first place in the all-events, smacked a big 667 series for third in singles, and paired with Joe Sobolewski, 43-year-old fellow worker, to post 1,232 second place in the doubles.

Sass had 555 in the team event Monday night. His doubles games yesterday were 207, 220 and 227 for 654 and Sobolewski, who also was shooting in his first ABC tourney, had 189, 190 and 199 for 578.

Early-Season Slump Fails to Worry Dodgers' Meal Ticket Roe

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Preacher Roe is off to a bad start, but the ace lefthander of the Brooklyn Dodgers isn't worried.

Roe, who posted an amazing 22-3 last year, has been hit hard in each of his three outings this spring.

The lean veteran was tagged for 11 hits in six innings yesterday as the Dodgers defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-5, at Miami, Fla.

Roe said after the game:

"I figure I'm just about throwing the way I should be at this time. My stuff is spotty; some of it good, some of it bad.

"My control isn't what it should be yet. It was better than last time at least. I'm getting the ball over the plate, but I'm not getting it where I want it."

Previously, Roe was slugged in a game against the Dodgers' Mobile farmhands and by the world champion New York Yankees.

Roe yielded all of Philadelphia's runs including a two-run homer by Eddie Joost. He left with a 6-5 lead. Young Billy Loes protected the margin.

Loes gave up five hits and twice got out of bases loaded jams. The Dodgers collected only nine hits off a trio of Athletic pitchers including a home run by Billy Cox. Cox, regular third baseman, and Jackie Robinson, first string second baseman, divided the shortstop chores.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Bradenton, Fla., March 26 (AP)—General Manager John Quinn said today "there is nothing new on Bob Elliott," the Boston Braves lone holdout.

Quinn said his last telephone conversation with Elliott, who is at his San Diego, Calif., home, was four days ago.

Yesterday's game with the St. Louis Cardinals was cancelled by rain.

Lakeland, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Trade talks are still simmering between the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

Top men of both clubs conferred yesterday and said they'll meet again in a week or 10 days.

The Tigers would like to get Boston's infielder Johnny Pesky and the Red Sox want a second baseman and an outfielder. There's a chance Detroit's Johnny Groth might be swapped to Boston in return for Pesky and outfielder Don Lenhardt.

Bradenton, Fla., March 26 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are hunting for an all-around utility player and there's a strong possibility that 38-year-old Bert Haas may land the job.

Haas, who starred in the Cuban Winter League this fall, is the property of the Dodgers' St. Paul team of the American Association. Haas can play first base, third base and the outfield.

He has been up before with the Dodgers, Boston Braves, Philadelphia Phillies, New York Giants, Chicago White Sox and also at one time belonged to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 26 (AP)—Shorn of a six-game winning streak, the flu bug-plagued Chicago Cubs will try to snap the New York Giants six-game victory streak in a rematch today.

The Giants edged the Cubs 7-6 yesterday.

Bob Kelly will attempt to go a full nine innings for the Cubs.

The flu bugs which previously attacked coaches Roy Johnson and Spud Davis among others, went after Bill Serena yesterday. He was ordered to bed. Veteran pitcher Dutch Leonard also was being bothered.

St. Joseph's Grabs Mets and Seniors Titles in CYO County Tourney

Junior Crown Won by St. Mary's In Tourney Finals

Jack Houghtaling's 33 Points Set New Mark

St. Joseph's shaded St. Peter's, 42-40, in overtime to capture the Ulster county CYO Senior title in last night's tournament finals at the municipal auditorium.

St. Joseph's also won the Mets crown with a 52-49 squeaker over St. Mary's, while St. Mary's Juniors overwhelmed St. Colman's of East Kingston, 67-15, in the Junior finals.

Big Jack Houghtaling set a new individual scoring record in the Junior division with 33 points against St. Colman's. He rimmed 16 fields and a singleton as St. Mary's took an early lead and forged steadily ahead.

Jim Woods and Ronnie Crispino hit with 10 points each. Charlie Turck, Jerry Tierney and Frank Gardecki had four each for St. Colman's.

Stage Big Rally

St. Joseph's came from behind a 10-point halftime deficit to tie St. Peter's 38-38 at regulation time and then nail down the Senior pennant on baskets by Andy Juhl and Don Haggerty. The losers led 25-15 at the intermission.

Juhl rimmed 14 points and Haggerty dunked 11 for St. Joe's, while Charlie Farley and Paul Smith were hitting 14 and 12 respectively for St. Peter's.

St. Joseph's Mets held a slight lead over St. Mary's all the way to capture the Met finals 52-49 in a well played game featuring top local talent.

Don Dempsey, ex-KHS varsity, and Frank Secreto, who is counted on next season, hit with 21 points each for the winners. Secreto unloaded nine buckets and three singletons. Dempsey's performance was noteworthy in that he converted 13 foul shots.

Bob Cullum racked up 18 points for St. Mary's and John Kozlowski hit with 16.

On Alleys 3 and 4

Sangi en route to a new individual series record in the Central Rec loop made a shambles of the myth that alleys 3 and 4 are tough. Eddie Heins rapped a hat trick of 213-203-206 for 622. Earl Sleight was on his way to big things with 212-258 but a 146 finisher held him to 620 and Frank Grimaldi posted 235-205—611. Chris Robinson pounded 222—586; Ronnie Mauro 574, Ray Houghtaling 212—555; Carl Bowser 234—551; Bill Lawrence 548 and R. Terpening 540.

Rolling into the elite group in the Friendship circuit were Ev Gross with 531, Rose Schatzel 526, Pat Pearson 525, Miriam Posner 508 and Bertha Schaller 502. Other top totals included Reta Frederick's 493, Rose Rhymer 490, Dottie Bell 483, Dot Rawding 479, Dot Elston 477 and Ev Dolson 473.

"Pop" Peterson Hits 589

Larry Peterson, Sr., rapped 244—589; Bill Mohr 210-207—582 and Larry Jacobs 229—565 in the Silver Palace. Joe Mannello had 203—562; Ralph Mayone 544; W. Ferguson 222—541; J. Thompson 540; Paul Khederian 531; Ray Roux 529; J. Sharot 528; Cosmos Costello 527 and Charlie Horne 201—521.

Kiki Smith's 447 was second best in the Hercules Women circuit and other "400" shooters were Pat Warner 445, Mary Monfett 425, Louise Jordan 412, Betty Macholdt 409, Helen Buchholtz 508 and Louise DeCicco 401.

Bob "Giants" Tierney started as fast as he hopes the Giants will do in the National League pennant race with 223 and finished with 550 in the Booster. Bob Goldstein posted 517, Jim Howard 511, Form Coughlin 501, Fred Hummel 494, Jack Nelson 488, John Quigley 485, R. Herrick 484, Jim Collins 483, Walt Schmitz 481 and Don Keyser 481.

G. DeFelicis' 563 and Lou Straley's 548 rounded out the Big Three of the Chalet Leaders. B. Esposito posted 200—545; L. Dyer 203—525; R. Dellay 516; Ed Whitaker 511; Harry Houska 508; G. Segelken 505.

Milwaukee Foreman Tops ABC All-Events

Milwaukee, March 26 (AP)—The thrill of rolling in his first American Bowling Congress tournament failed to keep Gene Sass, 35, a Milwaukee factory foreman, out of the strike pocket yesterday.

With 10 years of league bowling under his belt, Sass cut loose with 1,876 for first place in the all-events, smacked a big 667 series for third in singles, and paired with Joe Sobolewski, 43-year-old fellow worker, to post 1,232 second place in the doubles.

Sass had 555 in the team event Monday night. His doubles games yesterday were 207, 220 and 227 for 654 and Sobolewski, who also was shooting in his first ABC tourney, had 189, 190 and 199 for 378.

Early-Season Slump Fails to Worry Dodgers' Meal Ticket Roe

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Preacher Roe is off to a bad start, but the ace lefthander of the Brooklyn Dodgers isn't worried.

Roe, who posted an amazing 22-3 last year, has been hit hard in each of his three outings this spring.

The lean veteran was tagged for 11 hits in six innings yesterday as the Dodgers defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-5, at Miami, Fla.

Roe said after the game:

"I figure I'm just about throwing the way I should be at this time. My stuff is spotty; some of it good, some of it bad.

"My control isn't what it should be yet. It was better than last time at least. I'm getting the ball over the plate, but I'm not getting it where I want it."

Previously, Roe was slugged in a game against the Dodgers' Mobile farmhands and by the world champion New York Yankees.

Roe yielded all of Philadelphia's runs including a two-run homer by Eddie Joost. He left with a 6-5 lead. Young Billy Loes protected the margin.

Loes gave up five hits and twice got out of bases loaded jams. The Dodgers collected only nine hits off a trio of Athletic pitchers including a home run by Billy Cox. Cox, regular third baseman, and Jackie Robinson, first string second baseman, divided the shortstop chores.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Bradenton, Fla., March 26 (AP)—General Manager John Quinn said today "there is nothing new on Bob Elliott," the Boston Braves lone holdout.

Quinn said his last telephone conversation with Elliott, who is at his San Diego, Calif., home, was four days ago.

"Our differences are wholly financial and Elliott has no desire to leave Boston," Quinn said.

Yesterday's game with the St. Louis Cardinals was cancelled by rain.

Lakeland, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Trade talks are still simmering between the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

Top men of both clubs conferred yesterday and said they'll meet again in a week or 10 days.

The Tigers would like to get Boston's infielder Johnny Pesky and the Red Sox want a second baseman and an outfielder. There's a chance Detroit's Johnny Groth might be swapped to Boston in return for Pesky and outfielder Don Lenhardt.

Bradenton, Fla., March 26 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are hunting for an all-around utility player and there's a strong possibility that 38-year-old Bert Haas may land the job.

Haas, who starred in the Cuban Winter League this fall, is the property of the Dodgers' St. Paul team of the American Association. Haas can play first base, third base and the outfield.

He has been up before with the Dodgers, Boston Braves, Philadelphia Phillies, New York Giants, Chicago White Sox and also at one time belonged to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 26 (AP)—Shorn of a six-game winning streak, the flu bug-plagued Chicago Cubs will try to snap the New York Giants six-game victory streak in a rematch today.

The Giants edged the Cubs 7-6 yesterday.

Bob Kelly will attempt to go a full nine innings for the Cubs.

The flu bugs which previously attacked coaches Roy Johnson and Spud Davis among others, went after Bill Serena yesterday. He was ordered to bed. Veteran pitcher Dutch Leonard also was being bothered.

Meets Wiltwycks Saturday at Y For League Title

Hercules rallied in the final 90 seconds of play to nose out Potter Bros., 64-63, in the first game of the triangular YMCA "A" League playoffs last night on the Y boards.

The Powdermen, who played without Ronnie Scheffel, meet Wiltwyck Motors in the finals on Saturday night.

Meanwhile, the 50 Club won the first of the best-of-three series for second place in the "B" League, 57 to 54 over Kaplan Bag Co.

Hercules led Potters, 36-28, at the half and 51-45 at the three-quarter before Potters made their bold bid for victory and tied the score twice in the last five minutes.

Bones Hampton's jumping one-hander from the lane with 15 seconds left decided the contest.

With 90 seconds left, Jack Doyle's deuce put Potters ahead 63-62. The losers tried a freeze but Hercules kept pressing them. A couple of violations followed before a Hercules player grabbed a loose ball and fired it to Hampton who was just outside the bucket. Then with a dribble and high jump, Bones dunked the winning shot.

Hercules had four men score in double figures to offset the 20-point totals by Lafayette Holstein and Jack Doyle of Potters who scored 20 and 21 respectively. Wally Madajeski was the Hercules leader with 18. Hampton hit with 17. Tom Morrissey 13 and Dan McGrane had 11.

Kaplan Rally Fails

Trailing all the way, 24-20 at the half and 39-31 at the three-quarter mark, Kaplan Bag tried desperately to get back into the game against the 50 Club but time ran out on them.

High scoring John Burris rimmed 23 points, Don Wolff had a dozen and Joe Schneider had 10 for the winners. Clyde Carter scored 16 to lead Kaplan Bag. Bob Baumer hit 14 and Ed Browne and Jerry Kaplan each had 10.

Pitt Line Coach Succeeds Bixler

Hamilton, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Colgate University today announced the appointment of Harold W. Lahar, line coach at the University of Pittsburgh, as head football coach. Lahar, 34, succeeds Paul O. Bixler, who resigned Jan. 14.

President Everett Case said Lahar had signed a three-year contract. He did not disclose the salary.

The new coach will have the rank of assistant professor of physical education.

Lahar, a native of Durant, Okla., played guard and tackle for the University of Oklahoma for three seasons prior to his graduation in 1940. He captained the Sooners in 1939.

Wilson Leads Yanks

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Outfielder Archie Wilson, the International League's most valuable player in 1951, is leading the New York Yankees in hitting. Wilson, up from Buffalo, is socking at a .438 gait. He has collected seven hits in 16 trips. Outfielders Jackie Jensen and Mickey Mantle are next with marks of .378 and .375 respectively.

Cramer Boosts Lead Over Braun to 717

Match May End Tonight; 2nd Block Under Protest

The 40-game challenge match between Morris Cramer of Cohoes and Howard Braun of the Ruzzo Bowlatorium is scheduled to end tonight at the Cohoes Bowling Center with the sharpshooting upstate youngster leading by 717 pins at the end of 30 frames.

A technicality may extend the life of the match, since Braun has protested certain conditions of the Monday block in Cohoes and the protest will be decided by the New York Bowling Proprietors Association which has jurisdiction over match games bowled in sanctioned establishments.

The two rivals rolled last night's block despite advance notice that it had been postponed. The decision to continue the match was made at a meeting of Braun and Cramer and interested parties called to discuss the Cohoes rhubarb.

Braun agreed to put the second block up for arbitration and both decided that, since Cramer was in town, the third block would be rolled. A fact that many interested fans will learn with disappointment when they read this.

If Braun's protest is upheld by the NYSBPA, the second block will be rolled over.

However, it was learned from a reliable source last night that, if Braun loses tonight in Cohoes, he will withdraw his protest and Cramer will be declared the winner of the $2,000 purse.

Averages 207

Cramer averaged 207 for last night's 10-game block to boost his lead to an insurmountable 717 pins. He broke the back of Braun's hopes for a rally by piling up 435 sticks in the first two games, while the Bowlatorium manager was mired in scores of 178 and 139.

The 23-year-old Cohoes sharpshooter tossed six out of ten "200" games and in the seventh, eighth and ninth games had a string of 679 with 213-230-236.

Braun, who has averaged only 175 plus in the 30 games to date, connected for only one "200" game—right on the nose—in the third set. His scorecard shows only four "200" games out of the 30 rolled to date.

The scores:

New Bill Sets Open Season on Muskrats

Albany, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Governor Dewey signed a bill today permitting the State Conservation Department to set open seasons for the trapping of muskrats.

The authority will extend for a one-year period from next July 1, unless extended by the 1953 Legislature.

Dewey signed another measure that will permit, after July 1, the taking of fish known variously as ling, lawyer or burbot by spear, arrow or hook from waters not inhabited by trout. The Conservation Department must set up open seasons for the species.

Dick Bezemer Sets New Junior Church League Scoring Record With 52 Points

Dick Bezemer, a prolific scorer throughout the Junior Church League season, set a new individual scoring mark of 52 points Monday night as the Salvation Army "B" squad crushed the "A" group, 110-38.

Several oddities cropped up during the "contest" that saw the "B" team go over the 100-mark in scoring for the third time this season.

The "B" squad scored every point from scrimmage with 55 fields.

The winners did not commit a personal foul.

The "B" scoring average in the 24-minute contest was approximately 4.59 points per minute.

Derby on TV

Louisville, Ky., March 26 (AP)—America's annual big racing thrill, the Kentucky Derby, will be flashed directly by television cameras to receiving sets across the country for the first time May 3. Churchill Downs announced its decision to permit a live telecast last night. President Bill Corum of the Downs emphasized, however, that this year's telecast will be strictly experimental.

Cramer Boosts Lead Over Braun to 717

Match May End Tonight; 2nd Block Under Protest

The 40-game challenge match between Morris Cramer of Cohoes and Howard Braun of the Ruzzo Bowlatorium is scheduled to end tonight at the Cohoes Bowling Center with the sharpshooting upstate youngster leading by 717 pins at the end of 30 frames.

A technicality may extend the life of the match, since Braun has protested certain conditions of the Monday block in Cohoes and the protest will be decided by the New York Bowling Proprietors Association which has jurisdiction over match games bowled in sanctioned establishments.

The two rivals rolled last night's block despite advance notice that it had been postponed. The decision to continue the match was made at a meeting of Braun and Cramer and interested parties called to discuss the Cohoes rhubarb.

Braun agreed to put the second block up for arbitration and both decided that, since Cramer was in town, the third block would be rolled. A fact that many interested fans will learn with disappointment when they read this.

If Braun's protest is upheld by the NYSBPA, the second block will be rolled over.

However, it was learned from a reliable source last night that, if Braun loses tonight in Cohoes, he will withdraw his protest and Cramer will be declared the winner of the $2,000 purse.

Averages 207

Cramer averaged 207 for last night's 10-game block to boost his lead to an insurmountable 717 pins. He broke the back of Braun's hopes for a rally by piling up 435 sticks in the first two games, while the Bowlatorium manager was mired in scores of 175 and 139.

The 23-year-old Cohoes sharpshooter tossed six out of ten "200" games and in the seventh, eighth and ninth games had a string of 679 with 213-230-236.

Braun, who has averaged only 175 plus in the 30 games to date, connected for only one "200" game—right on the nose—in the third set. His scorecard shows only four "200" games out of the 30 rolled to date.

New Bill Sets Open Season on Muskrats

Albany, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Governor Dewey signed a bill today permitting the State Conservation Department to set open seasons for the trapping of muskrats.

The authority will extend for a one-year period from next July 1, unless extended by the 1953 Legislature.

Dewey signed another measure that will permit, after July 1, the taking of fish known variously as ling, lawyer or burbot by spear, arrow or hook from waters not inhabited by trout. The Conservation Department must set up open seasons for the species.

Newark, N. J.—Bill Gilliam, 213, Newark, outpointed Omelio Agramonte, 196¼, Havana, 8.

Dick Bezemer Sets New Junior Church League Scoring Record With 52 Points

Dick Bezemer, a prolific scorer throughout the Junior Church League season, set a new individual scoring mark of 52 points Monday night as the Salvation Army "B" squad crushed the "A" group, 110-38.

Several oddities cropped up during the "contest" that saw the "B" team go over the 100-mark in scoring for the third time this season.

Bezemer collected his entire total from the field, hitting with 26 buckets. And he played only three-quarters of the game.

The "B" squad scored every point from scrimmage with 55 fields.

The winners did not commit a personal foul.

The "B" scoring average in the 24-minute contest was approximately 4.59 points per minute.

Jack Schrader piled up a hefty 28-point total that was dwarfed by Bezemer's 52 and Phil Mandel scored 14 at the center slot for the "Bs." Dick Nagele topped the "A" squad with 19 markers.

The boxscore:

Derby on TV

Louisville, Ky., March 26 (AP)—America's annual big racing thrill, the Kentucky Derby, will be flashed directly by television cameras to receiving sets across the country for the first time May 3. Churchill Downs announced its decision to permit a live telecast last night. President Bill Corum of the Downs emphasized, however, that this year's telecast will be strictly experimental.

Ski Club Stages Easter Parade

The Highmount Ski Center was the scene of its annual "Easter Parade" on Sunday, March 23.

Although rain fell intermittently on the snow covered slopes, it did not dampen the spirits of the participants in the costume contest or the slalom race for skiers over 30 years of age.

The slalom was won by Rudy Logel, whose time was reported at 1:10.6. Tied for second place were Wally Keller and Tom Jermaz. Other competitors, listed in order of finishing, were George Kelly, Francis Davenport, Ruth Kelly, Al Jessurum, Ken Johnson, Blanche Davenport, Isabel Keller, Alison Marson, Ben Rstanta, Dave Fletcher and Gertrude Davenport.

The race was set up by the Trailsweepers Ski Club of Kingston. Handicaps of several seconds each were given to those who admitted to being 40 or 50 years old.

Winner of the best costume judging was Helen Asterito. Others, in order of placing, were Ben Asterito, Tom Jeramez, Philip Davenport, Linda Jensen, Terry Kelly, Kenneth Davenport, Isabel Keller, Ray Kretch, Dan Timperio and Eric Wiltz. Appropriate prizes were given the winners and runnersup.

Many thanks to the hundreds of nimrods who pointed out that mistake about the trout season opening on April 12 instead of April 1.

Our instincts should have taught us that even fish won't bite on April Fool's Day. To the sturdy men of the outdoors who wait months on end for that great day of frustration, we say thank you again. And don't forget, boys, remember and observe the rules as well as the date for the grand opening.

● "Bo" Needs the Vacation . . . But Bad:

The day before he departed for a southland vacation, our good friend "Bo" Gill took a gratuitous slap at the DUSO League writing fraternity for failing to select all five members of this year's undefeated Newburgh Academy quintet on the 1952 All-DUSO squad.

Maybe "Bo" needed the vacation. He had just completed a rigorous winter covering high school athletics and hobnobbing with the sports world elite at Gene Leone's restaurant in New York. Obviously, he was losing some sleep and it must have made him irritable.

Furthermore, the semi-pro baseball people of Newburgh were hot on "Bo's" neck for the coup d'etat he engineered a few weeks ago when he maneuvered the PONY Baseball League into a Sunday setup at Recreation Field, thereby snuffing out the semi-pros.

Traditionally a mortal enemy of professional sports of any type, "Bo" virtually dictated the athletic destinies of the City of Newburgh. And he did some mighty fine things for the Hill City, until he tried to freeze out the semi-pros. Then in Bill Ryan and a few others, he found his match. Ergo, the vacation.

Getting back to the All-DUSO, Gill claims that they prove nothing and have no bearing on the price of wheat in North Dakota. And, we might add, the merits of semi-pro baseball as seen by one man.

"Bo" was burned because Don Jackson, Bobby Spreer and Sam Leghorn were omitted from the squad. He suggests that if an All-DUSO squad is selected in the future, the scribes should get together and discuss the merits of the players. When the DUSO League Sportswriters Association was gasping for life, "Bo" was the first to desert the ship. Couldn't be bothered . . . too busy.

As for what coaches think of All-DUSO teams, that's their business. Coaches are in athletics to earn a living. If sportswriters wish to make all-all selections part of their routine that's their business, too.

"We attempted to be fair in naming the All-DUSO players by including some boys in other communities," wrote Gill with all the righteousness he could command. "But now we can see that it pays to vote as a 'homer' all the way down the line."

As the only writer who selected the first five on this year's squad, we stand squarely behind our selections. We voted for Leroy Hooker, sure. We voted for two boys from Newburgh, one from Poughkeepsie, Kingston and the fifth from Fallsburg. Is that being a homer?

"As you look over the names of the five DUSO stars, you note that the highest scorers have been selected in practically every case," said "Bo." "No consideration was given to the defense and all-round playing of other boys."

Unfortunately, that is the general pattern for all-star basketball squads. Check any All-America squad and you'll note that forwards are shifted to the guard slots. That's not a radical move. Gill says he would have chosen "four" of the NFA varsity to the first string team. Which of the Glamorous Goldbacks would he leave off the team. This same fellow who has been yelping about the magnificent "team" achievement throughout NFA's all-winning season. Was there one terrible weakling in the crowd?

When Mr. Gill accuses his DUSO colleagues of being "Homers" and pleads such fairness in his own behalf, let him examine his own closets. He did not even dignify Kingston's victory over Albany with a boxscore the day after the finals. And he's the same young man who several years ago featured a Newburgh Jayvee victory over the Maroon yearlings, the morning after one of Coach G. Warren Kias' great machines had broken Newburgh hearts in the varsity contest.

With respect to the 1952 All-DUSO, we think it was the best possible selection, Mr. Gill, notwithstanding. Bobby Spreer, Sam Leghorn and Don Jackson were good players. But fellows like Bob "1000 Point" Laskowitz of Fallsburg, Johnny Ripo of Poughkeepsie and Leroy Hooker of Kingston, you don't shake off trees.

We hope "Bo" enjoys his well-earned vacation. When he returns to Newburgh the DUSO writers may have forgotten his gratuitous insults. But that semi-pro situation will still be around to haunt him.

Secret Weapon

Pittsburgh — (NEA) — Johnny Price, the baseball comedian, tells about entertaining Korean troops this winter.

"We set up a bazooka and shot autographed baseballs toward the Red lines," Price relates.

"We could see the Reds pick 'em up and study 'em. In fact, they no doubt thought they were mines or booby traps.

"I wrote on each ball, 'Bring this ball to any park in the United States. Good for two admissions.'"

And he's the same young man who several years ago featured a Newburgh Jayvee victory over the Maroon yearlings, the morning after one of Coach G. Warren Kias' great machines had broken Newburgh hearts in the varsity contest.

With respect to the 1952 All-DUSO, we think it was the best possible selection, Mr. Gill, notwithstanding. Bobby Spreer, Sam Leghorn and Don Jackson were good players. But fellows like Bob "1000 Point" Laskowitz of Fallsburg, Johnny Ripo of Poughkeepsie and Leroy Hooker of Kingston, you don't shake off trees.

We hope "Bo" enjoys his well-earned vacation. When he returns to Newburgh the DUSO writers may have forgotten his gratuitous insults. But that semi-pro situation will still be around to haunt him.

Pittsburgh — (NEA) — Johnny Price, the baseball comedian, tells about entertaining Korean troops this winter.

"We set up a bazooka and shot autographed baseballs toward the Red lines," Price relates.

"We could see the Reds pick 'em up and study 'em. In fact, they no doubt thought they were mines or booby traps.

"I wrote on each ball, 'Bring this ball to any park in the United States. Good for two admissions.'"

West Yellowstone, Mont. (AP) — The Lionhead ski run near here was closed for three weeks at the height of the winter season—too much snow. When it was reopened, it took bulldozer crews three days to clear a road to the run through two miles of drifts.

The average temperature over the entire earth is about 45 to 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

Four Actions Are Settled in Court

Four actions for personal injuries were settled in Supreme Court Tuesday afternoon. Roy L. Featherstone appeared for plaintiffs and Cashin & Ewig for defendant. The actions were brought by Gloria Carfora, Theresa Pendino, Josephine Pendino and Fortuna Amedeo against Henry W. Kamps.

Also settled was an action for property damage brought by Ruth Secor against Lincoln E. Crosby. Roy L. Featherstone appeared for plaintiff and Lawrence Eichner for defendant. An action brought by Gilbert Feldberg against General Linen & Laundry Co., Inc., for negligence, was settled. Philip Korn for plaintiff and Rudser and Mulligan for defendant.

A property damage suit brought by Edward H. Swinden against Harry Zoeller was stricken from the calendar. Roy L. Featherstone for plaintiff and David W. Corwin for defendant.

Plea Is Changed

LeRoy Kelly, of East Strand, who was arrested March 1 on a charge of driving while intoxicated, was allowed through consent of the district attorney's office to plea to a charge of reckless driving when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today. He was fined $25. Kelly was arrested after his car had struck a guy wire on East Strand. Attorney Charles H. Gaffney appeared for him today.

Father and Son Held

New York, March 26 (AP)—A father and son were held in total bail of $150,000 today after a series of raids in which Brooklyn's racket-busters said they knocked out a $2,500,000 a year policy bank. Nine men were seized in the raids yesterday, and all of them were arraigned at a special night session of court before Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz. All nine were held as material witnesses.

Driver of Looted Armored Car

Use Dog to Track Robbers

Policeman gives bloodhound the scent of three men who used this car abandoned in Everett, Mass., to flee from Danvers, Mass., 15 miles away, with $681,000 looted from an armored car. Witnesses, not knowing what was going on, said they saw the men transferring "bundles" from this car to another which sped away, presumably toward Boston 5 miles away. (AP Wirephoto).

There are more than 50 mineral springs, with no two having the same analysis, around the Soda Springs area of southeastern Idaho.

Water pressure amounts to about a ton per square inch for every mile of depth.

Shot at Road Block

Face contorted in pain, Norman Viele, 24, of South Boston shouts at his captors after he was shot by a state trooper at a road block thrown up in Madbury, N. H., following a robbery in Danvers, Mass. State Trooper Clifford Hildreth shot Viele and another man driving the car as they attempted to escape. Police said both men were armed but could not say they were involved in the Danvers robbery. coffees in a drug store only 20 feet from where they parked the vehicle. They could even see one side of the truck through the store's plate glass window.

Patrolman Edmund Noonan, directing traffic about 100 feet away, started toward the bandits' car to reprimand the driver for double parking on a busy street.

As he neared the car, it sped away and turned down a side street. He said later he instinctively turned toward the armored car parked at an angle against the curb and noticed the back door ajar.

He ran toward the drug store, but at that instant one of the armored car men — Lawrence Johansen—came running out.

Doors Tested, He Says

Johansen said that before going into the drug store he and the other two guards, Joseph Riley and Dennis Walsh, had tested the front doors and the door leading from the cab to the money compartment to make sure they were locked.

Police Chief Raymond Kirwin theorized the men used a key to get into the front door and probably forced their way into the money compartment.

The getaway Buick was spotted in Everett—about 15 miles from Danvers and six miles from Boston—by a police cruiser. The robbers got away, though, by turning down a side street at about the time a big trailer truck crossed in front of the cruiser.

The car was found abandoned on that side street later. Witnesses said they saw three men transfer "packages" from the Buick into a Pontiac.

The latter car was abandoned on the other side of Everett. Police said both cars had been stolen earlier in the day from a public parking lot in Everett.

Harold B. Klem, vice president of the United States Trucking Co., said the guards violated a strict company rule when they left the armored car unattended.

The car was on a bank run, picking up and dropping off money at institutions north of Boston.

Agrees to Take Post

Colombo, Ceylon, March 26 (AP)—Dudley Senanayake today agreed to succeed his father as prime minister of Ceylon. The 41-year-old son of the late Don Stephen Senanayake, veteran Ceylonese statesman and the British Commonwealth country's first and only prime minister, had refused earlier to take the post left vacant when his father died Saturday of injuries suffered in a fall from a horse.

Okays Consolidation

Albany, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The state education commissioner announced today he had approved the proposed consolidation of four Westchester county school districts into a union free school district. Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson said the merger appeared to be for the "best educational interests of the children of such districts."

$64,000 holdup in 1950 of a Queens branch of the Manufacturers Trust Co.

Needed Only Two Days

The state later said it needed only a couple days more to finish its case in the trial that started a week ago yesterday. Bank Manager Robert Hoffman was on call as a witness for today at (10 a. m., EST).

De Venuta in his testimony yesterday lived up to his billing as the prosecution's key witness. He did not falter during his appearance although defense counsel carefully cross-examined him two-thirds of the time he was on the stand.

Sutton, 51, Kling, 45, and De Venuta have been accused as the bandits who pulled the job. Two bank employes already have named the trio in trial testimony.

A separate trial at a later date had been granted De Venuta on his pledge to testify against Sutton and Kling. He kept the pledge yesterday.

London had baby clinics as early as 1816.

It Was 66 at 1:30 P.M.

Spring favored the area with its warmest breath to date this year today. The city engineer's office reported the mercury at 66 degrees at 1:30 p. m., and it was indicated then that it might go higher before sundown. The temperature was the highest recorded locally since early last December when 65 degrees was recorded.

ANXIOUS OWNER SAYS
"I want to sell my property & move out of town. I have a good 7-room house, with heat & bath, centrally located & I get a good income by using it as a 2-family house; it's also suitable as a 1-family. I'm asking $8,800 with only $2,500 cash down, over my present $6,300 G.I. mortgage. I'll take any reasonable offer. Another veteran can get a much larger new G.I. loan. Can you use it?"

Acheson Says U. S.

part to a "purely defensive European community."

State department officials who helped draft the note said this meant the European defense community being formed to enable West Germany to put military forces into Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's western defense army.

2. It challenged the Russians to prove the sincerety of the declared interest in unifying Germany by permitting a United Nations commission to go into the Soviet zone and find out what opportunity exists there for holding free elections.

The three powers thus made clear to the free peoples of Western Germany and other western countries their decisions not to be diverted from the path of rearmament.

The Russians had proposed that a united Germany be permitted to revive its army, navy and air force. That was the newest element in their note and was apparently forced by the impending defensive rearmament of Western Germany.

But in identical notes, the United States, Britain and France declared that such a national military force "would be a step backwards and might jeopardize the emergence in Europe of a new era in which international relations in Europe would be based on cooperation and not on rivalry and distrust."

Rhee Makes Statement

Pusan, Korea, March 26 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee, on his 77th birthday, said today: "I would like to retire to make way for young and able men." But he didn't say he would not seek re-election in June. And Korean political observers speculated he plans to run. They interpreted his remarks as an invitation to his followers to urge his candidacy.

Ryan Is Elected Commander by VF

Morgan D. Ryan, one of Kingston's industrial officials, former veteran's counselor and educator, last night was elected commander of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

By this election Ryan, personnel manager and security officer for Electrol, Incorporated, employing 750 men, became the first man in the history of Kingston to have commanded both the VFW and American Legion Post 150. He served as Legion commander in 1950.

Ryan, who has taken a prominent part in local civic affairs, is a native of Kingston and was educated in public schools here. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of Colorado and did graduate work at New York University in education and personnel work. He also studied at New York State Teachers College and at Schrivenham American University in England.

Taught Social Science

Ryan has taught in the Kingston educational system and was an instructor at the University of Colorado while taking graduate work there. He has also served as head of the social science department of the State Teachers College in New Paltz.

Ryan entered the service in 1942 and was assigned to the U. S. Army Signal Corps until his discharge March 30, 1946. He established cryptographic schools, both in the United States and Europe.

Following his discharge Ryan returned to education but later joined the division of veterans affairs of the state of New York. In March, 1951, President B. N. Ashton of Electrol, Inc., appointed him to the position he now holds.

Directed Lions' Show

Ryan has served as vice-commander in both VFW and Legion and has held numerous other offices in those two organizations. He is a member of the Lions Club and last year served as chairman of the Lions International Mercantile and Industrial Exposition at the State Armory in Kingston.

He is assistant director in charge of administration for Kingston Civil Defense and took an active part in the initiation of plans for the tercentennial celebration.

Ryan is married to the former Evelyn N. DuBois of Kingston and they have two children, Daniel, 6, and Terri, 4. They live at 214 Manor avenue.

Other Officers

The following VFW slate was elected with Commander Ryan: Senior vice-commander, Hubert Richter, Jr.; junior vice-commander, Albert Roosa; quartermaster, Leslie Munson; post advocate, Judge Raymond Mino; chaplain, Father Dunnigan; surgeon, Dr. Douw Myers; trustee, three years, Raymond Myer.

Installation ceremonies will be held Tuesday evening, April 8.

City Is Notified

29, and just before the deadline the PSC granted an extension to April 30.

The PSC in its announcement of the extension said it expected the bus company to show in every respect by that time how its business was affected by the reduced service.

Meanwhile, city officials are prepared to expect that the bus company, because it has made application for permanent discontinuance of the two bus runs, will attempt to show at the hearing, that any resumption of the service will again put the bus company in the red. It has made no statement to indicate that it is doing better or breaking even as a result of the curtailment.

All decisions on the city's bus problem rest with the Public Service Commission, and because of this fact, city officials, local residents, merchants and others, consider the April 2 hearing one of the most important held here in many years.

The bus company made known that it was operating in the red at about the same time the PSC was asked to consider extension of bus service in the Third and Fourth wards. These applications were denied and the busy company was allowed to cut rather than extend its service.

Losses Are Considered

City officials and the bus company have received all kinds of suggestions and proposals hopefully meant to solve the city's bus problem, but the PSC has taken as a first consideration the monetary losses entered into the records at the public hearing.

Higher bus fares have been suggested, but bus officials have argued that past experiences with higher fares have tended to cut down patronage. It has also been suggested that perhaps some other bus company could operate full service at a profit, and it has been suggested that the city take over the bus line.

A PSC official indicated after the last hearing, however, that it was approaching the problem with realism, and was attempting to determine by the best means available how to maintain the best possible bus service in the city. Its findings and that of the bus company will be aired fully at the hearing next month.

All interests concerned, meanwhile, have indicated the need of sound and workable solutions to the city's bus problem. They hold that the complaints of inadequate service are real enough, but they stress also that first problems must be solved first, and one of them is to allow for a profitable as well as efficient operation of the present or any bus company holding the franchise.

That is the attitude of the PSC to date and it appears to be the attitude that must be met when suggestions are offered in efforts to solve the problem, they say. They ask therefore that all who might appear at the hearing with suggestions, weigh them fully for their practical application to one of the city's greatest current problems.

Petitions have been circulated and charges have been flung about wildly, the officials note, but no person has appeared yet with a full solution.

Merchants Favor

all business places display the American and Dutch colors. Stores will remain open on Saturday, April 5.

Since parking on the streets over which the Queen and her party will travel, will be prohibited during the time of her visit, the merchants also discussed the parking problem. It was suggested that shoppers park off the route and also take advantage of the large area for parking at the municipal stadium on lower North Front street that day. It was suggested that the school grounds at No. 7 school might be made available for parking cars.

Wonderly President

President Jay Melton received the report of the nomination committee from Byron Chatham, chairman. The committee, which included Al Flanagan and Jesse Schlesinger, presented the name of Clyde E. Wonderly, Jr., for president; Herbert K. Greenwald, vice president; Charles Fabiano, secretary-treasurer, and the slate presented was unanimously elected.

A financial report was given by Treasurer Fabiano which showed all bills paid and a small balance in the treasury.

Participation in the tercentennial celebration was discussed and Al Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, gave a brief report on the large volume of publicity which the city is receiving from the celebration and the visit of Queen Julianan April 5. In the search for an original copy of the Ulster County Gazette which contains an account of the death of George Washington, he reported over 300 inquiries had been received from all over the country since the announcement was publicized by press and radio.

Proposes New Campaign

President Wonderly proposed a "get the man next door" membership campaign. He suggested that each business man join the Association and then "get the man next door" who in turn would contact his neighbor to become a member.

In order that a better discussion of current problems may be brought to the attention of the membership, it was suggested dinner meetings at noon be held. This proposal was discussed and it was voted to hold a meeting at 11:45 a. m. next Monday at the Kirkland Hotel. This will permit the business to begin at noon and allow merchants to get back to their business at 1 p. m. If the meeting proves successful similar meetings will be held every two weeks for discussion of business problems.

Parking Discussed

Parking was another topic discussed. Need for better parking for shoppers was stressed and this will be one of the topics which will be taken up at a noon meeting.

President Wonderly will name the committees to work with him during the next year and present them at the meeting next Monday at the Kirkland Hotel.

Kurdt gave an interesting account of the tercentennial activities for the coming summer and spoke of the Ted Mack show which will honor Kingston April 15. It is expected over 200 newsmen, radio and television and magazine writers will be in Kingston for the visit of Queen Juliana April 5. Many reservations for guests have been received. Kingston will also receive wide publicity through a special stamp cancellation of that date.

Reports Pole Down

William Davis, of 1 Fitch street, notified police at 7:12 p. m., yesterday that a pole was down on Wilbur avenue along the edge of the pavement near the city incinerator and that his car had struck it. A guy wire was also down and the situation was dangerous, Davis said. Officers Frank Sammons and Ernest Bartroff were sent there and the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., was notified.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), a committee member, told a Philadelphia news conference last night the group had decided to provide for "gradual decontrol of present controls." The ranking Republican on the committee, Sen. Capehart of Indiana, hinted his GOP minority would go along with such a measure.

The House Rules Committee voted 7-4 for an investigation of the WSB's actions, but it was indicated the probe, which must be approved by the House, would be some time in getting started.

sen The poll is not binding but Driscoll has said delegates will be morally obliged to support the winner.

Driscoll, a dark horse candidate for a place on the Republican national ticket, heads a state-organization-backed slate of 38 delegates to the GOP National Convention in Chicago this July. They have said they will go to the convention unpledged.

Stassen has entered 20 opposing delegates but Taft did not put up any delegates although some independents have said they will support him.

Acheson Says U. S.

part to a "purely defensive European community."

State department officials who helped draft the note said this meant the European defense community being formed to enable West Germany to put military forces into Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's western defense army.

2. It challenged the Russians to prove the sincerety of the declared interest in unifying Germany by permitting a United Nations commission to go into the Soviet zone and find out what opportunity exists there for holding free elections.

The three powers thus made clear to the free peoples of Western Germany and other western countries their decisions not to be diverted from the path of rearmament.

The Russians had proposed that a united Germany be permitted to revive its army, navy and air force. That was the newest element in their note and was apparently forced by the impending defensive rearmament of Western Germany.

But in identical notes, the United States, Britain and France declared that such a national military force "would be a step backwards and might jeopardize the emergence in Europe of a new era in which international relations in Europe would be based on cooperation and not on rivalry and distrust."

Rhee Makes Statement

Pusan, Korea, March 26 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee, on his 77th birthday, said today: "I would like to retire to make way for young and able men." But he didn't say he would not seek re-election in June. And Korean political observers speculated he plans to run. They interpreted his remarks as an invitation to his followers to urge his candidacy.

Taught Social Science

Ryan has taught in the Kingston educational system and was an instructor at the University of Colorado while taking graduate work there. He has also served as head of the social science department of the State Teachers College in New Paltz.

Ryan entered the service in 1942 and was assigned to the U. S. Army Signal Corps until his discharge March 30, 1946. He established cryptographic schools, both in the United States and Europe.

Following his discharge Ryan returned to education but later joined the division of veterans affairs of the state of New York. In March, 1951, President B. N. Ashton of Electrol, Inc., appointed him to the position he now holds.

Directed Lions' Show

Ryan has served as vice-commander in both VFW and Legion and has held numerous other offices in those two organizations. He is a member of the Lions Club and last year served as chairman of the Lions International Mercantile and Industrial Exposition at the State Armory in Kingston.

He is assistant director in charge of administration for Kingston Civil Defense and took an active part in the initiation of plans for the tercentennial celebration.

Ryan is married to the former Evelyn N. DuBois of Kingston and they have two children, Daniel, 6, and Terri, 4. They live at 214 Manor avenue.

Other Officers

The following VFW slate was elected with Commander Ryan: Senior vice-commander, Hubert Richter, Jr.; junior vice-commander, Albert Roosa; quartermaster, Leslie Munson; post advocate, Judge Raymond Mino; chaplain, Father Dunnigan; surgeon, Dr. Douw Myers; trustee, three years, Raymond Myer.

Installation ceremonies will be held Tuesday evening, April 8.

City Is Notified

29, and just before the deadline the PSC granted an extension to April 30.

The PSC in its announcement of the extension said it expected the bus company to show in every respect by that time how its business was affected by the reduced service.

Meanwhile, city officials are prepared to expect that the bus company, because it has made application for permanent discontinuance of the two bus runs, will attempt to show at the hearing, that any resumption of the service will again put the bus company in the red. It has made no statement to indicate that it is doing better or breaking even as a result of the curtailment.

All decisions on the city's bus problem rest with the Public Service Commission, and because of this fact, city officials, local residents, merchants and others, consider the April 2 hearing one of the most important held here in many years.

The bus company made known that it was operating in the red at about the same time the PSC was asked to consider extension of bus service in the Third and Fourth wards. These applications were denied and the busy company was allowed to cut rather than extend its service.

Losses Are Considered

City officials and the bus company have received all kinds of suggestions and proposals hopefully meant to solve the city's bus problem, but the PSC has taken as a first consideration the monetary losses entered into the records at the public hearing.

Higher bus fares have been suggested, but bus officials have argued that past experiences with higher fares have tended to cut down patronage. It has also been suggested that perhaps some other bus company could operate full service at a profit, and it has been suggested that the city take over the bus line.

A PSC official indicated after the last hearing, however, that it was approaching the problem with realism, and was attempting to determine by the best means available how to maintain the best possible bus service in the city. Its findings and that of the bus company will be aired fully at the hearing next month.

All interests concerned, meanwhile, have indicated the need of sound and workable solutions to the city's bus problem. They hold that the complaints of inadequate service are real enough, but they stress also that first problems must be solved first, and one of them is to allow for a profitable as well as efficient operation of the present or any bus company holding the franchise.

That is the attitude of the PSC to date and it appears to be the attitude that must be met when suggestions are offered in efforts to solve the problem, they say. They ask therefore that all who might appear at the hearing with suggestions, weigh them fully for their practical application to one of the city's greatest current problems.

Petitions have been circulated and charges have been flung about wildly, the officials note, but no person has appeared yet with a full solution.

The post office at Appomattox Court House, site of Lee's surrender to Grant, once was called Surrender.

The worst thing about telling a good story is that you'll have to listen to several poor ones right afterward. ©NEA

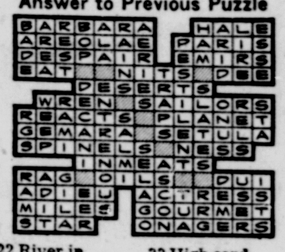
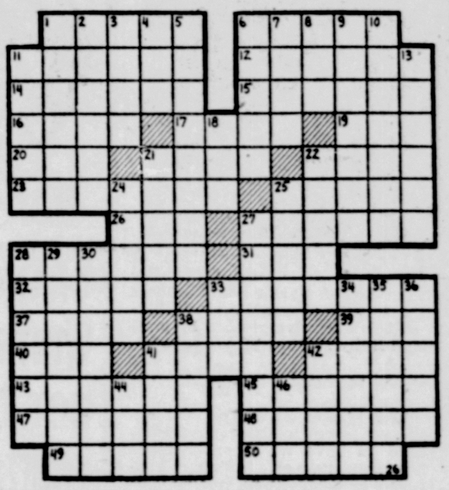
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Merchants Favor

all business places display the American and Dutch colors. Stores will remain open on Saturday, April 5.

Since parking on the streets over which the Queen and her party will travel, will be prohibited during the time of her visit, the merchants also discussed the parking problem. It was suggested that shoppers park off the route and also take advantage of the large area for parking at the municipal stadium on lower North Front street that day. It was suggested that the school grounds at No. 7 school might be made available for parking cars.

Wonderly President

President Jay Melton received the report of the nomination committee from Byron Chatham, chairman. The committee, which included Al Flanagan and Jesse Schlesinger, presented the name of Clyde E. Wonderly, Jr., for president; Herbert K. Greenwald, vice president; Charles Fabiano, secretary-treasurer, and the slate presented was unanimously elected.

A financial report was given by Treasurer Fabiano which showed all bills paid and a small balance in the treasury.

Participation in the tercentennial celebration was discussed and Al Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, gave a brief report on the large volume of publicity which the city is receiving from the celebration and the visit of Queen Julianan April 5. In the search for an original copy of the Ulster County Gazette which contains an account of the death of George Washington, he reported over 300 inquiries had been received from all over the country since the announcement was publicized by press and radio.

Proposes New Campaign

President Wonderly proposed a "get the man next door" membership campaign. He suggested that each business man join the Association and then "get the man next door" who in turn would contact his neighbor to become a member.

In order that a better discussion of current problems may be brought to the attention of the membership, it was suggested dinner meetings at noon be held. This proposal was discussed and it was voted to hold a meeting at 11:45 a. m. next Monday at the Kirkland Hotel. This will permit the business to begin at noon and allow merchants to get back to their business at 1 p. m. If the meeting proves successful similar meetings will be held every two weeks for discussion of business problems.

Parking Discussed

Parking was another topic discussed. Need for better parking for shoppers was stressed and this will be one of the topics which will be taken up at a noon meeting.

President Wonderly will name the committees to work with him during the next year and present them at the meeting next Monday at the Kirkland Hotel.

Kurdt gave an interesting account of the tercentennial activities for the coming summer and spoke of the Ted Mack show which will honor Kingston April 15. It is expected over 200 newsmen, radio and television and magazine writers will be in Kingston for the visit of Queen Juliana April 5. Many reservations for guests have been received. Kingston will also receive wide publicity through a special stamp cancellation of that date.

Reports Pole Down

William Davis, of 1 Fitch street, notified police at 7:12 p. m., yesterday that a pole was down on Wilbur avenue along the edge of the pavement near the city incinerator and that his car had struck it. A guy wire was also down and the situation was dangerous, Davis said. Officers Frank Sammons and Ernest Bartroff were sent there and the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., was notified.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), a committee member, told a Philadelphia news conference last night the group had decided to provide for "gradual decontrol of present controls." The ranking Republican on the committee, Sen. Capehart of Indiana, hinted his GOP minority would go along with such a measure.

The House Rules Committee voted 7-4 for an investigation of the WSB's actions, but it was indicated the probe, which must be approved by the House, would be some time in getting started.

Taft Name Stays

sen The poll is not binding but Driscoll has said delegates will be morally obliged to support the winner.

Driscoll, a dark horse candidate for a place on the Republican national ticket, heads a state-organization-backed slate of 38 delegates to the GOP National Convention in Chicago this July. They have said they will go to the convention unpledged.

Stassen has entered 20 opposing delegates but Taft did not put up any delegates although some independents have said they will support him.

Atomic Blast Puts Training Troops Out of Action

Fort Hood, Tex., (AP)—A mushrooming cloud of smoke, billowing lazily upward in a blue sky signaled the use of atomic weapons in a mock war that is coldly realistic.

An hour and a half after a brigade of 82nd Airborne "aggressor" troops parachuted from giant transport planes yesterday, the atomic cloud burst over the drop zone.

It was really just a smoke bomb timed to explode at about 1,500 feet.

The army communique—No. 2 of Operation Long Horn, biggest air-ground maneuver in U. S. military history—stated briefly without detail: "The U. S. ground forces delivered an atomic attack against the aggressor ground forces." There were no U. S. planes in the air—aggressor aircraft controlled the sky.

Bombing Simulated

At the same time, the army announced U. S. planes had simulated atom bombing the area held by the aggressor forces in the strictly paper part of the operation that involves 115,000 men.

One paratrooper was killed in the drop, which was last night officially announced as a brigade in size—2,310 men. Thirty-four were injured.

Cpl. Andrew S. Mann, Lakewood, N. J., was killed when his main and reserve chutes failed to open in the thousand foot drop. His brother Bernard is in the same regiment. He made the jump safely.

The atomic attack on the aggressor forces in the field was figured to have wiped out brigade headquarters, an infantry battalion of some 1,000 men, a rifle company and the brigade's artillery, an estimated 750 men.

For tactical purposes, the troops were "dead." Actually they were ordered "out of action" for a set period of time.

Three Teen-Agers Held After Holdup of Store

New York, March 26 (AP)—Three teen-agers and a 21-year-old man, who were captured early yesterday a few minutes after allegedly holding up a delicatessen at Columbus avenue and 68th street for $194, were arraigned before Magistrate Louis Pagnucco in youth term.

Because each had previous records, Michael Horgan, 19 years old, of 34-41 56th street, Woodside, Queens, and Norman Monroe, 19, of 942 Columbus avenue, were held in $7,500 bail each, and John Hynes, 21, of 781 North Ascan street, Elmont, was held without bail all for grand jury action.

Magistrate Pagnucco dismissed the robbery charges against Florence Tracy, 17, of 982 Amsterdam avenue. She was held for violating probation as a wayward girl and was scheduled to be brought before the girls' term court this Friday.

All were charged with holding up Max Hoffstein in his delicatessen store at 183 Columbus avenue.

New Spy Inquiry May Be Held Is Report

New York, March 26 (AP) — A surprise Federal Grand Jury appearance by Whittaker Chambers has set off reports of a new spy inquiry.

Chambers, one-time Communist courier and principal witness against Alger Hiss, was closeted with the jury for 80 minutes yesterday.

He wouldn't say afterwards what it was about except for "matters which were familiar to him."

Reports that a new espionage probe was underway could not be confirmed and U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane would not comment.

Chambers testified at the Hiss trial that the former State Department aid gave him departmental secrets for a prewar Soviet spy ring.

Hiss, convicted of perjury for denying Chamber's story, is serving a five-year federal prison term, but has petitioned for a new trial.

The answers to everyday insurance problems
By HERMAN J. EATON
QUESTION: We can't find our fire insurance policy anywhere. Can you tell me if we can have it replaced?
ANSWER: Yes, the company will have you sign a lost policy release and will issue a new one. Better keep the new one in a safe deposit box with other valuable papers.
•If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

YOU CAN'T

HEAT YOUR HOUSE WITH THE WINDOWS OPEN
No! And it's mighty hard to keep your house warm when heat is constantly escaping through the walls and roof, too. Walls and ceilings can leak like a sieve —when not insulated.
Barrett ROCK WOOL Insulation literally puts a blanket around your house and holds the heat in—just as surely as in the sweltering summer days, it holds the heat out.
You'll find that the money you save on fuel alone will soon cover the cost of having ROCK WOOL installed. And you can arrange to pay for this installation in convenient payments, if you wish.
Phone for a free estimate.
